

Beautiful Minaki

The wealth of that vast stretch of country in Northern Ontario, reaching over 750 miles from the boundary of the Province of Quebec on the east, to Manitoba on the west, and north from the Great Lakes to the pathless regions of James Bay, is not confined to its minerals, its timber or its clay lands.

This country has matchless stretches, well wooded and watered by chains of charming lakes and rivers, where game fish are abundant and where the deer, the moose, and black bear freely roam. Civilization is gradually pushing the frontier back, and in the process creating new summer resorts farther and farther from the active centres of commerce, where the tourist breaks his journey for a few days on his "Across Canada" tour, and the holiday seeker spends his vacation. Thus the country capitalizes its scenery and sells it to the tourist.

Minaki, which derives its name from the Indian (Mee-Naw-Kee), meaning "Beautiful Country," is one of the beauty spots in this region. Minaki Station, on the Transcontinental line of the Canadian National Railways, is situated 114 miles east of Winnipeg, on the Winnipeg River, one of the great rivers of the North that drains the Lake of the Woods chain of waterways into Lake Winnipeg.

Minaki Inn, a modern summer hotel, is located in a beautiful park overlooking Sand Bay, and during the past few years many summer homes and clubs have been built in the vicinity, making a large summer colony.

Minaki is historic ground, as it was by way of Winnipeg River that Wolseley made his way to Western Canada, century ago, to quell the first Riel rising.

GIRLS WHO STRING PEARLS

Lightness of touch and quickness of eye are the first essentials of the professional pearl-stringer. Most girls have both gifts, so they make better workers than men. Yet there are hardly more than a hundred girls engaged in the occupation in the whole of London.

Pearl-stringing sounds easy enough, but girls have to serve an apprenticeship of three years before they are considered competent. They must be able to do many things. They must be proficient in sorting pearls for color and grading them for size. They must also be able to work out fancy patterns—most of them the designs of the firm, though sometimes a wealthy customer sends in a little pattern of his own. Artistry in the pearl-stringers is encouraged, and many of the prettiest designs originate with the girls themselves. Often the hole of the pearl is too small for the silk. It is then enlarged by an instrument called a brooch. After a time the girls become expert in detecting artificial pearls by means of an instrument like a stereoscope—except that it has only one eyepiece. This instrument shows the difference in lighting effects.

HELPING THE MONUMENT FUND

The committee in charge of the Soldiers' Monument Campaign are much encouraged by the generosity and kindly sentiments of people at home and abroad. The following letter received from a former Islander now residing in New York is splendidly illustrative of this sentiment, appreciation and admiration that Islanders have for those who made the supreme sacrifice and no matter where they live "Islander's never forget."

New York City, June 17th, 1922.

Mr. J. LeRoy Holman, Summerside, P. E. Island.

Dear Mr. Holman: I am sending fifty dollars ($50.00) to Mr. John J. Morris, Treasurer, as my small offering to the "Soldier's Monument Fund," the erection of which, I think, is a splendid idea.

I am sorry that I will not be there at the unveiling, but my son and daughter are leaving for the island next week, and I trust they will be on hand.

Wishing you all success, I am Sincerely, G. Stanley Green.

Besides the above many other letters have been received with similar sentiments, including one from Mr. John A. Ross, Meota, Sask., and one of $50.00 from Mr. J. A. McLeod, Toronto, Ont. These loyal Islanders abroad have the heartfelt thanks and gratitude of Islanders at home.

COMPLIMENTS EXCHANGED

Mr. Jones at a dinner party had been trying to say something nice to his hostess.

"What a small appetite you have, Mr. Jones," she remarked.

"To sit next to you, Mrs. Smith," he replied, "would cause any man to lose his appetite."

And then he wondered why he wasn't invited to the next affair.

Grandma Never Let Her Hair Get Gray

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy with Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost, you can buy at any drugstore the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age and, as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

HOW NOSES ARE SHAPED

What is the shape of your nose? Is it Greek or Roman, snub, or what? Noses vary so much on different people.

Have you ever noticed a parent or nurse pinching a baby's nose? You may have thought that it was done to amuse the kid, but in reality it is to improve the shape of baby's nose. A nose consists chiefly of cartilage, or gristle, and until the central bone is properly developed its shape can be influenced by pressure. The Esquimaux, and most African tribes have broad, flat noses. This is due to the fact that the mothers of those races carry their babies snugly against the shoulder or breast at the time when the nose is in its most plastic state—the frequent pressure making the nose a rather shapeless blob.

An American Indian, on the other hand, has a prominent, well-shaped nasal organ, which his mother did not spoil—her method of carrying her baby being to strap it to a board which she bears on her back. His face being outwards, there is no pressure on his nose.

A snub nose is often due to upward pressure on the end in the early stages of growth, and if an infant is permitted to lie on its face for too long at a time the shape of its nose is bound to be affected.
