Feeding Stock on the Ontario Plan.

It is significant that one so wide-awake and judicious as Mr. John West, one who has travelled a large part of the Continent, should, when he wished to devote his attention to farming and to make a home-stead for himself, decide to "settle down" in Prince Edward Island.

Mr. West purchased, a few years ago, the "Dillon Farm" at Kensington, comprising one hundred and thirty-two acres, and the "Kelvin Grove Farm" near by, comprising a hundred and fifty acres.

The implement house, extending from the southern end of the barn, (30x42ft) is no yet finished. Under it, also, there will be a frost-proof cellar; and extending from it again towards the south, there will be a hen house, a piggery, and a boiler house, the whole forming, when completed, a large and very convenient and comfortable steading in which to raise stock.

Mr. West has already accumulated a herd of twenty-seven head of cattle and twelve horses. He procured a number of the former from Mr. D. S. Hunt, who purchased them, or their immediate ancestors, from the herd of the late Hon. J. C. Pope.

Though Mr. West is not yet in a position to feed in strict accordance with his idea of feeding, his efforts in that direction have certainly been rewarded with marked success. Horses and cattle alike are in good condition, and several of the steers he has up fattening are really splendid animals.

By this method, every particle of hay and straw is eaten up, the turnips, mangolds, or other roots, are presented in the most appetizing way, and the grain does most good.

Mr. West feeds to keep his young things growing from the start; and as an instance of his success he points with a proper pride to a two year old steer which he raised from a calf and which is now much larger than five year old steers purchased by him last fall from some of our best farmers, and fattened all winter!

It may be asked: If Mr. West feeds all his straw, how does he provide bedding? In the past winter he obtained sawdust from a neighboring mill. The floors of his stable are water proof, and the saw dust, scattered under and behind the cattle, absorbs all the urine, thus saving this important fertilizer.

When Mr. West has his arrangements all complete, his methods will be similar to those of the best and most successful of the farmers of Ontario. We heartily wish him a success fully equal to his brightest anticipations.

He is now preparing for the erection of a farm house, near to the barn, and for the planting of two acres of virgin soil as an orchard.

Before buying children's clothing it will be to your advantage to try J. B. Macdonald's

Notes and Clippings.

The Halifax Herald remarks that "the united counties of Leeds and Granville voted on the petition to repeal the Scott Act last Thursday, with the result that a majority of 1,000 was secured for its repeal.

A Washington despatch says that Consul-General Waller, at London, reports a general revival of the trade and commerce of the United Kingdom. The improvement in business is especially noticeable in the shipbuilding industry.

Moncton Times: The Amherst Sentinel publishes figures showing that the assessed value of Cumberland increased from $4,392,701 in 1880 to $6,571,002 in 1889 and remarks: "People were generally impressed with the idea that the country was prospering, but the returns of the assessors did not show it."

The movement by the railroads to stop, as far as possible, the running of Sunday freight trains, which give some signs of becoming general, is one to be heartily commended, and will be to the physical as well as the moral advantage of the employes.

Commenting on the display of anti-British feeling in the Legislature of New York a few days ago, when the Hon. Oliver Mowat was refused a seat on the floor of the House on the ground that "no courtesy should be extended to any British subject," the St. John Telegraph says: "Very probably had the entire Canadian parliament responded to Mr. Wiman's polite invitation and made the grand tour of the republic they would have been treated precisely as Mr. Mowat has been. Hence it was more than desirable that the invitation should be declined.

St. John Sun: The great rush into the Oklahoma district proves that the supply of free grant lands in the United States is becoming exhausted. If settlers could get homesteads elsewhere they would not need to pour into this territory at the rate of half a dozen claimants for each farm in the region open for settlement.

A Page From Canadian History. Mr. R. R. FITZGERALD, Q. C., lectured on the above subject in the Lyceum last evening. Mr. D. O'M. Reddin, jr., President of the Benevolent Irish Society, under whose auspices the lecture was delivered, occupied the chair.

His TIME WAS VALUABLE.—A Moncton doctor was accosted a few days ago by a citizen who informed him that his daughter had two teeth he wished to have extracted. As the M. D. did not have any instruments with him he was requested to take them the next time he went on his round, which he did.
