

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE SCHEDULED SATURDAY

Laniel's Cabinet Totters

PARIS (CP) — Premier Joseph Laniel decided early today to stake the fate of his government on a vote of confidence in the National Assembly.

that unless Bidault produced positive results toward an Indo-China settlement quickly at Geneva, the Laniel government would be overthrown and he would be out as foreign minister.

Laniel survived the last confidence vote on May 13 by the scant margin of two votes.

Pointing out that peace depends on the maintenance of a balance of power, Bidault said France could not stand aside if the United States and some Asiatic countries felt that Communist victory in Indo-China would disturb the balance of power and threaten their security.

The vote is scheduled for Saturday and before then Laniel hoped he could scrape up enough support or convince enough deputies to abstain to give him another reprieve on Indo-China.

Should Geneva negotiations fail, he said the government would have to be prepared to deal with the situation, especially in insuring the safety of the French expeditionary corps of 216,000 men there.

Another motion in the National Assembly, at the end of the crucial Indo-China debate, refused to give precedence to a motion in favor of the government proposed by Conservative deputy Maurice Freydet and disident Gaullist Felix Raingard.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Defence of the government's policy on the unpopular Indo-China war—and his own role as chief French negotiator—at the Geneva far east conference—came from Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

After leaving Geneva to take part in the debate, Bidault told the assembly to over-throw the government if it thought "any other French negotiator can do better on honorable terms" in finding a way to end the 7 1/2-year Indo-China war.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

ON THE SPOT

Recent newspaper reports said

Coming Events

- "Dance in Millview Hall, every Friday.
"Dance at Sandy's, Friday, June 11. Burns Orchestra.
"Abegweit R. B. P. Kingston, Friday, June 11th.
"Hampton variety concert Kingston Hall June 10. United W.M.S.
"Hampton concert at Kingston is postponed until further notice.
"Come to Stanley and see Wheatley River Play to-night.
"Dance, Cadross School, Friday night, June 11th.
"Seeds! Store open daily, also Monday and Thursday evenings until 9 p. m. Arthur Vesey.
"Dance in St. Andrew's Hall, Mt. Stewart, every Thursday. Good music. Canteen service.
"Bingo, North Rustico, Thursday, 8 p. m. Good prizes, Jackpot and frezeout.
"Carleton players present their 1-act play, "Aunt Jerushy On The Warpath," in Afton Hall Friday, June 25th.
"Buying until Friday, good pigs over 30 lbs. Paying highest market prices. Wellington McNeill & Son, Buntain & Bell's Wharf.
"Benefit Dance for Stella Maris School, North Rustico, at South Rustico Hall, Thursday 10th. Rollie McKenzie's Orchestra. Canteen service.
"Hear Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rempel of Kulpahar Mission, India, in Bredabane Christian Church, Friday, June 11th, 8 p. m. Slides shown.
"Tonight, Crapaud Hall, play and variety concert, directed by Dr. Peter MacDonald. Repeated in aid of Library. Enjoy good music, food comedy and a good laugh.
"Monthly meeting of Kingston Branch, Canadian Legion at Charlottetown, Thursday, June 10th. Special meeting. Full attendance requested.
"Are't you coming? Why sure! Everybody's going to the show and dance presented by Hugh Spinnaker Ranch Boys. Where? Afton Hall. When? Tonight, 8:30. Don't miss this top entertainment. Auspices Fairview Women's Institute.
"Buying pigs at Fredericton paying $30 a pair for good pigs over 30 lbs. each, $18 for over 18 lbs. extra for in between. Plus $2 a pair extra for pigs delivered today. Knud Jorgensen.

American Scientist Critical of Russian Research At Psychology Conference

By Bob Joyce Canadian Press Staff Writer MONTREAL (CP)—A Western psychologist Wednesday criticized Russian scientists for depending too heavily on experiments on animals and following too closely the theories of Ivan Pavlov.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Disappears From Birthday Party

PORT MOUTON, N.S. (CP)—Volunteers directed by police pumped the water from dozens of wells Wednesday in the search for little Tony Roy who disappeared from his backyard while playmates helped him celebrate his second birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roy said they thought Tony probably had wandered off Tuesday afternoon and became lost.

The RCMP enlisted the aid of more than 300 citizens of this Nova Scotia shore community to pump backyard wells, scout along the nearby seashore and poke through dense woodlands.

The police dog Prince was brought from Truro to help look for the tot.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Dr. Razzan spoke at the International Psychological Congress at a meeting where three Russian scientists, British and an American delivered papers on recent advances in conditioning—the training of animals or persons to react instinctively to a certain event.

Drew Urges Reds Be Tossed Out Of Vital Industries

OTTAWA, (CP)—Hon. George Drew said Wednesday that known Communists work in Canadian uranium mines, in the heavy water industry and in large hydro-electric plants.

The Opposition leader called for specific legislation aimed at rooting them out and barring them from industries vital to the country's security.

He spoke in the Commons in giving a government bill giving the government continued power to screen seamen on Canadian ships on the Great Lakes and upper St. Lawrence river.

Mr. Drew said dangerous men should be kept from the inland waterway. But it should be done by judicial procedure and any decision by the minister of labor to deny seamen's cards, as proposed in the legislation, should be appealable to the courts.

All three opposition parties opposed the bill to continue for three years the screening powers exercised since 1951 under the Emergency Powers Act, which lapsed May 31.

The measure was given second reading—approval in principle—following a vote of 139 to 76 in which Liberals were joined by three Independent members, Raoul Paulin, Beauce, Fernand Girard, Lapointe, and Paul Gagnon, Chicoutimi. A Progressive Conservative amendment to limit the life of the measure to one year was defeated by a standing vote of 51 to 37 with all three opposition parties voting against the Liberals.

During the debate and later clause-by-clause discussion, this (Continued on page 15, col. 2)

Mr. Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) said the government seeks to have undesignated powers to do undefined things for anticipated offences not yet committed.

Justice Minister Garson replied that the government intends to renew the order in council which existed under the Emergency Powers Act.

Mr. Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) said the government seeks to have undesignated powers to do undefined things for anticipated offences not yet committed.

Mr. Reinhardt, executive secretary of the American Fox Breeders Association, said this was agreed upon Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Canadian National Slave Fox Breeders Association.

U. S. fox farmers agreed "to work to the end that duty be removed." The present duty is 37 1/2 per cent of a pet's value.

There had been a period of depression in the industry, said Mr. Reinhardt, but now fox pelts are booming scarce on the world market. The removal suggested by U. S. producers will apply only to Canada. The view was taken that both in production costs and in a general economic sense conditions are much the same in both Canada and the United States.

Mr. Reinhardt said it has been found that "the tariff is in fact not needed; it is something of a nuisance."

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

PICKERSGILL DEFENDS CHANGES IN POSTAL LAW IN COMMONS DEBATE

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Pickersgill said Wednesday that the sole purpose of a new change in the postal law is to end discrimination against Canadian publications and put them on the same footing as United States competitors.

He made the reply in the Commons to the repeated assertion by CCF members that the move will enable some Canadian publishers to save money while getting around Ontario's law against liquor advertising.

Legislation putting the change into effect was passed and now needs only royal assent before becoming law. It allows Canadian publications to have more than one mailing point and still benefit from low second-class postal rates. At present they must mail issues at the point of publication to benefit from the low rates.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

The announcement was made at one of the premier's regular press conferences.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

N. S. Premier Shuffles Cabinet

HALIFAX (CP)—Premier Harold Connolly announced a cabinet shuffle Wednesday that sent W. Mackenzie to the highway ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

The announcement was made at one of the premier's regular press conferences.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Mr. Mackenzie, 56, succeeds the late premier Angus L. Macdonald in the highways and public works ministry and gave his lands and forests and agriculture portfolio to back-bencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

Seek Removal Of U. S. Fox Pelt Duty

MONTREAL (CP)—Paul L. Reinhardt of Burlington, Wis., said Wednesday that fox farmers in the United States will try to have the duty removed on pelts imported from Canada.

Mr. Reinhardt, executive secretary of the American Fox Breeders Association, said this was agreed upon Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Canadian National Slave Fox Breeders Association.

U. S. fox farmers agreed "to work to the end that duty be removed." The present duty is 37 1/2 per cent of a pet's value.

There had been a period of depression in the industry, said Mr. Reinhardt, but now fox pelts are booming scarce on the world market. The removal suggested by U. S. producers will apply only to Canada. The view was taken that both in production costs and in a general economic sense conditions are much the same in both Canada and the United States.

Mr. Reinhardt said it has been found that "the tariff is in fact not needed; it is something of a nuisance."

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude Prevost Wednesday awarded $27,500 damages to Mrs. Lionel Lavigne, mother of three who lost her husband, and $3,000 damages to Mrs. Emile Quettele, who lost her son, Edmond.

The men were killed when struck by an automobile driven by Jean Brunet while they were making a pilgrimage on foot from Pointe Claire to St. Joseph's Oratory here.

Mr. Justice Claude