FAMOUS NAMES
The spiky-haired Denning told me a "who-dunnit" in reverse because the bad guys and dolls were identified in advance.

Names of famous politicians and news personalities punctuated the judge's story which still must stand the test of a paragraph in the next few weeks.

Denning gave his assessment of the key characters in the drama whose trails crossed at a winning point in the steady flow of the story.

Sir Stephen Ward, 39, and now a society artist and osteopath who presumes to be a "who-dunnit" mistress for his influential friends. He was said to be ready to arrange "for whipping and other sadistic performances" and he attended sexual orgies.

"He admired the Soviet regime and sympathized with Communism," Lord Denning said. "He used to advocate their cause in conversation with his patients."

It was through Ward that Profumo and Ivanov met Caroline and each other.

Ivanov, nominally assistant Soviet ambassador, also was discovered by security men to be an intelligence officer. He was "something of a ladies' man," impressed by the peers he met and frank about wanting his friends to anything they said went "back to Moscow." He and Ward became companions.

SCANDAL PROBE
not her job to watch a minister's private morals.

Such a ceremony was staged Tuesday evening at the Sherwood Women's Institute Hall, as the executive of the Sherwood WI burned the mortgage on its building, which was paid off last June, over a year before it was due.

Largely a Women's Institute project, the burning of the hall was really a community effort.

Mrs. Fred Osborne, president of the Sherwood WI, told the gathering that ten Sherwood men—Malcolm "Buster" Macmillan, Harry MacKusand, Stewart Wright, John MacAlester, F.R. Osborne, George Avers, Kenneth Arthur, now in Mass., Victor Shaw, now in Ontario, Harry MacDonald, now in N.B., and the late Cecil Wood—had loaned the WI $2,000 to make a start on the building.

The men of the community drew the plans, dug foundations, built the frame, levelled the ground, and did carpentry, plumbing, and electric work.

SALES AND CATERING
The WI raised the money to pay off the mortgage by giving sales as card parties, variety concerts, food sales, white elephant sales, air parades, and catering to weddings and banquets.

Concerts staged by the Central Rotary Club also helped.

Following the burning of the mortgage, described by the president, Mrs. Osborne, as "this hateful paper that has galled us for so long," Andrew MacRae, Minister of Finance, addressed the gathering, noting that it had been a former Minister of Agriculture, Eugene Cullen, who had spoken at the opening of the hall.

Lunch and a social hour followed the ceremony.

CITIES GOSSIP
Lord Denning cited gossip surrounding certain members of the government—whom he did not name—and said: "It might be thought that these rumors are a symptom of a decline in the integrity of public life in this country. I do not believe this to be true. There has been no lowering of moral standards."

"But there is a difference today. Public men are more open than in the past; and it behooves them, even more than ever, to give no cause for scandal."

Lord Denning said there was no reason to doubt Profumo's loyalty, even when he and Caroline were together.

DESTROYED CONFIDENCE
The Russians may have "succeeded only too well" in destroying US confidence in Britain if that was his aim, said Lord Denning.

"If ministers or prominent people can be placed in compromising situations, or made the subject of damaging rumors, or the security service can be made to appear incompetent, it may weaken the confidence of the United States in our integrity and reliability," the judge explained.

Christine Keeler, Denning observed candidly, had "undoubtedly physical attractions."

Ward took her away from a night club—where her job as a showgirl involved, he put it, in just walking around with no clothes on—in order that they might live together.

Christine tried many times to leave Ward in the eight months she lived with him but "he
