

Dairy Council Delegates Hint Higher Milk Prices

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
QUEBEC (CP)—Canadian dairy farmers are likely to demand more for their milk, though the increase likely would be limited to one cent a quart, dairymen predicted Tuesday.

Some delegates to the National Dairy Council annual convention, opening here today, said on arrival that pressure on the retail price is building up through higher production costs combined with higher prices paid dairy farmers.

The council is the central body representing Canada's dairy manufacturers, processors and distributors. Cost problems are likely to be discussed at the three days of deliberations along with government dairy policy, the impact of facts on human health, consumer attitudes and the marketing future.

MUST BE AUTHORIZED

Generally, milk is under the jurisdiction of provincial boards. These would have to authorize any proposed increase before it can become effective.

Current retail prices vary from region to region. In the central provinces they range from 19 cents a quart at Montreal to 22 cents at Ottawa and Toronto. Consumers can get reductions in most cities by doing their own shopping, picking up their milk at grocery stores.

Dairymen argue that retail milk prices have remained fairly steady for the last three or four years while the price of other commodities climbed. They said the average milk price rose by 3.3 cents a quart since 1949.

Of that 3.3-cent increase, farmers were reported to have obtained 1.3 cents; labor 1.2 cents and dairy processors 0.8 cents.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT

The Canadian dairy industry generally is showing some renewed strength and the processors are more optimistic about the future than they were a some previous years.

Part of this optimism has its roots in the United Kingdom market for Canadian cheddar cheese. Shipments are limited by import quotas, but apparently importers have decided to get all the cheese they can from Canada within the quota limitation.

The slightly heavier export demand is causing a diversion of milk to cheese from butter factories. Butter consumption has increased slightly while production has dropped and some of the big surplus has been reduced.

Strike Spreads, 7,000 Cape Breton Miners Now Idle

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — A wildcat strike which mushroomed from a 28-man walkout at one pit last Friday spread through the Cape Breton pits of Dominion Coal Company during the weekend and by Tuesday the seven mines and 7,000 men were idle.

Local union leaders in all mines asked their members to return to work Tuesday and one mine, No. 18, was expected to get back in production at midnight. But there was no indication of when the other pits would begin operating again.

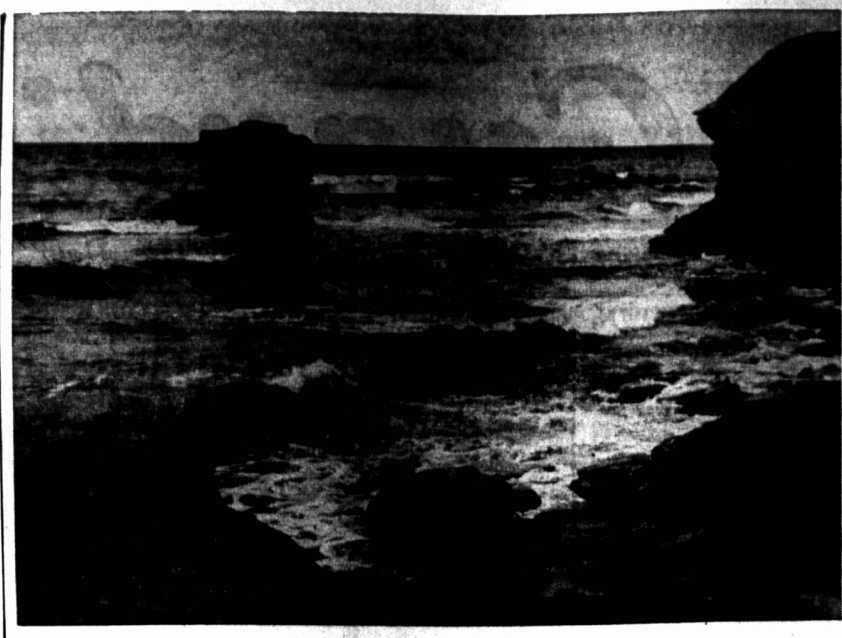

The walkout started at Caledonia mine when the 28 men refused to claim the walls were not properly cleaned. Other miners at the pits supported them and delegation from the mine were reported to have visited other collieries in Cape Breton. Gradually they all became idle.

H.C.M. Gordon, Dosco's chief of coal operations, is away from Sydney and could not be contacted for comment.

Under working agreements mines must be operating when grievances are discussed between union and management.

SEASCAPE WINNER

The Lone Rock, Cavendish Is Winner In Camera Club Contest

The Y.M.C.A. Hobbycraft Room presented a watery appearance on Monday evening when the opening competition, "Seascapes", for Class A of the Charlottetown Camera Club was judged.

Speaking from the artists viewpoint, and with emphasis mainly on composition, Mr. A.L. Wright adjudicated with comment on each print. Winners were placed as follows: 1st—The Lone Rock, Cavendish, by Margaret Mallett; 2nd—Presquille, on the Cabot Trail, by George Lewis; 3rd—Rock near Cousin's Pond, Park Corner, by Margaret Mallett.

Competition subjects for the rest of the year have now been selected namely: Landscapes, Architecture Children at Work or Play, Still Life, Character Study of an Older Person, Wedding, City Scenes, Against the Sun (not silhouette).

President Bob Hamblly outlined some of the intriguing projects that are forthcoming. Color photography will be given a more prominent place than ever before. There will be some color slide competitions conducted on the same basis as the black and white.

A new departure in the field of instruction is being tried this year. Each "A" member has been assigned to a "B" member to give personal tutelage whenever a practical demonstration is being given. The first of these took place Monday night when each "B" member not already in the know learned to load film into the reel of a developing tank. At the next meeting, on Nov. 5th, each "B" member will bring an exposed film and develop it there.

This, together with Class B competition "Seascapes" and a showing of prints (with recorded commentary) from a neighboring Maritime Camera Club, point to a highly interesting evening. It is hoped that the attendance will continue to increase of everything points to a great year in photography.

Adopts Atoms For Peace Statute

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — An 82-nation conference today unanimously adopted the text of a 23-article statute which will bring into force an international "atoms for peace" agency.

The statute will be open for signature on Friday and it will come into force after 18 countries have ratified, including at least three of the following states: the United States, Britain, Russia, France and Canada.

Headquarters of the International Atomic Energy Agency, which was first proposed by President Eisenhower to the United Nations General Assembly three years ago, will be in Vienna.

Under the agreement, the agency will supply fissionable materials to member states for chemical processing.

Three Aviation Trophies Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday awarded the Harmon International Aviation Trophies to a distinguished French woman, a Briton, and an American.

Mme. Jacqueline Aurioi, daughter-in-law of former French president Vincent Aurioi, is a three-time winner of the Harmon award.

Mme. Aurioi received the trophy for piloting a French-built mystery jet fighter at 715.35 miles an hour to become the world's fastest woman pilot.

The other awards went to Group Capt. John Cunningham of Britain for his 30,000-mile flight around the world in 56 hours in a commercial jet transport and to Lt. Cmdr. Charles A. Mills of the United States Navy for piloting his lighter-than-air craft in a hazardous experiment in flight under severe icing conditions.

Seven Of The Scouts Out This Weekend Will Go To U.K.

When Dad was a Lad, a nickel for an Apple on Boy Scout Apple Day went twice as far as a similar exchange does today, hence the necessity of loosening up when approached on Friday or Saturday October 26 or 27.

More than 800 Boy Scouts and Cubs will be on the City and towns of the island in conformity with their well-known Apple Day program. Apples are a type of "Tag" which Scouts are required to give in return for a financial gesture of good will.

Because Saturday is a holiday in many business and professional offices, the Scouts will be active on Friday afternoon, but Saturday will see them go all-out in their endeavour to win friends and raise funds for the biggest projects yet attempted by them, which are scheduled for next year. It is generally known, but worthy of emphasis that all funds are used for Jamborees and Camps. None of the money raised is used for administration purposes.

The Golden Jamboree in England next year will be of special significance to Boy Scouts throughout the World, marking, as it will, the 50th anniversary of Scouting and the 100th anniversary of B.P.'s birth, who was fifty years old when he started Scouting. The unforgettable experience of being in attendance at this Golden Jamboree will fall to seven Island Boy Scouts, it plans now in the making can be fully matured.

Another Jaboree of deep interest and significance to Canadian Boy Scouts is planned to be held by American Boy Scouts at Valley Forge, Penn. for which an invitation has been extended to the local High Command to send Island Scouts.

With such an elaborate program, plus the regular annual camp activities of the Boy Scouts it is confidently expected that the sale of "Island" apples will be particularly successful this year and that the response will be on the basis of "A dime or more". Apple Day is the boy's big day—let it be yours also in performing that daily good deed—BUY APPLES.

Tractor Operator Absolved Of All Blame In Brother's Death

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by a coroner's jury last night in the death of Glen Malcolm Tremere of Hampshire who was killed on the evening of October 17 when a tractor on which he was riding rolled over pinning him beneath it.

Coroner L.E. Prowse, presided Mr. J.P. Nicholson represented the Crown. Jurors were Cecil Stewart (foreman), Everett Clow, Dan MacDonald, Sherman MacDuff, James Kelly, Parker MacPhee.

The jury found no blame which could be attached to the deceased's brother, Lowell, who was driving the tractor at the time.

KILLED INSTANTLY

Dr. R.G. Lea who had been called to the scene of the accident said that the boy was dead on his arrival. He believed that death was caused from a crushing blow on the head with multiple fractures and resulting injuries to the brain. He said death was instantaneous.

Albert Tremere, a cousin of the deceased, told of riding on the back of the ill-fated tractor for a short distance when he jumped off to get his own tractor.

Lowell Tremere who was driving the machine said his brother

Big Halloween Party Is Planned By Kinsmen

The kiddies of the city are once again to be the guests of the Kinsmen Club on Halloween, and according to Cive Cudmore, Committee Chairman the variety and volume of entertainment promises to be the best yet in the ten years of this annual event.

Of course the usual routine of treats and musical entertainment without which a children's Halloween party would be a drab affair, will highlight the event, but the prize winners appearing on stage in costume will be more than an added attraction because the party will be held this year at the Community Centre where facilities are ideal.

It is anticipated that upwards of one thousand young folk will be kept off the streets and accident-free as they enjoy this gesture of good will by the Kinsmen.

Seek Reason Resistance To Cold Declines

MONTREAL (CP) — To Montreal scientists are attempting to find out why people lose their resistance to cold as they grow older.

Dr. V. A. Kral and Dr. Bernard Grad said they are using mice in their experiments and have found that the process of maintaining body temperatures decreases with age.

They spoke at an opening session of the annual three day meeting of the Canadian Physiological Society. The doctors are attached to the Allan Memorial Institute of Physiology at McGill University.

The scientists said they exposed 30 young mice and an equal number of older ones to temperatures between 43 and 46 degrees farenheit for two days.

At the end of this time, 22 of the old mice were dead while only one of the young rodents had succumbed.

MEASURED HEAT

Heat production of the older mice was measured and found to be lower than in the younger animals.

The scientists said they found the younger mice ate more food at lower temperatures and had a higher sugar content in their blood indicating a better source of heat.

They said they are conducting tests on various substances and hope to discover one which will prove useful in helping older people to adapt themselves to cold stress.

More than 300 delegates, including scientists working in the medical, biochemical, drug and cell structure fields, are attending the meeting.
