

BEDTIME STORIES

Danny Dares

By Thornton W. Burgess

Who yields to fear and will... With little all his life will fare.

Danny Meadow Mouse speaks truly. To gain the best things in life takes a certain amount of daring.

Then he peeped out to see if the way was clear to get another.

Over the ear Farmer Brown's house was a big flat rock on which Farmer Brown's boy kept a supply of sunflower seeds for Tommy Tit the Chickadee.

Something startled the feathered folk and they all took to their wings. Danny waited a moment.

There were not as many seeds there then. The rain had beaten down the leaves so that they no longer rustled.

Danny carefully worked his way underneath the leaves. He took care not to lift them any more than he had to.

Black Pussy the Cat might be close at hand. That was a chance he had to take. Happily those leaves reached clear to the edge of the big rock.

West opened the dance of spades, the Jack was played from dummy, and East won with the queen.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A VITAL SIGNAL

Most players err on the side of giving too many signals in the play, thus helping declarer more than they help their partner's.

East club but (as she said later) East chose a safe-seeming return a trump South won drew trumps (while West discarded two spades).

Bridge hand diagram showing cards for East, South, West, and North.

The bidding: East 1♠, South 4♥, West Pass, North Pass.

West's leave-in of his partner's four-heart double was an extremely questionable action in view of his own four cards in East's of his own four cards in East's of his own four cards in East's.

West opened the dance of spades, the Jack was played from dummy, and East won with the queen.
