Montague Gelding Stays Undefeated This Season

Simcoe's Magic remained undefeated in the 1962 harness racing season by capturing a double dash decision at Charlottetown Driving Park Saturday night.

The nine-year-old pacing gelding owned by Jack Annear, Montague and driven by son Ralph, made it six triumphs in six starts by grabbing dashes three and seven, the A and B pace. In winning his final outing, Simcoe's Magic took a new race tab of 2.11:3.

Other double dash winners were Leah's Girl and Mary Leah. The Girl took both ends of the AA and A pace and Leigh O'Brien's trotter was 1-1 in both trips of the A and B trot.

Jolly Abb and Janet M took turns at getting home in front in the feature race, the AA pace and trot. Janet copped the opener in 2.10:2 but Jolly Abb came roaring home in the second trip to photo out stablemate, Stalag Hanover, in the best finish of the night. The time was 2.10. Janet M was third.

In the curtain raiser, it was the steady trotting Hey You that outlasted a field of D trotters.

Sid Stead presented the Stead's Pharmacy cooler to Leahs Girl, winner of the AA and A pace and Ralph Jenkins presented the Jenkins Pharmacy cooler to Jolly Abb that sported the best summary in dashes five and nine.

The first daily double, Hey You and Mary Leah, paid $14.00 and the second, Leah's Girl and Janet M, $23.60. The quinella, Simcoe's Magic and Jean Clegg, was worth $45.30 and the same pair teamed for an exactor return of $11.00.

Royal Patrice Captures Stakes

NEW YORK (CP) — Harbor View Farm's Royal Patrice charged from behind Saturday to win the $16,800 Pucker Up Stakes by a length at Chicago's Arlington Park. The winner, was timed in 1:48 4-5.

Second was Darby Dan Farm's Polylady and third in the 1⅛-mile race for three-year-old fillies was Dinner Partner.

At Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Firm Policy put in a strong bid for the three - year - old filly championship when she captured the $57,000 Alabama Stakes by 1¾ lengths.

Firm Policy covered the 1¼ miles of muddy track in two minutes and six seconds. Her victory brought owner E. B. Ryan $37,050 and increased the filly's earnings for the year to $129.461.

MONGO WINS EASILY

At Atlantic City, N.J., Mongo made it no contest when he outsped 13 rivals to win the $30,450 1 1-16-mile Ventnor Turf Handicap by a whopping 10 lengths .The victory was worth $19,790 to Mongo.

At Del Mar, Calif., the favored Testum led wire to wire in winning the $15,000 added La Jolla Mile. Winning time was 1:35 3-5.

At Salem, N.H., Dandy Princess advanced easily in the stretch to win the $10,000 White Mountain Handicap of 1 1-16 miles at Rockingham Park.

Real Tussle

The softball semi-finals between MacKenzies and Save-Easies are shaping up to be a real tussle for supremacy. MacKenzies walloped the red-shirts 18-1 in the first game and looked good to sweep the series, but with the addition of Doug Tucker on the slab, Save-Easies came back to nip MacKenzies 5-3. The second game was a crowd pleaser, no matter whose side you were on with a lot of fine plays and lusty hitting by both clubs. MacKenzies seem to have more depth in pitching, but in most other departments the two clubs look quite evenly matched.

The eventual winner will be eligible for two further series one with the RCAF for the Prince County League title, and one with a Charlottetown team for the Island Senior "B" title. RCAF does not figure in the latter as they are registered in Intermediate "B" which is an industrial classification, and all players must work for the firm sponsoring their team.

Adopted This Year

This, we believe, has been a regulation in Nova Scotia for some years, but P.E.I. has adopted it for the first time this year. Such a regulation was in force in Ontario many years ago. About forty years ago the banks in Toronto had such a league. The Dominion Bank hired the late Lionel Conacher to come in every day and sharpen pencils so he could qualify to play for their team. No doubt the players of Save-Easies and MacKenzies would be willing to wash small sections of the firms' windows at a weekly rate of wage.

It was a privilege to be able to view Alf Groom making that historic (for P.E.I., that is) vault of 14 ft. 3 in. which set a new Canadian (native) record. Alf took a very deep breath before running down the pathway to athletic fame, and no doubt he realized it was a "sink or swim" effort, with a great deal riding on the result. It takes a cool nerve to do your best under such circumstances, and this is another "must" for athletic greats. Persistence in training and coolness under fire are two very important essentials. Native ability has to be in there too, of course. Faithful practising and a cool head would never make a kangaroo out of a holstein heifer.

Enjoyed Watching Bruce Kidd

We also enjoyed Bruce Kidd going the rounds in those 3-mile and 6-mile events. There was real poetry in motion in this boy's canter around the oval. We'd rather watch it than look at ballet. And did you notice the strange way he flipped his left hand as he ran?

Patriot Classic Set For Tonight

This is the night harness racing fans have been waiting for. The Evening Patriot Invitational, second leg of the Island's triple crown of racing, goes at Charlottetown Driving Park, as the annual Old Home Week celebration swings into action.

June Byrd owned by Charlottetown's Grovenbrier Farms and Bob Brook owned by Don MacKenzie, Glace Bay, will be the heavy favorites in this first test of pacing ability for the big show. Both the June Byrd and Bob Brook have had great success to date this season and each of the two should be ready to step two great miles before the thousands to attend this opening program.

Others in the big race are Tammany Hal, Lord Adios, McSampson and Hi Jay. The latter is owned by Bill Boyles of Charlottetown and is expected to give his greatest performance (since coming this way) tonight.

The two favorites have drawn the roughest positions. June Byrd scores fifth and Bob Brook on the outside in number six.

Six other dashes comprise the card which has all the appearances of the greatest opening night race program ever presented to Old Home Week patrons.

Tonight, as will be the case throughout the week, the races will start at 8.30 sharp. Afternoon cards the rest of the week are scheduled for 2.30.

AbbiesAndS'side Play To Deadlock

Charlottetown Abbies and Summerside Legion Juniors battled to a 0-0 stalemate in an exhibition baseball game at Memorial Field Sunday afternoon.

The Abbies were composed of players from midget ranks with the sole exception of George 'Lefty' Dunn who hurled the complete tussle for the homesters. Dunn's status is that of a junior.

Don Schurman and 'Lefty' hooked up in a terrific pitching duel that had a fair-sized crowd of fans on the edge of their seats throughout. Each hurler yielded only four base knocks over the nine-inning stretch. The game didn't go into extra innings because the midgets had an engagement to keep at Tracadie.

Dunn fanned 14 Summerside batters and walked a total of two batters. He managed to pick two runners off first base. Lefty's mates made two miscues behind him.

Schurman struck out ten Abbies and issued four passes to first. Two errors were also charged against the western defence.

No Summerside runner made it as far as third and only two reached second. Two Abbies worked their way to the hot corner but that was the end of their travels.

The Abbies had their greatest chance in the sixth when they loaded the bases with only one man out. However, Schurman worked his way out of the jam by getting Freddie MacDonald on a short fly to left and Jamie Kennedy on a drive to the centrefielder. Dunn walked in the seventh and made his way around to third but Wayne MacDougall ended the mild uprising by fouling out to the third sacker.

M. Matheson, G. MacNeil, W. Matheson and Don Schurman picked up the four Pontiac singles. Wayne MacDougall, Billy Weatherbie, Ginger Breedon and Lefty Dunn were the Charlottetown hitters.

Following Old Home Week, the teams will play a return engagement at Queen Elizabeth Park in Summerside.

Bill Coughlin called the ball and strikes and George Hawkins and Jimmy Allan were the umpires on the base paths.

Palmer Says Pro Golfers Not Blinded By Gold Lust

NEW YORK (AP) — Touring golf professionals, with more bounty than ever in the form of prize money and exhibition fees, have not become blinded by a lust for gold, says Arnold Palmer, golf's biggest money-maker during the last five years.

Palmer, who has won more than $70,000 on the pro circuit this year and whose over-all 1962 income from golf and allied interests will nudge $500,000, says he and fellow pros are more interested in the sport's prestige.

"Golf titles are still the most important thing to the players," Palmer said in a recent interview. "There are many golfers who aren't going to make all the money in the world no matter how hard they try. But there is an aura of class about these men that doesn't breed any greed.

"Heck, if a lust for gold hasn't set in by now, it never will with all the money that the pro tour offers."

HITS NEWCOMER

The same spirit pervades even a successful newcomer like Jack Nicklaus, who received a six-figure guarantee for turning professional and then joined the top money-makers this year.

After finishing second in the $100,000 classic, a week before capturing the United States Open, Nicklaus, 22, posed for photographers with a $10,000 cheque in his hand.

"Satisfied?" he repeated a question. "I'm never satisfied with finishing second. I'd trade this $10,000 cheque in right now for a title in some $3,500 tournament any day. It's a title that I want."

INTEREST SPREADS

Palmer, Nicklaus and other top touring professionals are aware of growing public interest in the sport.

"Television has helped us tremendously," Palmer said. "It has generated interest that I would say has put us on a par with football and just a little behind baseball in the minds of the public."

While most people figure Palmer has done for golf what Babe Ruth did for baseball in stimulating interest, he shudders to think of himself as a national image.

"Palmer tradition? What's that? I'm only interested in the sport, not being an institution,"
