BABY INCUBATORS AT WORK SUCCESSFULLY IN NEW YORK.

Science's Substitute for Nature Doing Wonders and Saving Hundreds of Lives—Embryo Citizens and Where They May be Observed—Baby Coops in Operation.

"He was incubated," the proud mother of some great man of the future will say of her son. For the baby incubator is a success and has come to stay, says the New York World. The doctors declare that incubators have already been the means of saving the lives of 100 infants in New York. In fact, the new-born baby who under old-fashioned methods has no chance of living, now, if put in an incubator, stands about an even chance of becoming a healthy, crowing youngster. Baby incubators are now in use in two hospitals in the city, the Post-Graduate hospital, on East Twentieth street, and the Maternity hospital of the Women's Medical College, on East Fifteenth street.

A bright young woman, with a sweet face and modest ways, is in charge of the babies at the Maternity hospital. There is a room in the third story there, a room with a great window which lets in plenty of light and overlooks the tops of the trees in Stuyvesant Park. Around the walls are four cribs of from ten to twelve feet in length. In two of these there were three little lumps.

You discover that these lumps are alive and breathing. They are very small and delicate and dainty and pink. They are babies sure enough—any man could tell that, but nobody would ever think they are incubator-raised.

A cosier place for a baby could not be imagined. Here the embryo citizens have every opportunity the world affords to hold on to life and to grow healthy and strong, while in the tenements where their parents live the lives of the frail little things would have been snuffed out in less than a day after they first saw the light.

The incubator is used only for prematurely born babies and for babies which are so weak that the wise young woman doctors are pretty sure they will die if left in the open air. Strangely enough, the incubator is shaped something like a coffin, while its particular aim is to keep babies out of coffins. There are two kinds of baby incubators and they differ somewhat in construction. The babies are taken out of the incubators at the Maternity hospital to get their nourishment directly from their mothers, who live in the building; but the mother of the baby in the Post-Graduate hospital may not see her offspring from one week's end to another.

Therefore the youngster must be fed by artificial means, and, after much experiment and study, the doctors have completed an incubator by means of which the baby is nourished without being removed from its snug little nest.

The moment a baby for the incubator arrives at the Maternity hospital the white-capped nurses and doctors gather about the little wooden box, which rests upon a stand some three or four feet high. Baby is swathed very carefully in warm clothes, and is then weighed, clothes and all, before he is laid inside and the glass cover is placed over him.

Underneath the board upon which the little mite rests are three bottles that are kept constantly full of hot water. The air passing in from below flows over these and through an opening in the board into the chamber where the infant is. A thermometer keeps the attendant continually informed as to the temperature, and a little aluminum anemometer in the small chimney through which the air escapes, and which furnishes the draught that keeps the baby supplied with fresh air, always indicates whether or not the circulation of air is good.

The weight is a very important matter. One baby in the incubator is weighed every day. A healthy baby should show a slight diurnal increase in weight, and if the doctors find that the diminutive patient is not growing heavier they seek remedies for his indisposition. This is the truest method they have of ascertaining the baby's progress, and therefore the greatest care is taken that its clothes shall always be of the same weight, as two or three ounces is a considerable increase for a young man or woman whose aggregate weight is only six, seven or eight pounds. About 70 per cent. of the "incubated" babies have lived, and at least 50 per cent. of these would have died but for the incubator.

The incubator which will be in the babies' ward of the new building of the Post-Graduate hospital is a great improvement on that at the Maternity hospital, although it lacks the sentimental surroundings of the one in charge of the young woman doctors. In this improved affair the patient will not have to be once lifted from his snug nest from the time he is placed inside until he becomes strong enough to be removed with safety.

The incubator is set upon bicycle wheels, so it may be moved about whenever desired. The fresh air is heated by passing between two strata of hot water, rises up both at the head and the foot of the mattress, and is kept in motion by an aluminum fan run by clock-work, thus preventing any possibility of the little patient's suffering for want of air. There is also a tube for the supply of oxygen, liberal quantities of which are good for babies who are hanging on to life by the merest thread, and it is believed this improvement will save a great many lives that would have been lost in the old incubator.

By means of a clever mechanical device the weight of the baby is always registered, so that the physician may discover the slightest variation at any time. Infants are subject to tubercular diseases, which develop before the doctor knows what is the matter. Of course, the incubator must be opened in order to feed the baby its artificial food, but by means of a deft sliding of the covers the entrance of any cold air from the outside is prevented. The temperature of the inside of the incubator is kept as near ninety-eight degrees as possible.

Her Confidence Shaken.

"Its a dreadful thing not to have confidence in one's husband," said Mrs. Swifkins.

"Yes," replied the visitor, "but you surely have no trouble with yours."

"That is all you could be expected to know about it. I was playing poker with him the other evening and he raised the limit on two deuces, and then got scared and called me. Now, what is to become of a woman who has trusted her future to such a man?"

The Absent-Minded Critic.

"What an absent-minded fellow Pfefferl, the critic is!"

"How so?"

"Why the other day he read a book that was sent to him only for reviewing!"

Is Your Skin Tender.

The skin is really the most wonderful and important organ of the human body. Night and day, every hour of our lives, it is filtering out from the blood useless or poisonods debris. If it stopped work even for twenty-four hours in any case, death would ensue. The skin and mucous membrane of some persons is much more sensitive than others. A person who in summer is subject to freckles, tanned or burned skin, in winter to colds from skin chills, bronchitis, chaps or chilblains, ought (whether at home or traveling) to keep a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment near at hand. Dilute the liniment with water and gently bathe, or moisten a cloth with it and lay upon irritated skin if sensitive; then wash clean in the morning with Castile soap and water. If a person who takes cold quickly is predisposed to bronchitis or catarrh, or exposed to any poison, irritating, to the skin, or consumption will every night, before retiring, bathe the chest and throat with Johnson's Anodyne Liniment and, before dressing in the morning, rub the whole chest smartly with a coarse towel, slightly damped, and then wipe dry, we believe they will never have pulmorary troubles, or disease from defective working of the skin. The proprietors, I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass., will send their new illustrated book, entitled "Treatment for Diseases," free to any person for the asking.

The most palatable preparation of Cod Liver Oil in the world is Miller's Emulsion, and is now being taken by invalids with astonishing success. Miller's is "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at druggists.

There is now said to be a likliehood that 127,000 anthracite coal miners will be called out on strike to support their brothers of the bituminous regions. If this threat is carried out it will mean more loss of trade and more want to workers all over the eastern half of the continent.

A Prominent Lawyer Says.

"I have eight children, every one in good health, not one of whome but has taken Scott's Emulsion, in which my wife has boundless confidence."

A good name is more potent than thrones and kingdoms. In business a good name is vital. The name of Priestley is a synonym for what is delicate, durable and beautiful in Black Dress Goods. In England it is a household word. Priestley's dress fabrics are worn by the well dressed women of Great Britain, while on this side, they have attained to general favor. Ladies should buy no other black dress goods till they have seen Priestley's. They add to an unequalled durability, a beautiful draping quality. Women of taste understand what that means in the success of a costume.
