THE DUBLIN OUTRAGE!
LETTER FROM MR. EGAN.
Mr. Egan, the treasurer of the Land League, has telegraphed the following to the Freeman's Journal, of Dublin:
"Editor Freeman, Dublin:
"In the Freeman of yesterday, Mr. Jas. F. O'Brien suggests a reward of £2,000 out of the Land League funds for the discovery of the perpetrators of the terrible tragedy of Saturday. Remembering, as I do, the number of innocent victims who, in the sad history of our country, have been handed over to the gallows by wretched informers, in order to earn the coveted blood money, and foreseeing the awful danger that, in the present excited state of public feeling, crime may be added to crime by the possible sacrifice of guiltless men, I am determined that if one penny of the Land League fund were voted for such a purpose, I would at once resign the trusteeship."
"PATRICK EGAN."

A LETTER FROM MR. DAVITT.
Replying to an article in the Standard, asking the Land Leaguers to come forward and make a clean breast of any information that would throw light on the assassinations, Mr. Davitt recalls the fact that he came out of Portland Prison at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, after being confined in solitude for fifteen months without seeing a newspaper or letter that did not pass through the hands of the Governor of the prison. He rebuts the implication that he and other Leaguers must possess information that would enable the authorities to track the assassins. He declares that Mr. Parnell and Mr. Dillon cannot lend any more assistance in bringing the assassins to justice than is given in their manifesto. He agrees that a pilgrimage ought to be made through Ireland now to denounce the assassination until these hideous crimes are exercised from the land. From the first initiation of the League he warned the Irish people against outrages as the greatest danger to the movement. He says that when he delivered speeches in the United States he did his best to lay the demon of revenge. He claims that he always denounced violence, and refers to the reports of his address. He continues: "Whoever is responsible for my arrest, let him come forward and declare on what grounds I was deprived of liberty, or lie under the imputation of having removed me because of my stand against a policy of conniving at murder and outrage. Had I been permitted to continue the crusade against outrages, and to level all the influence of the Land League against murder and the mutilation of cattle, I could have prevented numbers of the crimes which stain the name of Ireland, and might have averted the horrible deed of Saturday." Mr. Davitt refers Mr. Forster to the speech made before his arrest, in which he predicted an accumulation of crime that would result from the policy Mr. Forster was pursuing, and held him responsible before God.
CANADIAN FEELING.
A mass meeting of Irish citizens of all denominations was held in the Mechanic's hall, Montreal, on the 10th, Mr. Edward Murphy, a leading merchant, in the chair. The large hall was densely packed, all classes of the Irish population of the city being thoroughly represented. The speeches on the occasion were exceedingly strong in denunciation of the murderers, and evoked the most enthusiastic demonstrations of approval from the whole audience. The movers and seconders of the resolutions were about equally divided between Protestants and Roman Catholics. The following are the resolutions, which were passed without a single dissenting word. The movers delivered stirring addresses in introducing the resolutions.
The following resolutions were carried:—
Whereas, The tidings of the atrocious murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Thomas Henry Burke have been received by the people of Montreal with feelings of consternation, horror and regret.
Resolved, Therefore, that the citizens of Montreal, in common with the whole civilized world, express their detestation of the horrible crime, as well as of the motives which prompted it.
Resolved, That while the Irish residents, especially of Montreal, cannot too strongly give expression to their denunciation of the awful murder which has so shocked the entire British Empire, and caused intense pain and mortification to Irishmen in every land, we beg to express the hope that it may not have the effect of defeating the just and conciliatory measures undertaken for the relief of the Irish people by the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone's Government.
Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathy of the Irish population of Montreal is hereby tendered to the bereaved families of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke, and they venture to express the hope that the blood of these innocent victims, shed upon Irish soil, may have the effect of cementing a lasting union among the people of their respective races, and defeating the sinister designs of those who would create a spirit of antagonism between the people of Great Britain and Ireland.
Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded to the British Government and the afflicted families of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke.

MORE ARRESTS.
A Dublin on dit asserts that three detectives have been arrested, ostensibly as implicated in the Phoenix Park tragedy, but really for the purpose of bringing them in contact with the prisoners to be arrested hereafter.
Before going abroad just study the climate and the season, and your system as well; such forethought will pay if you are subject to rheumatism. If you are inclined to traverse the damp and marshy districts, don't do it unless you are well supplied with St. Jacobs Oil, which is far more efficacious in curing rheumatism than all the tonics that may be undertaken. In proof of this we will give the words of our well-known railroad man, and member of City Council from the Sixth Ward, Mr. D. J. Dalton, of Cincinnati. Meeting that gentleman on 'Change yesterday, and speaking on this subject, he said:—
"You remember when my shoulder and arm was so bad with the rheumatism, last summer, and for the spring and winter preceding? Well, I had tried several remedies and derived no benefit from their use. I thought I would try a change of climate, and did so, going to Point Burnside, on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad. The beauty of the scenery and the foolish hope of relief used to tempt me to take early morning strolls. The entire valley at that time of day (just before sunrise) is covered with mist rising from the Cumberland River. That mist settled my rheumatism. I was not there three weeks until I was three times as bad as when I started. I came home, and gave up the study of climatology. Time and again I remarked the wonderful cures performed by St. Jacobs Oil. I tried it. Five bottles of St. Jacobs Oil effected a complete cure, and I am proud to say to you, or to any one else, that the Great German Remedy will always meet with my hearty endorsement."
Cincinnati Enquirer.

The growth of the traffic through the Suez Canal is remarkably rapid, as will be seen from the following returns for the first three months of the last three years:—

YEARS.	SHIPS.	RECEIPTS.
1880.....	584	$445,000
1881.....	650	500,800
1882.....	908	652,000

The value of the shares is of course also increasing rapidly. Since Lord Beaconsfield's investment some years ago Great Britain has made quit a small fortune each for her out of them.

Mr. L. J. Jennings, the observing and careful London correspondent of the New York World, says that both England and Ireland are passing rapidly under the control of the revolutionary party. Every journal on the Continent expresses this belief, including M. Gambetta's paper and the Catholic journals, but cutting off their powers almost altogether regarding political offences. The first business in Parliament to-morrow night will be the introduction of Mr. Gladstone's new measure. Excepting the clause relating to the preservation of life and property, the bill was read by Lord Cavendish the day before his death and approved by him. The Premier has not been in bed 5 hours at a time since Friday night, but works with a feverish anxiety that indicates a full knowledge of the crisis hanging over the Government. It is quite clear that Gladstone thinks he can weather the storm. Many members of his party urge him to adopt severer methods. Several Radicals and nearly all the Whigs threaten to bolt if he continues the present policy. Parnell says he is no longer afraid of the total annihilation of the Irish party.
A NEW IRISH SOCIETY.
A number of placards were posted in Dublin during last night announcing the formation of the "National Association of Ireland," the object of which is the restoration of the Irish legislature and independence, and calling a meeting for the 15th inst., of those who wish to enroll as members. The placards contain hostile references to the Dublin Castle officials and to the Government. It is not believed that these placards were posted by any of the regular organized Irish societies here, but it is thought they were put up by persons opposed to them, who, seeing a favorable opportunity, wished to bring them into contempt.
PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.
A despatch of the 10th instant says:—
"All the Irish seaports are being most carefully watched, as are those in England to which the packets from Ireland generally sail. Since the days of Fenianism such a watch has not been kept at Holyhead as now. There is some talk of sending to London for further assistance, as telegrams from this city warning the authorities there and at Chester to be on the lookout not only for the supposed assassins, but also for the defence of the port and the Castle, are constantly being received. A cypher despatch from London, received here to-day by the Castle authorities, was considered so ominous that its contents have not been divulged. One of its apparent results is that within a few minutes of its having been received an order was issued forbidding the castle officials of whatever grade to go outside the Castle and the city precincts unescorted by police. In some cases they are to be escorted wherever they go inside or outside of the city. The detectives are as busy as bees. A large contingent has come over from London, Liverpool, Bristol, Milford Haven, and Glasgow, men well acquainted with the Irish residents in these places, and are at all times mingling with the stream of people in the streets, drinking or appearing to drink in the public houses, frequenting the masses celebrated in the Roman Catholic chapels. This last means of detection has not been taken since the days of Fenianism, and is not rebuffed by the priests, who object to it on the score of profaning the sacred places."
