

Carnival Parade Kicks Off Week Of Gay Festivities

Commencing Tuesday, every day is carnival day in Summerside as the town goes all out in staging its greatest annual event — the Summerside Lobster Carnival.

Each day produces a new program, appropriately designated for the feature event taking place.

Tuesday is "Parade Day", which has always proven to be the single biggest crowd attraction on any day during carnival week.

The high-stepping Summerside majorettes will lead off the big parade this year followed by floats, bands, marching units, and other colourful parade attractions that are watched by crowds of people who line the streets along the entire two-mile route from the marine wharf to the carnival headquarters at Summerside Stadium. The parade is scheduled to start at 1.30 p.m.

OFFICIAL OPENING

The carnival will be officially opened by Lieutenant Governor Walter Hyndman. The evening program will include a band concert, horse racing, the preliminary judging of Miss Prince Edward Island contest, and dancing.

Wednesday is "Childrens Day" with an afternoon program especially for the children, including a doll carriage parade, highlighted by a drawing for four bicycles, donated by Bill Lynch, whose midway and mechanical

Festival Air Grips S'side As 'King' Lobster Is Feted

Summerside Stadium, headquarters for the Seventh Annual Lobster Carnival, has taken on a new appearance with the completion of a new interior redecoration, coupled with the transformation of the center area where booths and display sections are receiving finishing touches of preparation for the crowds that will fill the building throughout next week.

The interior of the stadium has been completely repainted, with hallways and arches under the stands now a gleaming yellow, with sandy grey trim.

Spectator stands in the grandstand area are a new green, yellow, and white, with the southern section blue and white and the sides finished in red and white.

INTERESTING DISPLAYS

The booths in the center area of the stadium are alive with interesting displays ranging from commercial to entertainment nature, and the women's institute booth displaying the greatest number of quilts, rugs, fancy work and handicraft by the P.E.I. women's institutes, has received new lighting and improved display section to facilitate the increase in the interest and exhibits in this fascinating part of the carnival exhibits.

Banners and flags decorate the entire parade route from Summerside east to the stadium where other decorations and flags within the stadium add color to the whole lively scene.

The stage this year which forms the central point of most events including the public appearances of the Miss P.E.I. contestants, features a "fisheries" theme in harmony with the lobster carnival idea.

New Era Seen For Fisheries

A whole new era for the fisheries industry of Prince Edward Island may begin at the Summerside Lobster Carnival on Tuesday, following the big parade.

At that time a conference will be convened at the Canadian Legion Home at 3 p.m. where provincial and federal fisheries officials will meet, together with representatives of the P. E. I. Fisheries Federation, representatives from the various fishing communities on the island, fish buyers, packers, and canners.

The purpose of the conference is to discuss ways and means of helping fishermen improve the fishing industry of the province, how new methods of fishing may increase the income of fishermen and how housewives may be able to bolster their budgets through the more frequent use of fish and fish products from the fishing waters and processing plants of Prince Edward Island.

PROMOTE EQUIPMENT

The conference will also consider the possibility of having the Summerside Lobster Carnival as one means of using and promoting new fishing equipment, fish preparation (cooking), the prominent display of every form of fish from Island processing plants, the possibility of staging a provincial fishermen's regatta in conjunction with the annual carnival.

Among those attending this Summerside conference scheduled to begin immediately after the lobster carnival parade on Tuesday will be Hon. Leo Rossiter, provincial minister of fisheries; Eugene Gorman, provincial deputy minister of fisheries; Loren Baker, maritime administration officer for the federal department of fisheries.

It is hoped that this meeting will lay the groundwork for future improvement, expansion, and progress in the fishing industry of Prince Edward Island, and that fishermen will be represented from all areas of the province so that the committee that will be interested in this proposed new project will be representative of every fishing community in P.E.I.
