C. N. R. President Reviews Year And Looks To Future

MONTREAL (CP)—CNR President Donald Gordon said Monday in his year-end review the railway achieved great progress during 1957 despite severe financial stress but now faces the "certain prospect" of a substantial deficit. Mr. Gordon said the CNR, like other major railways, "suffered severely from the decline in many phases of the economy, which caused its freight tonnage and revenues to dwindle while costs of wages and materials continued to climb."

He said the contract demands of non-operating employees — if granted — would cost the CNR $77,000,000 a year. Mr. Gordon said freight tonnage declined 11,000,000 tons, dropping 11 per cent below the record of 1956. But the decrease was mainly in low-rated commodities and freight revenue decreased only four per cent. Freight rate increases lag behind increased costs, Mr. Gordon said, although there was an 11 per cent increase last Jan. 1. A new application for a further 10 per cent general increase was made last autumn.

PASSENGER REVENUE Passenger revenues rose for the third consecutive year, this time by 3.5 per cent, he said. Contributing factors were a record movement of immigrants and increases of 10 per cent for first class and five per cent for second class which took effect Sept. 1. Some 290,000 annual train miles were eliminated in 1957 under the policy of discontinuing passenger services resulting in large deficits.

Mr. Gordon said the westbound schedule of the Super Continental was reduced by 1½ hours and the eastbound schedule by 30 minutes. Other schedule reductions in main line service were made between Montreal - Toronto - Chicago and between Montreal and Halifax.

The CNR played its part in opening the 161-mile branch of the Chibougamau line in Quebec, a 22-mile branch line from Bartibog to Heath Steele in New Brunswick, and acquiring the newly constructed 30-mile line between Sipiwek on the Hudson Bay Line in Northern Manitoba to International Nickel Limited deposits in the Moak Lake-Mystère Lake region.

ALL DIESELS IN EAST All train operations in the Atlantic region, the British Columbia district and lines south of the St. Lawrence River will be dieselized by mid-1958, Mr. Gordon predicted. Dieselization continues in Quebec and Alberta.

Mr. Gordon said the westbound schedule of the Super Continental was reduced by 1½ hours and the eastbound schedule by 30 minutes. Other schedule reductions in main line service were made between Montreal - Toronto - Chicago and between Montreal and Halifax.

World Prayer To Be Heard Locally

An effort to link the entire world in prayer for peace was realized during 1957 when the National Congress of Prayer led by Dr. Thomas Carruth of Washington, D.C. organized prayer groups all around the earth so that at all times in some part, prayers were going up to Almighty God.

As evidence of their efforts the Prayer Congress had recordings of actual prayer meetings made in a number of parts of the world and this recording has been played over on the national networks of the United States. On

Skid Row Murder Suspect Is Out Of The Limelight

By BERNARD GAVZER
CHICAGO (AP)—Fame, of a sort, came to Bennie Bedwell as he was sitting in a skid row movie house.

The law plucked the 20-year-old drifter and sometime dishwasher from his seat. For a brief time it held him up to the hard glare of public inspection as a suspect in one of Chicago's most lurid and still unsolved—murders.

Then, with scarcely a ripple, it dropped him back into his twilight world of cheap flophouses, saloons and beereries, where jingling pockets lead to a bottle and strange women.

During his brief flight from obscurity to notoriety, Bennie was accused of slaying the teen-aged Grimes sisters, Barbara and Patricia, who disappeared just a year ago today.

Bennie confessed (under police duress, he said). He recanted. He was freed. He was charged with rape in Florida, taken there, tried and acquitted.

The experiences seem to have changed Bennie. He doesn't drink anymore. He has a steady job and a steady job of sorts. He wants to go to school and learn to read.

Bennie works as a truck driver's helper for the Salvation Army at $17 a week (grant, not salary) plus room and board. He eats at the army dining hall under a sign that says: "Jesus never fails."

"Sometimes it seems like he does fail," Bennie observes, "but I reckon it only seemed that way to me for a bit back there."

"Back there" is the time of the Grimes case. Bennie was arrested shortly after the girls' nude, frozen bodies were found beside a country road Jan. 22. Several skid row people reported seeing the sisters with a dishwasher and drifter known as "Bennie."

WANTED PEACE After three days of questioning, Bennie signed a confession. But the mother of the slain girls insisted Bennie was lying. She said her daughters never would sail her road of their own free will and certainly not in the company of such a person. Bennie repudiated the confession.

Why did he confess? "I just wanted some peace," he said. "I wanted them to stop asking me questions. That's all I wanted was some peace of mind, for them to let me alone."

Bennie has a keen memory for details and a knack for visualizing situations. To sheriff's investigators, he seemed to know a lot about the Grimes case.

But, in making a good story, he guessed wrong on a lot of details. Bennie's second story was that 1958 we extend all best wishes to our members, to all other farmers and to our readers for a prosperous and happy new year. We are not sure what the proper order is to happiness and prosperity is undoubtedly many farmers see the need for more prosperity as a means to creating greater satisfaction. We hasten to point out that happiness is possible without the prosperity but there is certainly no good reason why both can't go together.

AMONG THE FARMERS

Federation of Agriculture Newsletter

A CLEAN SLATE The New Year has always been the traditional time for making a fresh start, for developing greater enthusiasm, for planning and for resolving not to repeat the mistakes of the previous year. Even less than forty years ago slates were used in the schools, by the simple operator of rubbing a damp cloth over the slate, work was removed, mistakes destroyed and a fresh start made on a new problem.

Slates have passed away and today's scribes and lead pencils leave a record not so easy to obliterate. The mistakes of last year can be forgotten but it is not easy to erase their effects. However, the New Year does present the opportunity of trying to do better, of striving for new goals and greater achievements, this is the way that the human animal progresses and it is indeed fortunate that time is measured off into compact units and that we do not have to live more than one year at a time.

TO PLAN OR NOT TO PLAN Canadian society generally recognizes the fact that agriculture is not in a very satisfactory or happy position. Farmers and farm organizations in their search for a remedy have considered a great variety of plans that might help. Chief among these is the mechanism of price supports and deficiency payments which will bring the price which the farmer receives for his product somewhat closer to a satisfactory level. Use of this mechanism is an admission of the fact that the farmer is not in a good position to bargain for a satisfactory price on his own behalf. Operating in an economy in which many sections insulate themselves against the law of supply and demand the farmer finds himself the loser far oftener than he benefits through the natural operation of the market.

In addition to the use of price supports farmers have put a great deal of effort into the organization of marketing boards as a means of improving his bargaining position. It is interesting to note that many sections of the business community and industry are busily expressing sincerely or otherwise their grave concern over the farmer experimenting with what they allege to be highly dangerous weapons, price supports and marketing boards. Only time will tell whether their fears are well grounded. However, it would be more encouraging if these opponents of the "devil take the hindmost" policy had something to offer as a reasonable alternative to straightening out the numerous disabilities which afflict the farmer and the rural community.

USE THE CLIPPERS When cattle are out in the fall of the year they develop long heavy hair and when stabled in a warm building this winter coat keeps the animal too warm, become wet, harbours parasites and prevents the animal from doing well. There is probably nothing that will improve an animal so rapidly or cause it to make much better gains than to remove from the back and shoulders this long hair. Clippers are a good investment and their use at the right time can pay excellent returns in increased milk production and better gains.

EZRA TAFT BENSON Listeners to Farm Forum on Monday, January 6 will have the opportunity of hearing the American secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson discuss with two prominent Canadians the question of Production Restrictions in agriculture. The United States government and the United States farmer has had during the past years a great deal of experience in attempting to improve the farmers position through various policies. No doubt Mr. Benson will be asked pointed questions as to the American experience and present operation of their program. Listeners to Farm Forum should have an interesting session on Monday evening.

ARE WE SURE? In the issue of December 21 the Financial Post discussing Ottawa's Stabilization Bill opined that by having a substantial guarantee under farm prices, high cost and inefficient producers will be encouraged to stay in business when they would be better off and the country would be better off if they switched to other lines or other industries. The Financial Post appears to be certain that it is right in this matter, other people who have greater concern in agriculture and who perhaps know more about it will not be so sure. It must not be forgotten that the contribution of the family farm to the nation cannot be measured entirely in economic terms.

AMERICAN SOLUTION In the United States exists a body known as "the United States Committee for Economic Development". This committee has recently been taking a look at agriculture and suggests the following things need to be done.

1. Reduce the number of farmers.
2. Eliminate price supports. The committee says this can be done over five years.

3. Initiate a land retirement program dedicated specifically and singly to reducing the resources devoted to agriculture, including both people and land so that farmers may share equitably in the national prosperity and economic growth, at free market prices.

4. The committee sees the need for the retention of price supports to deal with temporary emergencies.

5. Finally the committee suggests an advisory agricultural board responsible to Congress to work with the Secretary of Agriculture in applying agricultural policy.

New Year's eve it was played over CFCY Charlottetown and by special request from a great many listeners will be repeated this Sunday evening at 8:30.

With Dr. Carruth in the National Prayer Congress are such widely known Christian leaders as Frank Laubach, well known for his work in the field of teaching reading to illiterates; Catherine Marshall, widow of the late Rev. Peter Marshall; Elton Trueblood, prominent Quaker preacher in the United States; Billy Graham and Edward Elson, minister of the church attended by President Eisenhower. The president himself is a strong supporter of this great prayer movement.

Another of the year's top musical attractions was the violinist Igor Oistrakh, who gave concerts and lectured throughout Argentina. Last year the Peking Opera Company had a triumphant visit.

RMORED VISITOR It's now rumored that Dimitri Shostakovich, the Soviet composer best known outside Russia, will soon come here.

The Russian also send chess masters to us. Argentina and subsidize local publishers to turn out inexpensive editions of Soviet writers. They offer expenses - paid trips to Russia to promising artists, engineers and scientists.

In the provinces the Russians maintain a dozen cultural centres where movies, lectures and concerts are given frequently. Russia has its official weekly magazine called News of the Soviet Union. It sells for one peso - about 2½ cents.

Replace Boy's Heart Artery ROSLYN, N. Y. (AP)—David Fleming, six-year-old son of a Queens lawyer, has survived a five-hour operation to replace a diseased heart artery with a healthy one from a 33-year-old dead man.

The healthy aorta, main blood vessel of the body, which had been kept under refrigeration, was transplanted Mo lay night in one of the world's rarest operations.

During the operations, five surgeons, three anesthetists, two cardiologists and five surgical nurses participated. David's defective aorta burst and 14 pints of blood were used to keep him alive while the healthy artery was stitched into place.

Wednesday he was reported in critical condition but "holding his own."

Local Garrison Officers Hold Dance And Levee Officers of the Charlottetown Garrison held a gala dance in their mess at the Armouries on New Year's Eve. Over 120 couples attended including personnel of the other two services as well as special guests of the Garrison officers.

Among the guests were three cadets home for their holidays from the Royal Military College, Kingston.

On New Year's Day the officer commanding the Charlottetown Garrison, Colonel A. W. Rogers, E.D., held a levee.
