The many friends of Miss Marguerite MacDonald will be glad to hear that she is progressing favourably after a recent operation in the Toronto General Hospital.

It is hoped that a widening and re-surfacing job can be started on the Valleyfield Road next summer. Its width now is only twenty-five feet and inadequate drainage causes it to be in poor condition most of the year. If the stretch of road linking the county line and Montague was improved, there would be a fine highway with other improved roads centrally located, for the travellers' convenience.

Valleyfield East

Mr. Zenas Golding was a recent visitor to Valleyfield East.

Miss Lillian MacLeod spent the week-end at her home in Valleyfield.

Mrs. William MacLeod of Valleyfield is spending the month with friends and relatives in Massachusetts.

The Easter Story, old but ever new, was the theme and was followed through from the agony of the Crucifixion to the triumph over death, of the risen Christ and the story of His weak followers made strong whenever they received the Holy Spirit, and who became His witnesses in the face of tribulations and persecution - going on to the story of Paul who became one of the greatest Ambassadors for Christ. Hymns appropriate to Easter were used. After prayer, this part of the meeting closed.

W.C.T.U. NOTES

IS ALCOHOLISM AN ILLNESS?

1. What is an Alcoholic? Dr. Robert V. Selzer, of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, defines an alcoholic in these terms: "Medically, an individual is considered an alcoholic if his use of alcohol interferes with one or more of his important life activities, as for instance, his business standing and ability, his reputation or his home life. In contrast, the social drinker can stop drinking at will. But it is from the ranks of the social drinker that the chronic alcoholic usually develops."

2. Isn't a man's drinking habits his own private affair? A leading Canadian industrialist has said that alcoholism costs Canadian industry $80,000,000, (eighty million dollars) a year, according to the Toronto Star of February 3, 1950.

The personnel department of one large industry reports that about three persons out of every hundred employed drink enough to be considered alcoholics, and it is estimated the average alcoholic loses 22 days each year from his job.

According to researchers, intoxicated workers, or workers who are suffering a hangover, cause accidents costing industry close to $10,000,000 a year in Canada. Other losses chargeable to industry include crime committed under the influence of liquor, and a couple of million dollars each for hospital care of alcoholics and maintenance of drunks in local jails. This shows drinking is a public problem.

'HOME OF THE BRAVE' TURNS OUT TO BE THE MOST-TALKED-ABOUT FILM OF YEAR

Arthur Laurents' unusual drama, "Home of the Brave", which bows in at the Prince Edward Theatre today has been made into a screenplay of exceptional power and distinction.

"Home of the Brave" was adapted from the famous Broadway hit by Carl Foreman, and the direction was in the capable hands of Mark Robson.

The story tells of a small reconnaissance group of soldiers on an island in the South Pacific some time during the late war. It is led by a young, callow major, frightened of the magnitude of his task, but doing his best in charge of four men on a strategic, dangerous mission. One of the men, all volunteers, is an average, pleasant GI, one is an irritating bigot, one is a hardened veteran with a philosophical outlook, and one happens to be a sensitive, well-educated Negro who is an expert surveyor.

The pressure of work accomplished in the Jap-surrounded jungle, and the varying reactions of the soldiers not only to the imminent presence of death, but to the Negro in their midst, are depicted with spine-tingling realism. The climax of the picture has the Negro undergoing treatment as a psychoneurotic, a condition brought on when he cracks up after seeing his one faithful buddy killed, after a period of extended abuse by the Japs, but which really stems back to the neuroses built up in his own past life. It is an Army medic who diagnoses the case and finally effects the cure.

Well produced and intelligently directed, "Home of the Brave" is the most exciting screen entertainment of the year.
