Canadiens And Red Wings In Player Deal

MONTREAL, June 19 (CP)—Montreal Canadiens today announced a deal whereby Gerry Couture comes to the Montreal club from Detroit Red Wings in exchange for Bert Hirschfeld and an unstated amount of cash.

Couture, who will be 27 next season, is a native of Saskatoon and has been with Detroit or its Indianapolis farm club for the seven seasons since he turned pro. He is a centre.

He was handicapped by a leg injury early last season and wound up with only seven goals and six assists in 53 games. The previous season he had 24 goals and seven assists over the full 70-game schedule.

Hirschfeld, a rugged young winger and centre, is a native of Halifax and has played pro hockey only two seasons. As property of Canadiens, he spent much of the time with a farm team, Cincinnati Mohawks, but was called up at various times to help the parent club. He is only 22 years old.

Sports Forum

Sir.—The time seems opportune for someone to say a few words about the importance of the big athletic field day on Memorial Field, Victoria Park, Charlottetown, on July 3 (Festive Week).

The officials in charge will be very busy men from now till the big display of sport events is over, and may not be able to devote the time and thought which this big day of field sports merits.

The list was published a few days ago, and it is noticeable that it is a complete list of standard events—thereby giving a greater number of athletes a chance to compete. On previous occasions the "meets", under the supervision of Brigadier Reid, with his competent assistants, have been handled with systematic order and precision.

There ought to be a large number of aspiring athletes from all parts of this Province, and mainland associations will likely send over some good teams. They sent several good teams on previous occasions. It behooves our Island athletes to practice faithfully and well in order to break even with them.

It is wonderful what concentration of mind and group practice will accomplish. I've seen young men start to practice for a police force examination who found it hard to do four feet in the running high jump. After six months practice and concentration of mind and group practice will accomplish. C. and B. Girls Defeat Girls Team From Kensington

The Curran & Briggs girls of Summerside defeated a Kensington girls' softball team at the recreation grounds last night by the score of 27 to 18. The score was very even for five innings but the home girls drew ahead with two spirited rallies in the last two frames while holding their opponents scoreless.

The fine work of catcher Marie Arsenault, who went a long way to smother three fouls, the stick work of Diane Gallant were the highlights of play for Lippy Gaudet's team, while the batting and fielding of Barbara Woodside stood out for the visitors.

The line-ups:
 Summerside: Rose Gaudet 3b, Marcia Delaney 2b, Shirley Arsenault ss, Diane Gallant lb, Marie Peters p, Kay Murphy cf, Marie Arsenault c, Pat Watson lf, Shirley Perry if, Dor Gallant rf.
 Kensington: Jean Reeves c, Ina Larkin 2b, Mildred Inglis of, Eleanor Bernard lb, Emma MacMahon 3b, Barbara Woodside ss, Shirley Burgess p, Frances Pendergast lf & rf.—S.

TRURO, N. S., June 19 (CP)—Truro Bearcats of the Halifax and District Baseball League defeated the touring Georgian Chain Gang 9-1 in an exhibition game today.

In the intellectual "doldrums"—from now till the end of June, when schools close, it would be well for all teachers, in order to give their pupils supervised diversion and exercise, to organize short "dashes", high and broad jumps, etc. It is one branch of education. (Educere—to lead forth; to draw out). According to reports of unfitness among army applicants, something drastic must be done for "physical fitness." Among the school children would appear to be the logical place to inculcate physical fitness.

Our young men who are blessed with health and strength and would like to try out the field events on July 3rd shouldn't be shy or inhibitive. It's better to have tried and lost than to have not tried at all. Amateurs can scarcely be expected to win in first competitions, but they will see how things are done—also have the comradeship of the athletic group. Get together at the cross roads and village squares. Practice the events—they will be listed in the papers soon again. Improve shot, hammer, discus, javelin, bars, etc. "Where there's a will there's a way."
 I am, Sir, etc.,

Former Big League Baseballer Dies

COLUMBUS, O., June 19 (AP)—Walter (Spooks) Gerber, 59, former major league baseballer in Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Boston, died early today. He suffered a heart attack three weeks ago.

Gerber, a shortstop, spent 13 years in the major leagues. He spent 1915 with Pittsburgh in the National League and then returned to Columbus in the minors for two more years.

He ended his career with St. Paul in the American Association in 1930.

Poulton Retains Title In Sixth Round TKO Over Howard Leslie

Poulton salted the fight away with a vicious one two in Leslie's corner. A left to the jaw followed by a right uppercut to the chin dropped Leslie to the canvas on his back. He rolled over onto his stomach but managed to regain his feet at the count of nine. Referee Jim Jenkins examined Leslie and wisely stopped the fight.

From the end of the second round on it appeared to be only a matter of time. Poulton dropped Leslie for a nine count in the second, sent the Saint John boy into kayo-land a second before the bell in the fifth and outfought him in the seven times. Buddy Lund, the Island lightweight champion took a six round decision from Crosby Irving of Saint John in the semi-final. Lund, the aggressor most of the way had too much ring savvy for his opponent although he was outweighted by 17 pounds. Lund weighed 130, Crosby, 147.

Poulton and Leslie both came into the ring at 144 pounds with Poulton having a slight advantage in reach over his stockier opponent. They fought through the first round and half the second on fairly even terms with the rather small sized crowd shouting for the City boxer.

Then Poulton caught his opponent near the ropes about the two minute mark of the second round. He shot out a left and followed up with a right uppercut to the mouth and nose to knock Leslie sprawling for a nine count. Leslie's nose was bleeding profusely in the third round as Poulton kept jabbing home his left. Leslie, as game as they come, took the initiative about the middle of the session and landed several hard blows on Poulton's jaw.

In the fourth it was evident that Poulton was setting up his man for the knockout blow. He was using the "combination" and getting the better of sharp exchanges. Leslie occasionally became the aggressor hoping to catch Poulton with one of his left hooks which appeared to carry power if they connected.

The fifth round was a repetition of the fourth. Then Poulton suddenly caught his opponent with a crashing right to the jaw in mid ring. Leslie was out as cold as a tomato but the bell rang to save him.

Showing courage, the likes of which probably has been surpassed in a local ring Leslie came out for the sixth round and took the role of the aggressor until Poulton's right again caught up with him and ended the contest.

Semi-Final Bout

Lund and Irving fought through a fast six rounder without doing too much damage to one another. Irving appeared capable of taking plenty of punishment and was a willing mixer but seemed unable to take full advantage of an opening when one occurred.

They fought through an easy first round on even terms. Lund took over in the second, third and fourth and kept forcing his opponent with Irving making the occasional outburst.

Irving opened up fast in the fifth but could not catch the local boy who boxed magnificently. The sixth round was the best of the fight with the boys mixing it plenty. Lund hit Irving hard about the two minute mark and appeared to hurt him but could not get in for the kayo blow.

Rangy Louis Lafferty, 164 lbs. was too long and strong for Johnnie Russell, 160 lbs in a six round go. Both boys were dog tired at the end of the bout but Lafferty piled up enough points to win.

Lafferty was the aggressor during the first three rounds with Russell doing some nice boxing. Russell had the better of the fourth and might have put his opponent away if he had the power and stamina. Lafferty came back strong to take the fifth and sixth.

Bud Ramsay, 140 pounds of Summerside won a four round decision over Lloyd Carr 136 pounds of Charlottetown in a crowd pleaser. Both boys fought on pretty even terms with Ramsay causing Carr's nose to bleed badly in the second round and Carr opening up a cut over Ramsay's eye in the third.

Irwin Court of Bedford spotted Texas George Steele of Souris 14 pounds but won a technical knockout over the Souris boy in the second round. Court was the aggressor all the way and had a wide margin in the first round. He had Steele nose bleeding badly in the second and when he knocked down the Souris boy in the second the fight was called. Court weighed 136 pounds, Steele 150.

Jim Jenkins capably refereed the semi-final and main bouts, and George Stewart of Summerside handled the prelims. The judges were Opl. Wm. Warner, R. C. M. P. and Mr. John Cameron. The timers were Dr. F. C. Dougan and Johnny Williams. Dr. Seaman counted for the knockdowns. The announcer was W. H. Beaton.

Southworth Quits As Boston Braves' Manager

BOSTON, June 19 (AP)—Billy Southworth, one of the National League's most successful managers, has resigned from the Boston Braves. His request to be relieved of five-year contract that runs through 1961 was granted by president Lou Perini.

Perini named Tommy Holmes, one of the most popular players in recent Boston history, to take over as manager for the remainder of this season and all of next.

Now 58, Southworth, who suffered a near nervous breakdown in midseason of 1949, informed Perini and general manager John Quinn last Sunday that he felt "some one else could do a better job."

Southworth came to the Braves from the Cardinals in 1946, after his St. Louis Club won pennants in 1942-43-44. He directed the Braves to their first National League championship in 34 years in 1948.

Southworth's initial Boston contract was a long-term affair that called for a $36,000 annual salary. After the 1947 season, however, Southworth was signed to a new five-year agreement that was reported to guarantee him $260,000 over the five years.

The impending Southworth departure from the Braves was announced by Quinn in Chicago this afternoon, shortly before the Braves were shut out, 3-0 by the Cubs.

At the time, Holmes was in Elmira, N. Y., with his Hartford club, the Braves' Eastern League farm,

Alberton Wins Opener From Elmsdale 9-2

In the opening game of the baseball season Monday, a strong Alberton team defeated the Elmsdale players by a score of 9-2. The Elmsdale boys who won the playoffs last season appeared stumped by the pitching of Stewart Fraser. On Friday evening the Alberton team will play Roseville.

which he took over this season. "The first I heard of the job mentioned was Sunday," Holmes said. "Mr. Perini called me and asked me if I'd take the challenge. I told him 'yes'."

When Southworth became ill two seasons ago, coach Johnny Cooney replaced him. At the time Cooney asked Perini not to consider his appointment permanent, regardless of Southworth's future health. Billy appeared to be in perfect physical shape when he rejoined the Braves in the 1950 spring training camp.

Under Southworth, the Braves finished fourth and third before leading the League in 1946. They also were fourth last two seasons and now are in fifth place with 28 wins 13 losses, 16 of which have been by one-run margins.

For the Stars it was their third loss in as many starts. They were without the services of their regular catcher, Arnold MacCallum. Outfielder Red Howatt took care of the catching duties.

MacDougall was on the mound for the winners with Maurice Flynn his battery mate. Left-handed Junior MacLeod pitched for the Stars.

Prince County Crow Contest Progressing Well

Officials of the Prince County Fish and Game Association report that the Association's crow contest is progressing splendidly. Many people, young and old, are striving for one of the cash prizes or sporting merchandise being offered.

A bounty of 15 cents per pair of crow feet is being paid at the P. E. I. Fur Pool, Summerside. One crow shooter from Malpeque district turned in 36 pair of feet yesterday and if this is any indication, the crow is in for a rough time of it.
