

John W. Herbert, a science student at the University of Prince Edward Island has been awarded a $3,000 scholarship from The Terry Fox Humanitarian Award Program. The father of four children, Mr. Herbert is an excellent student who has been the winner of previous awards for his academic accomplishments, and he is currently on a full-tuition scholarship awarded him by UPEI. He intends to pursue a career in chemistry or medicine. During the summer, the 28 year-old Chemistry major was employed on a Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada grant as a research chemist at Diagnostic Chemicals in the West Royalty Industrial Center. During the winter months he works at the Provincial Sanitorium. Prior to returning to school as a mature student, Mr. Herbert worked in a number of fields involving less fortunate members of society. He has worked in a hostel for men, and in institutions for the chronically ill and disabled.
