U. K. Grocers Ask For More Salmon

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Britain's Retail Grocers Federation Tuesday asked the government to increase imports of canned salmon by 10 per cent.

Herman Kent, federation secretary, said in a letter to two government departments—the board of trade and the ministry of fisheries—that the suggested increase would "stop the present racketeering and obviate the unjustifiably high prices" demanded of canned salmon, under a strict import quota, is considered a luxury item by most British housewives. An eight-ounce tin of choice Canadian sockeye sells for about five shillings, three pence. The same size tin of pink salmon sells for just under four shillings.

British importers now are allowed to import salmon worth £3,500,000 from North America. The quota for Russia is £1,100,000. The North American quota, chiefly spent in Canada, is £200,000 higher than the year before.

Provisional figures for 1956 show salmon imports from Canada were valued at about £2,950,000 compared with £1,900,000 in 1955.

A feature of U.K. salmon imports in recent years is the increased use of Canadian salmon. From 1956 to 1958, imports of Canadian salmon averaged £770,000 annually, compared with £1,100,000 for United States salmon. The final United States figure for 1956 is expected to be less than £900,000—more than £2,000,000 below the Canadian figure.

Approve Cerebral Palsy Atlantic Provinces Conference

The annual and monthly meeting of the Cerebral Palsy organization was held at the centre, 67 Hillsborough St., Monday evening, June 24th. The president presided. The minutes of the last annual meeting and the monthly meeting of committees were heard and dealt with. A report of the year's work was given by the president, which showed that a great deal of work had been accomplished during the year.

The secretary - treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Aubrey Gamble. Eleven regular meetings and three special meetings were held during the year. It was moved and seconded that a vote of thanks be extended to all who helped the organization during the year.

A special thanks was given to the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, The Lucy Maud Montgomery Chapter of the I.O.D.E. and to the many Women's Institutes for their very generous donations to the school.

A report was given by Mrs. Lloyd MacCallum on the convention held recently in Moncton. Delegates were present from Saint John, Halifax, Fredericton, Sydney, Moncton, Gasperaux and Chatham.

The purpose of the meeting was to organize an Atlantic Provinces Cerebral Palsy Conference. The proposed constitution was read and after some discussion it was considered and approved.

The aim of the Atlantic Provinces Cerebral Palsy Conference shall be to foster and encourage the care and treatment of all persons within the Atlantic Provinces who are affected by Cerebral Palsy, and to encourage the formation of such further Cerebral Palsy organizations as is deemed necessary.

The conference shall consist of organizations and groups (whether incorporated or otherwise) within the Atlantic Provinces, whose aims are devoted in whole or in part to the care and treatment of persons affected by Cerebral Palsy.

Until recent years parents were alone in their efforts to train and care for their children. Now there are more than twenty treatment centres in Canada, where Cerebral Palsy patients, both children and adults—may get special training. This discussion was enjoyed by all and many useful and interesting points were brought out. Lunch was served by committee in charge. Meeting adjourned.

Europe Heat Death 339

ROME (AP) — The dead from Europe's week-long heatwave tallied at least 339 Tuesday night, with blistering sunny Italy paying the heaviest toll.

Cooling winds had broken the back of one of the worst heatwaves in years in some parts of northern Europe. In Finland and Sweden there was frost and snow. But throughout the Italian peninsula a scorching heat killed at least 147 during 48 hours and set fire to crops in southern fields and granaries. Of the dead, at least 95 were inmates of old peoples homes in Milan, Venice and Padua.

Temperatures in Italy hovered at the 100-degree mark or higher.

MORE DIED

The counted Italian deaths from heat was generally believed to be only part of the toll taken in cities and small towns, many of which do not report heat deaths.

In Milan alone, during the last four days dead from all causes tallied 294, a number double the usual average for such a period. Many were older persons.

West Germany counted 68 dead, but gentle, cooling breezes brought relief there.

Austria, which has experienced the worst heat wave since 1873, had 35 dead. The Netherlands reported 29 drownings, but temperatures there had dropped into the 70s. France had 25 deaths and Belgium 12. Switzerland reported 13 dead and Britain and Norway five each.

Reverses Position In U. S. Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives, which voted two months ago to kill the major part of the administration's farm soil bank, reversed itself Tuesday and voted to extend the program one more year.

After a tight, House members accepted Senate-House compromise authorizing $1,500,000,000 for payments to farmers next year for the acreage reserve section of the plan for taking a percentage of surplus croplands out of production.

Only Senate approval, which appears certain, remains to ensure effectiveness of the program in 1958.

Dam Turned Over To India

CALCUTTA (CP)—A $4,000,000 hydro-electric project, built under the Colombo plan, was formally turned over to India Tuesday by Canada's high commissioner, Chester Ronning.

The Umtru project, 17 miles south of Gauhati in the province of Assam, was opened by Assam's Governor Fazlali.

Canada donated electric equipment and engineering services valued at nearly $1,000,000. The Indian cost of the project, which totalled $2,200,000, was met out of rupees realized by the sale of Canadian aluminum to the Indian cable industry, supplied under the Commonwealth's Colombo development plan.

Provisional figures for 1956 show Assam will give Assam an additional 4,500 kilowatts of power by harnessing a 170-foot drop of the Umtru River, a tributary of the Kallang.

Canadian aid to India under the Colombo plan during the last five years has amounted to $80,000,000, which includes a hydro-electric project in Bombay's state road transport project in West Bengal, a hydro-electric project in Madras, an atomic reactor in Bombay, locomotives for Indian railways, buses and a magnetometer oil survey of central India.

Nursing Schools Need Support

OTTAWA (CP) — Public funds must pay for nursing education if the profession is to meet increased demand for services inherent in a national health scheme, says nurse Katherine MacLaggan of Fredericton.

Miss MacLaggan, lecturer at the New Brunswick teachers training school, says nursing education costs now are "a provocative and timely problem."

She outlines her views in an article, "A Crisis in Nursing Education," in the current issue of The Canadian Nurse, official publication of the Canadian Nurses' Association.

Most of Canada's nursing schools are operated in hospitals which require services from nurses while they are in training.

"In the majority of instances the cost of nursing education is lost in the argumentation that is hospital economics," Miss MacLaggan states.

NEW PRESSURES

In balancing hospital financed education against student services, patients, students or education itself could suffer.

Miss MacLaggan, chairman of the CNA's national nursing education committee, states that a health insurance plan will place nursing under great pressure, and show up any weaknesses in the education system.

"Departments of health or other administrators of the pre-paid hospitalization scheme will of necessity be preoccupied with service to the public.

"As long as nursing education is lost in the problems of cost and service, it will be weakened. In turn, the quality of nursing service will diminish in ratio to the severity of educational opportunity."

Society must provide nursing with the means to assume its responsibility for nursing education principles.

The traditional belief that nursing is an exception to any other form of post-high school education is "what I call the great rationalization," she states.

"Public funds, which are presently outside of our control, must be placed at our disposal in such a fashion that it is possible for us to move forward with the course of events."

The imminence of a form of health insurance that includes hospital care . . . "is too big a thing in its implications and its details to be ignored."

P.E.I. Club Told Patriotism Is Needed Today

"There exists today in the national life of Canada a void that must be filled if we are to remain united as a national entity," Captain D. F. Sigsworth told a gathering of Prince Edward Islanders at the P.E.I. Club's annual banquet in the Sea Gull Club auditorium in Halifax recently.

"The Canadian nation today moves towards the fulfillment of its destiny like a sleep walker, unaware of the destructive forces that surround it. Canadians have been mesmerized by the monotony of success, and have quietly slipped into a horrifying state of patriotic catalepsy," he said. Captain Sigsworth, an Islander himself, and a second year law student at the University of London, England, warned his fellow Islanders that the "handwriting is on the wall."

He spoke of the void created by the all but complete absence, in our country, of a patriotic zeal and national pride, "both of which are indispensable ingredients of the greatness for which we were chosen" by Destiny and towards which we are being carried on the current of world acclaim.

"The Islanders' energetic spirit of enthusiastic independence into the blood stream of the Canadian nation and you have a creative and robust national spirit which waxing stronger as it feeds on the vitality in generates would produce a strong sense of national strong sense of national awareness that would send this Canada of ours soaring to the very zenith of national greatness, and discovery of our country horizons yet unthought of by the wildest and most idealistic high-prists of Canadianism," Mr. Sigsworth said.

Father Richard Murphy, Saint Joseph's Parish, Halifax, thanked the speaker, and expressed the belief that "we may get our flag."

"We must have a flag and culture of our own," Father Murphy said.

Ed Doucette, president of the P.E.I. Club presided at the meeting. Louis D. McGinn was master of Ceremonies.
