The corsage worn by Mrs. MacGregor was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Buchanan of Moncton, close friends of the family.

It was interesting to note that among the many guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bulpitt of Roseneath, who on New Year's

Brudenell Island

(On the last Sunday in August, 1952 I was inspired to write the following verses, while riding over the beautiful countryside from Montague to Georgetown thence to the historic Brudenell Island, where many of my mother's ancestors are buried.)

From Montague to Georgetown Off we went a-riding down:
Georgetown is on a shining bay In which three sister rivers flow, Where the foaming white caps play As the tide goes to and fro.

Once of busy ship renown, And in many feats had a goodly share, But now a quaint and dreamy town, Peace and quiet everywhere.

Today I had great pleasure, And it came quite unawares, When friends were at their leisure, Untroubled by inciting cares.

It was a perfect pleasure— Sight seeing the country side, And a joy to fill the measure Was old friends with whom to ride

We motored down to Brudenell Our ancestral Isle to see— Where ocean waves sweet stories tell Touched by sadness more than glee.

Our ancestors came from Scotland In eighteen hundred and three— They ventured if this new land... Seeking homes and liberty.

They settled down in Brudenell, Amidst the forest pine and birch Erected homes in which to dwell, And on this Isle a little church.

Its history is filled with folk lore By our noble kin to us bestowed. We all should cherish ever more The strength in faith they to us showed.

O'er hallowed ground we softly slept, And stood beside the granite tomb, Where many forebears long have slept 'Neath native weed flower's bloom.

The epitaph aroused deep thought Reflecting on departed kin, Who knelt upon this sacred spot, Praying their freedom to begin, Freedom they so truly sought.

The sentiments of our noble kin Seemed softly whispered thru the trees— Creating thankfulness within To be among their legatees.

Unless one's eyes have seen it, 'Tis hard to comprehend How this wee Isle could be so scenic, And share so much of Nature's blend.

It's approach is made enchanting By three rivers winding course, And the echoes of wild birds chanting Wafted by the unseen force.

Let us have a celebration In nineteen fifty three! Let us fill with animation— Repeat the call of nineteen three.

Thus our kindfolds we can honor— Fruits of their labor should not decay. Each should be a "thank you" donor For the ground work they did lay.

Send forth the proclamation Over hills beyond the sea. 'Twill be grand anticipation This historic Isle to see.

Portland 5, Maine (Formerly of Montague), and all hope to see him out around soon and back to school in the very near future.
