BE NOT CONTENT.

Be not content. Contentment means inaction
The growing soul aches on its upward quest,
Satiety is twin to satisfaction;
All great achievements spring from life's unrest.

The tiny roots, deep in the dark mold hiding,
Would never bless the earth with leaf and flower
Were it not an inborn restlessness abiding
In seed and germ to stir them with its power.

Were man contented with his lot forever,
He had not sought strange seas with sails unfurled,
And the vast wonder of our shores had never
Dawned on the gaze of an admiring world.

Prize what is years, but be not quite contented,
There is a healthful restlessness of soul
By which a mighty purpose is augmented
In urging men to reach a higher goal.

So when the restless impulse rises, driving
Your calm content before it, do not grieve;
It is the upward reaching and the striving
Of the God in you to achieve, achieve.

DREAD KIDNEY DISEASE QUICKLY REMOVED.

To even bunch the many words of praise written of South American Kidney Cure would consume large newspaper space. But take at random a few: Adam Soper, Burk's Falls, Ont.: "One bottle of South American Kidney Cure convinced me of its great worth." Michael McMullen, Chesley, Ont.: "I procured one bottle of South American Kidney Cure, and taking it according to directions got immediate relief." D. J. Locke, Sherbrooke, Ont.: "I spent over $100 for treatment, but never received marked relief until I began to use of South American Kidney Cure." Rev. James Murdock, St. John, N. B.: "I have received one hundred dollars worth of good from one bottle of of South American Kidney Cure."

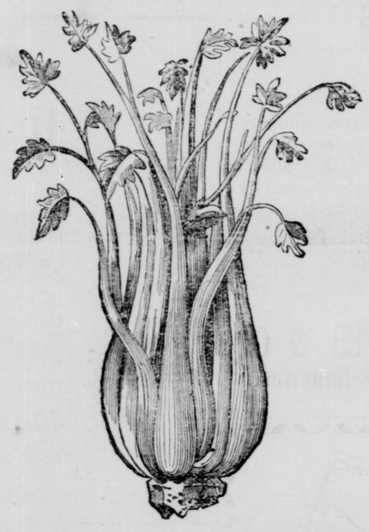
Paine's Celery Compound.

THE BEST REMEDY IN THE WORLD---IT MAKES PEOPLE WELL.



There is one true specific for diseases arising from impure blood and a debilitated nervous system, and that is Paine's Celery Compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is propably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D, LL. D., of Dartmouth College, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's Celery Compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, billiousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter, Paine's Celery Compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

MR SHAW'S SPEECH.

FRIDAY, April 17.

Mr. Shaw resumed the debate on the motion to go into committee of supply. He pointed out that when the House adjourned at 6 o'clock last evening he was quoting a resolution introduced in 1889 by Hon. Mr. Yeo, in which it was stated that the time had arrived when revenue and expenditure should be made to meet. He had also quoted from the recorded utterances of several hon. members of the House along the same line—utterances which he had no doubt they would be going back upon when in a few weeks they would be in the midst of a Dominion election campaign. But, fortunately, we have the Parliamentary Reporter to confron them with—the Reporter which the present administration had abolished.

Mr. Shaw then proceeded to quote from the Parliamentary Reporter the utterances of various members of the Government with respect to the matter of making revenue expenditure meet. In 1889 the hon. member for West River had deprecated deficits and promised to save at least $25,000 of public money by reducing the salaries of the officials. How has he kept this promise? The Government of which he is a member has increased the salaries of the officials and added to their number, and instead of a reduction of expenses there has been an increase. The hon. member from Springton in the same session had also expressed himself as being opposed to the policy of deficits and in favor of making revenue and expenditure meet. The public accounts show how they have kept their promise. The hon. member had said that there could be only one result of having a deficit each year, and that was the financial ruin of the Province. Yet he sits in his seat to-day with these words ringing in his ears, and the blush of shame does not mantle his brow. In 1891, according to the same Parliamentary Reporter, similar declarations were made regarding the meeting of revenue and expenditure. In 1891, when the present Government obtained power, they submitted a statement of the debt and liabilities on the 24th of April, showing that $171,931 was due at that time. In order to make up the amount they charged their predecessors with $33,060 of the unearned subsidy. Proceeding, he showed how the present administration had $47,000 to begin work with on that date. He also showed how, in that year, they promised to make ends meet. The hon. member had said that the accounts would be squared, and that no government was justified in adding to and increasing the public debt every year. Yet year after year, huge deficits have been rolled up. How can the honorable member justify his conduct in remaining in a government which has not kept its promises?

The hon. member for West River had also been heard from. He said no business men would remain in a government that would allow the business of the country to get into the condition in which they found it. How could he, as a business man, remain in a government which pursued sush a ruinous policy? He thought it was high time that both the hon. member for West River and the hon. member for Springton should fold their tents, and, like the arab, steal silently away

The Leader of the Government, the bright and particular star around which the satellites revolve, is also on record as promising to take steps for abolishing the deficits and making ends meet. He kept his promise by having a big deficit each year. If ever there was a political failure it is the Leader of the present Government. The hon. member for East Point is also on record on this matter of making ends meet. He said that unless this were done, national bankruptcy stared us in the face. Although nothing was done to meet the views he then expressed, we find him to-day one of the most servile followers of the present Government. The hon. member for Fort Augustus had also expressed himself as opposed to deficits. He said he considered it a great mistake to roll up deficit after deficit. No doubt he was sincere. But evil associations had evidently corrupted him and he was in the same political slough as the other supporters of the administration. In 1891 they endeavored to equalize revenue and expenditure by giving discounts in the Land Office. In consequence they demoralized that department to such an extent that two leaves are now sufficient for the Commissioner's report, in spite of the fact that it is the only revenue yielding department in the public service. They first gave discounts to their friends, but later on some of their opponents were similarly favored. In 1891 they obtained $72,878 from the Land Office, and yet they had a deficit of upwards of $30,000.

The interest paid yearly is a sure indication of the debt of a country. The Leader of the Government in his budget speech took great credit for a reduction in the amount paid for interest. He said that if the late Government had remained in power and had increased the debt to the same extent they would have to pay $20,000 interest instead of $14,000. Taking up this statement, Mr. Shaw proceeded to prove that the present Government had largely increased, rather than decreased, the amount paid for interest. In 1890, the last year of the late Government, they paid out $2,697, and the present Government, during the first year of their power, paid the enormous sum of $7,075. Still the Leader brazenly says they curtailed the public debt. But he knows better than that. In 1892, as shown by the Parliamentary Reporter, the Leader whined considerably in his budget speech, and when taxed with another deficit of $30,000, he blamed it on the Tories, because they had charge for a part of 1891. But next year he was determined that the expenditures should be made to meet, and he brought in a debenture bill by means of which he proposed to liquidate the debt of the Province. In this way they fastened a permanent debt on this country He said they came in to get the country out of debt, and that was the way they did it.

Although the present government fully controlled affairs during 1892 the result was another deficit of $37,651. In that year also they paid $6,649 in interest. How does this compare with a little over $2,000 during the control of the late government. In 1893 the Leader was again ready to repeat his promises. In his Budget Speech he said revenue and expenditure would certainly be made to meet. In that year they took in only $19,021 in the Land Office, for the simple reason that the resources of that arm of the public service were almost exhausted in consequence of their policy. Their deficit in that year was not $10,000 or $20,000. The enormous deficit of $119,945 was rolled up, although the public works had been allowed to so to destruction. Did the Leader curtail the interest that year? It was actually $10,000. So much for 1893. Even by accident they failed to redeem their promises.

There has been no official reporter since 1893. But fortunately we have the Patriot newspaper—the Bible of the Grits—and they bow down and worship it. In that paper in the report of the Leader's budget speech he is on record as again declaiming against the terrible result of deficits and again pledging himself to make revenue and expenditure meet. He said the time had come when the policy of drift must be abandoned and some scheme adopted by which the revenue will be augmented and ends made to meet. But how did the Leader keep the promise he made? He passed the land tax bill ands instituted an army of tax collectors to enforce it. We opposed the measure and claimed that it should not have been passed without consulting the people. Besides the land tax they also passed the income and commercial traveller's taxes, and in this way they swelled the revenue. They also taxed insurance companies, and the premiums were raised in consequence. They also raised the fees for Prince of Wales College to the tune of something like $592 in excess of the amount collected under the late government. Their total tax collected as $44,987.91, and the revenue from the Land Office $36,000. Yet they came out with a deficit of $20,164. The interest in that year $14,813.

In 1895 the Leader again pledged himself that he would make revenue and expenditure meet. He collected $30,731.70 from the land tax last year, and this year it is estimated that $35,000 will be received. How can he hope for this increase? Mr. Shaw also showed how the estimates from some of the other taxes were in excess of the amount that was likely to be received. In spite of all their taxes last year their deficit was $33,000, and there was now—mark this—$13,514.39 in interest. This is what the public accounts show. But there is a vast amount of interest still due and unpaid. At the lowest estimate there is $4,000 interest unpaid on loans, and if this is added to their other interest you will have $17,500, or nearly nine times as much as the amount of interest paid by their perdecessors in 1890. In the face of this fact how dare the Leader of the Government claim credit for having reduced the interest account?

Insurgents in South Africa.

LONDON, April 13.—In the house of commons, the secretary of state for the colonies' Joseph Chamberlain, made a statement to-day regarding the situation in Matabeleland. He said that the governor of Cape Colony, Sir Hercules Robinson, had offered to despatch to the disturbed districts a force of three hundred cavalry and two hundred mounted infantry from Natal, in addition to the volunteers and police which it had already been arranged should be sent to Matabeleland. Mr. Chamberlain said Sir Hercules Robinson would also raise a force of two hundred and fifty Bastuas to assist in quelling the rebellion, and he (Mr. Chamberlain) was consulting with the war office as to the steps necessary in order to replace the troops ordered into the interior. Mr. Chamberlain added that the British South Africa company would have to pay for these operations.

GIVE US THEIR NAMES.

We Will Take Steps to Protect You.

We have the very best proof that certain dealers are endeavoring to induce their customers to take adulterated and imitation dyes when Diamond Dyes are asked for. In many cases dealers knowing that their persuasive powers will have a bad effect, stealthily wrap up poor dyes instead of the "Diamond" as expected and looked for by the public. This is gross and rank swindling, and richly deserves exposure.

We will thank the friends and users of Diamond Dyes if they will kindly send us the names of dealers who, for the sake of extra money profit, make attempts to defraud and deceive

A Terrible Experience with Heart Disease. Yet Cured by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart.

Do not our largest sympathies well out to those who suffer from heart disease? It comes so suddenly, and its symptoms are usually so distressing that the greatest agony is experienced by the patient. The case of Mr. L. W. Law, of Toronto Junction, Ont., who was unable to lie down in bed for eighteen months owing to smothering spells and palpitation, is by no means exceptional. Who would have thought the case could be cured, and yet one bottle of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart removed trouble in this case. It gives such speedy relief, that even where the symptons are less dangerous, it ought at once to be taken as a means of driving the terrible disease from the system.
