Electricity Comes To Madelinots GRINDSTONE, Magdalen Islands Que (CP)—Electricity has come to these windswept islands that stretch 80 miles into the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Previously the only electricity was at the hospital and a few fish plants that had their own generators. Now the electricity co-operative's generating plant at Grindstone supplies most of the 9,200 inhabitants. Diesel engines using oil were needed for the generators because there is no waterpower on the low, treeless isles.

Eisenhower Speech Cheers Commonwealth Ministers

Final Meeting For Week Of Prayer SYDNEY, Australia. (Reuters)—President Eisenhower's state of the Union message reported to have ended a worrisome talk of possible U.S. economic trouble at the closed meeting of Commonwealth finance ministers here Friday.

Spokesman said the speech, which hinted at lowered American tariff barriers, won unanimous approval from speakers at the first day of the conference.

At the same time, they said, no speaker mentioned the threat of a major American economic recession—in sharp contrast to pre-conference warnings of the damage an economic breakdown in the United States would cause to the Commonwealth.

The only skeptical note came from the Australian prime minister, Robert Menzies, who was reported to have warned that present U.S. trends might bring a scarcity of jobs—and thus increase congressional opposition to aid for the Commonwealth area.

Menzies joined British chancellor of the exchequer, Richard A. Butler in lauding Eisenhower's statements, however, at an earlier open session.

Nursery Club Annual Meeting

Mrs. Harry Jamieson was elected president of the King's County Nursery Club at the annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. Charles Aitken Wednesday evening. Other officers included: vice-president, Mrs. Carl Stewart; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Leon Johnston; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Horace Fraser. Mrs. H. M. Smith was elected a member of the executive. A buying committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. W. A. Hickey, and Miss Florrie Beaton.

In the absence of the retiring president, Miss Florrie Beaton, the business was conducted by Mrs. H. T. Jamieson. There were nine members present. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The financial statement showed that the club had a very successful year.

Following an hour of sewing and knitting, lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. T. Clair and Mrs. H. Fraser. Mrs. T. Clair invited the members to meet at her home for the next meeting when Mrs. C. Aitken and Mrs. H. T. Jamieson will be on the lunch committee.

To Complete Army Enlistments

Another large group of men left here recently by air for Halifax to complete their enlistments in the Canadian Army Active Force. They represent practically all parts of the province. One of them is the widely known harness race driver, Walter A. Craig of this city who has been training and driving horses for the past several years. He is a son of Commissioner Robert Craig who is on duty at the Provincial Building.

Others leaving were Ramsay Edward MacKenna, Montague; Earl John McKenna, Alberton; Wendell Justin McKenna, Elmisdale; Malcolm Preston MacLeod, Orwell Cove; George Edward MacDonald, Coleman; Clarence Edward Gallant, George Joseph Grady, both of Summerside; Clayton James Berrigan, Charlottetown; Sterling Robert Adams, O'Leary; Merlin Ernest Campbell, Dundas Centre.

W. MacArthur president.

In pointing out the objectives of the organization, Mr. Stafford said "members are required to use every honorable and democratic means, without interfering with internal operations of affiliated organizations, to improve the relations between working people and their employers."

Prior to installation each officer was required to make a solemn affirmation: "That I am not associated in any manner with any group which expounds or promotes or encourages any doctrine or philosophy contrary to, or subversive to the fundamental principles and institutions of the democratic form of Government of Canada, and, further I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II according to the law."

There are 600,000 members in Canada having allegiance to 70 international, 10 provincial, and 60 Trade Councils such as was organized here last night. There are 300 Federal charters. The charter was signed by President Percy R. Bengough, C.B.E., and General Secretary Gordon G. Cushing and was accompanied by messages of congratulations from several councils in the Maritimes.

Mount Allison Plans Celebration

SACKVILLE, N.B. (CP)—Mount Allison University, was the first Canadian college to give arts and science degrees to women, and on Aug. 14 it is going to celebrate the occasion. Records show that the "female branch of the male academy" opened its doors in 1854. The building is still standing and will be the scene for a reunion of the university's former women students.

Ferriery, the art of horse-shoeing, was first practiced by the Celts.

Montague Canadian Legion Meeting

"Routine business was transacted at the regular meeting of the Montague branch Canadian Legion held at the Legion Home last Thursday evening. In the absence of the president, Comrade Rod Martin presided.

Following the reading of the minutes, the monthly bills were presented, and a motion approved for payment. Correspondence was also read. After a brief discussion on general matters, the meeting adjourned after which a social hour was enjoyed. A lunch of sandwiches and coffee was served.

Zion W. M. S.

The semi-annual meeting of Zion W. M. S. was held recently in the parlor of the church. The president, Mrs. Larter, presided. Call to worship was the 12th chapter of Isaiah read in unison followed by prayer. Mrs. Mutch read the scripture lessons and Mrs. Patterson gave the exposition.

Prayers were offered by Mrs. A. A. MacDonald, Mrs. MacDougall and Mrs. Angus MacDonald. Hymn "I Have Set Before Thee An Open Door" brought the devotional period to a close. Roll call was answered with a New Year's verse.

The president stated that the Christmas box had been forwarded to the post worker at Halifax. Mrs. Balingall and Mrs. A. A. MacDonald reported having visited the Mission Band and were much impressed with the meeting, and splendid attendance. Twenty-four visits were made to the sick and shut-ins.

The secretary read the annual report of the Mission Band submitted by the Band secretary Miss Marion Perry. Other officers are: President, Miss Margaret MacLean; roll call secretary, Miss Joyce Hemphill. The leaders, Miss Doris Ferguson and Mrs. Goodwill MacDougall are to be commended on their work with the band, and may be assured their efforts will bear fruit in years to come.

The report of the Mission Guild was read. Following are the officers: President, Mrs. Davis; vice-president, Mrs. Bell; secretary, Miss Boswall; treasurer, Mrs. Bealisto. Appreciation was expressed by all for these two excellent reports from the Mission Band and Mission Guild.

A report of the year's activities of the W. M. S. was read by the secretary Mrs. Darrach, and a detailed financial statement given by the treasurer, Miss Ida MacDougall.

An invitation is being extended to the Mission Guild to meet with the W. M. S. at their next regular meeting which will be held in the church parlor.

Mrs. Balingall and Mrs. Darrach to attend to the program, and Mrs. Mutch, Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Jardine, Mrs. Nicholson on the lunch committee.

To Participate

continued from page 1 greater part of World War II. But in spite of these difficult times the present Science Building was constructed and made ready for opening in January or 1939. Two years later, still during Monsignor Murphy's Rectorship, St. Dunstan's conferred her first Degrees in May 1941.

The formal opening of the Centennial Year of St. Dunstan's by Archbishop Roy and Monsignor Murphy will be witnessed by all the students presently enrolled at St. Dunstan's. In members, in dress,

W.C.T.U. NOTES

WHO ARE THE BRAVE? Walter E. Eisenhower In The Wesleyan Youth

If a young person today takes a stand against certain evils that are indulged in by the masses, or refuses to partake of those evils, he is scoffed at and scorned by many. Some call him a "sissy," while others call him "yellow." He may even be classed as "cowardly."

Let us remember, however, that it takes the spirit, courage, faith, and backbone of a hero to go against the crowd that is going wrong. It is never cowardly to do right. Only the brave person, the brave youth, can and will take his stand for the right when it is popular to do wrong or to go with those who do wrong.

When he separates himself from wrong-doers and comes out clear and clean with God and righteousness, he is a hero rather than a coward. It is never brave to do wrong or indulge in evil because the masses do so. We should realize that cowardice is the way of least resistance, when to go that way is contrary to one's conscience and better judgment. It takes courage, bravery, and heroism to go with God and keep a clear conscience.

We need a vast company of young people today who are brave enough to take their stand against drinking beer, wine and liquor, even though the social glass is passed by popular society, and they would have to go contrary to their so-called friends. One should realize that it is not a true friend that would lead him wrong, and away from noble manhood or from that which makes noble manhood.

Never think it is cowardice to go away from, or against, the crowd that goes wrong. This is heroism, even though one may have to bear the jeers and scoffs of many who are too cowardly themselves to take their stand for God and right. It is always the brave youth who stands for right and truth and for that which makes for clean, godly upright living.

In the end the youth who is courageous enough to go with God and the very best people will come out on the side of eternal victory. He will live on when his indulgent fellows who have made fun of him and called him cowardly will go down in defeat and will be gone and forgotten.

The bread that gives strength I want to give. The water pure that bids the thirsty live: I want to help the fainting, day by day: I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.

I want to give to others hope and faith: I want to do all that the Master asks: I want to live aright from day to day: I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.

STAY-AT-HOME BIRDS WHIPPSNADE, England (CP)—Officials at this Bedfordshire Zoo will cut a hole in the roof of an aviary housing 200 budgerigars. The budgerigars are of a rare homing species.

Their ambitions they resemble little: the eighteen registrants of a century ago. Yet in heritage, talents and devotion a century has wrought but little change.

SHIRTS LAUNDERED TO PERFECTION RITE - WAY CLEANERS Dial 7387

I think that I shall never see a poem lovely as a tree - yes everybody loves trees - BUT... as many of you already know, stormy weather causes swaying branches resulting in broken and burned wires which interrupt the electric power and communication services to your home.

The City Tree Committee, with the co-operation of the Provincial Forestry Engineer, have investigated the tree conditions in this city and have prepared a program of tree trimming to clear these service lines and maintain the decorative appearance of the trees. Our crews will begin this program on Tuesday, January 12th, and will make every effort to shape and trim each tree to give adequate line clearance and preserve its ornamental appearance. So, when you see our crews cutting limbs from a tree—and maybe even removing entirely badly rotted trees, please remember they are only doing what is necessary to eliminate the cause of accidents and to ensure constant and trouble-free service to you. REDDY KILOWATT.
