N. Wiltshire Resident Fined $35 On Obstruction Charge

A fine of $35 and costs or 15 days was meted out to Paul Vincent McCluskey, New Wiltshire, by Magistrate A.J. Haslam following his conviction in city police court Saturday on the charge of obstructing a peace officer in the performance of his duties.

The testimony of Cnsts. Sterling Williams and Alfred Arsenault was to the effect the accused came towards them apparently to interfere, as they were attempting to arrest his brother at an early hour Saturday morning.

Two other men who had been previously remanded on similar charges of being drunk and disorderly appeared again. One had arranged for two sureties to keep the peace and the bond was accepted. The other was further remanded to give him additional time to obtain the required sureties.

John Joseph Alexander Thomas, Southport, appearing on a charge of possession of stolen goods, was further remanded in custody to Aug. 1. Three men appeared on charges of being drunk and incapable, with one being senteneed to 25 days in jail and the other two fined $20 and costs. Damaged Pier Seen Unlikely To Be Rebuilt

SYDNEY (CP) — The Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation will suspend shipments from its No. 3 coal loading pier here which was ravaged in $750,000 fire early Saturday.

A company spokesman said coal shipments by water from No. 2 pier will continue normally. It was not damaged in the blaze.

The spokesman added that possibilities are being explored toward increasing loading capacity at the No. 2 pier. This would give work for about 200 men displaced by the fire.

The company operates four piers — two for coal and two for steel.

The damaged pier was not expected to be repaired or rebuilt as a new mechanical pier and pocket — a container built into the pier to hold about 15,000 tons of coal— is already under construction.

Trade Promise Claimed In Nuclear Ban Deal

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's willingness to approve a historic nuclear test ban treaty was accompanied by an "understanding" that the United States would liberalize trade with Iron Curtain countries says the New York Daily News.

The News says the United States is prepared to open direct trade talks with the Communist pact nations as a direct result of the test ban treaty initialled in Moscow last week.

State Undersecretary Averell Harriman refused to comment on the point after his meeting in Hyannis Port, Mass., with President Kennedy, to newspaper reports. Harriman headed the U.S. delegation to the three-nation talks which concluded the treaty.

The White House refused to confirm that a trade understanding had been reached with the Soviets, the Daily News says.

The newspaper also says the sources explained that the official signing of a nuclear agreement with Canada, supposed to have been initialled last week, has been delayed indefinitely by mutual consent of both governments until the nuclear test ban with Russia has been ratified.

Under the agreement, the United States would provide Canada with nuclear warheads for missiles to be used for intercontinental defence, the news paper says.

"Neither side wanted to upset the diplomatic applecart when the negotiations in Moscow were going so well," The News says.

Britain, U.S. Reject Bid To Slice Portguese Empire

By CARMAN CUMMING

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— The United States and Britain have turned thumbs down on a new bid to force Portugal to give up her African possessions.

Adlai Stevenson of the U.S. and Sir Patrick Dean of Britain told the United Nations Security Council Friday they could not support a draft resolution on the territories, although they sympathized with some of its provisions.

The resolution was sponsored by Ghana, Morocco and The Philippines on behalf of an African delegation representing the 32 countries that met at Addis Ababa in May.

It would have the council demand early independence for the territories. It also would ask Secretary-General U Thant to "ensure" that the resolution is carried out, and to report back by Sept. 30.

It would also call for an embargo on the sale to Portugal of arms or military equipment that would enable Portugal to continue her "repressions" of the peoples of the territories.

ISOLATE PORTUGAL

Dean objected to the resolution on the grounds it would tend to "drive Portugal into a position of isolation." He expressed doubt that it would actually help inhabitants of the territories.

He urged the council instead to work for removal of the suspicions and misunderstandings between Portugal and her African accusers.

And he called on Portugal to "accept now, before it is too late, that world opinion cannot acquiesce in a continuing denial of the legitimate aspiration of the people of Angola, Mozambique and the other Portuguese territories towards self-determination."

While the British and U.S. spokesmen found the resolution too strong, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko told a reporter It was too weak to satisfy him.

Ghana's Alex Quaison-Sackey, formally introducing the draft, noted that it called for only a limited rather than a total arms embargo and did not demand Portugal's suspension or expulsion from the UN.

Both Dean and Stevenson objected to one clause of the draft declaring that the situation in the territories was "seriously endangering peace and security in Africa."

And they both deplored African warnings that independent action would be taken against Portugal if the council failed to move decisively.

Stevenson backed the partial arms embargo, saying the U.S. had followed such a policy for years. But he cautioned against "placing an impossible burden" on the secretary - general and setting "unrealistic time limits" that would only raise false hopes.

Gasoline, Oil Prices Increasing

HALIFAX — W.W. Shatford, region manager for Imperial Oil Limited, has announced that higher federal taxation of gasoline, effective with the new budget, has caused an increase of four-tenths of a cent per gallon in tankwagon prices across Canada.

Under the changed regulations announced with the federal budget, the tax collected on gasoline was increased by 25 per cent. "This increase", Mr. Shatford said, "raises the federal sales tax to an average of two cents per gallon and the company is simply in the position of being a collector of the federal tax".

Also for the same sales tax reasons diesel tankwagon or whole-sale prices have been raised one-tenth of a cent per gallon and wholesale prices on automobile and industrial lubricating oils and greases have been increased three to four percent.
