

Home At Grand River Lost In Fire; Owner Suffers Burns

Fire on Monday morning completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lea MacIntyre at Grand River, together with all the furniture and effects from the upstairs section of the house, and resulted in painful burns to the hands of Mr. MacIntyre while trying to extinguish the fire.

The fire originated in the upstairs section of the house and was discovered about 9 a.m. by Mrs. MacIntyre who was in the house together with their only son, Joey, confined to home because of chicken pox.

Several nearby residents happened to be absent from the district on business in Summerside and Charlottetown, and others in the area were hampered in getting to the scene of the fire because of the condition of the clay roads in the district. Resulting from the mild spring weather.

At the time of the fire the wind was in a direction which fortunately prevented serious damage to the barns and other buildings on the MacIntyre farm, and also blew the sparks away from the direction of the nearby home of Mr. MacIntyre's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Herman MacIntyre.

Some of the furniture in the downstairs part of the house was saved but there was no insurance either on the home or on the furniture and household effects which were lost in the fire.

Minister Says

centage of attendance 8,230 (8,597). Number of senior high school students 370 (840); Government expenditure $907,000 ($1,506,000); total expenditures districts included $1,432,000 ($2,446,000); Teachers' salaries paid by Government $551,000 ($934,000).

Teacher training summer courses, money spent $3,621 ($12,186); Vocational education $33,000 ($60,000); Assistance to rural schools $44,000 ($145,000); Transportation and tuition, nil ($25,000); Text book sub-vention $10,000 ($40,000); holders of first class licenses 1,479 (2,068); second class 1,076 (1,485); third class 847 (1,215).

The Minister took strong exception to a section of the weekly feature of the Teachers' Federation in which it was indicated that Prince Edward Island was in an educational crisis but nothing was being done about it.

Mr. Clark quoted from a leading educational periodical which indicated that most other provinces of Canada are having the same troubles that are being experienced here. "In fact you could take out the name Saskatchewan and replace it with Prince Edward Island and it would give you pretty nearly the same picture," he said.

"I would suggest that those who would improve our educational system should be familiar with the budgetary figures of the department. I have not heard any member of this House condemn a single item of this expenditure. We can do more only if the people of the province are willing and able to spend more money for this purpose and as the Minister of Agriculture previously suggested this does not require any government action—the remedy is largely within the power of every school district of the province."

SCENIC AREAS

Beginning with an area of 10 square miles in the Rocky Mountains in 1955, Canada's national parks now cover 29,000 square miles.

Lot 16 Parents Note Lack Of Uniformity Of Education

Kenneth MacLean, representing a group of parents in the Children in Distress Committee, Children in rural schools are at a great disadvantage compared with the children living in a close proximity of the larger units, especially those living in the towns.

One disadvantage is the fact that there is no uniform standard of education in this province. A pupil moving from the country to a town school, in most cases, is put back a grade.

Another disadvantage is the shortage of teachers, especially qualified teachers with experience to teach the upper grades, and this situation is becoming progressively worse.

er shortage, children in these grades are too young and immature to go to a high school and board away from home.

We agree that the Land Valuation Board was a step in the right direction, but feel that this Board has placed too much emphasis on building values while people who live in rented homes and receive substantial incomes, pay only a nominal fee.

One More Straw And He's Down

EL BALLAH, Egypt (CP)—The tough job of speeding the signals at United Nations Emergency Force headquarters is supervised by a hefty Canadian sergeant—R. W. Christie of Port Colborne, Ont., and Winnipeg.

His little outfit handles about 200 messages a day and phone calls at the rate of 250 an hour. And they include complicated calls tied in with the complicated Egyptian long-distance headquarters duty where he and his mates go in rotation after service in desert outposts and at the nearby Abu Sweir base.

TOURING LIMITED
He also gets into the nearby city of Ismailia once in a while. But he is restricted to the European quarter.

There is nothing in UNEF regulations that says a soldier can't take a train to Cairo—but he can't get to the train because the railway station is in the out-of-bounds area of Ismailia.

Like other Canadians, he can take pictures of the odd sights and scenes along the Suez and Sweet-water canals. A group of soldiers, watching a camel struggle with an immense load of sugar cane the other day, heard one of their numbers say: "And now I know what is meant by the straw that broke the camel's back—one more on that poor beast and he's down."

We agree that the remuneration they receive is not enough to attract present students to enter the profession.

It is possible that part of this difficulty lies at the district school level where it is hard to get ratepayers to vote enough money for the teacher and take care of other expenses as well.

It is difficult to collect taxes in some districts even when the money is voted. Possibly a larger unit of administration would be the answer to this problem.

We believe school inspectors are inclined to regard their work and responsibilities too lightly. They do not spend enough time in classrooms with inexperienced teachers in an engaged manner.

REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOLS
We would like to suggest that grades 7, 8, 9, and 10 be transported by means of vans or buses to Regional High Schools or graded schools of larger units. Should schools be close because of teaching.

Mr. & Mrs. Douglas Observe Anniversary

On Monday March 26th Mr. and Mrs. Alex Douglas, Norboro, entertained in honor of Mr. Douglas's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arnold Douglas, who were celebrating their forty-third wedding anniversary.

During the afternoon about thirty relatives gathered to extend their best wishes to the honored couple. A most delicious supper was prepared and served by Mrs. Alex Douglas and Mrs. George Douglas.

The dining room was prettily decorated with pink and white. The supper table, with all the delicious food, was centered with two very prettily decorated wedding cakes.

Following the supper Mr. Thane Douglas read an address from the family while Mr. Keith Douglas presented their mother with a Bulova watch and a Sunbeam electric shaver to their father.

Mrs. Alonzo Webster read an address from the Douglas sisters and Mrs. Walker presented the honored couple with a silver clock. Mrs. Keith Clark read a brief address and the presentation of a purse was made by Mrs. Douglas's sisters and brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas expressed their appreciation for the good wishes and gifts. During the evening the house filled to capacity with friends and neighbors.

Mr. James Llewellyn acted as chairman and he called upon Mr. Earle Murphy to read an address while Messrs Elmer Cameron and Lonnie Webster made the presentation of a chrome kitchen set and a purse from their neighbors and friends.

Following this Mrs. Clark Harding president of Norboro Women's Institute read an address to Mrs. Douglas conveying their congratulations and best wishes. Mrs. Douglas has been a member of the Norboro Institute for thirty five years.

Mrs. Lindsay Sharpe presented Mrs. Douglas with a life member pin. Mrs. Leslie Clark presented the guest of honor with an electric lamp from the neices and nephews.

Altho taken by surprise both Mr. and Mrs. Douglas expressed their thanks and appreciation to all and extended the same cordial invitation for all to visit them in their home which has always been a welcome spot for anyone who visited them in the past forty three years.

All joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. A record player furnished music for the younger folk while Messrs Ivan Day, Ivan Bowness and Joseph Wigmore supplied the music for square dancing. A most delicious lunch was served and all departed to their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Douglas many more years of happy wedded life together.

Another disadvantage is the shortage of teachers, especially qualified teachers with experience to teach the upper grades, and this situation is becoming progressively worse.

The guest speaker was introduced by past district governor Dave Carnegie and thanked by Kin Elmer Murphy, who said that it could be easily understood, after hearing Kin Jack Keeffe, why he had been invited on two occasions to deliver the Kin oration at a national convention, the only man to whom this signal honor had been accorded.

Through courtesy of the cast "Bolts and Nuts" the three-act comedy presented in Alberton parish hall two weeks ago was repeated Monday evening for the benefit of Alberton Public Library.

One of the players, Neil Gillis, was unable to be present and his part was competently played by Paul Nicholson.

Specialties were those presented on the previous occasion, vocal solos by Raymond Ahearn, accordion music by Henry Myers and the Kerry Dance by eight girls and boys. During the intermission candy and apples were sold by Lorraine Campbell, Evelyn Carpenter, Annetta Gordon, Bertha Gordon, Geraldine Rooney and Lillian Yeo.

Charges Discrimination By Federal Tariff Board

"The Tariff Board of Canada is allowing the United States to flood this and the other Maritime Provinces, white, in order to protect the industrial areas of Central Canada," Mr. Fred Ramsay, Liberal First Prince, stated in an address on the Budget debate yesterday afternoon in the Legislative Assembly.

Mr. Ramsay continued by saying that even though the Federal Government would be willing to pay additional, by way of the tax-rental agreement, to offset this financial loss, and although it would be sufficient to pay for our public services on a Canadian-wide basis, it would never properly compensate individual producers, business and professional people, and labour, for their losses due to barriers placed in their way to prosperity.

It has been said, he stated, that it would be difficult to have changes made in the tariff structure. He had found, however, that a considerable number of changes had been made, but none had been made in favor of the Maritimes.

Mr. Ramsay went on to show the amount of money paid out in tariff duties by exporters to the United States, while U.S. exporters to Canada paid no tariff on potatoes except during a six week period when the rate is 37 1/2 cents per hundred.

WESTERN EXAMPLE
Mr. Ramsay went on to picture the conditions which existed in the West when the farmers were not getting enough to pay for the production of grain. He illustrated their struggle to have a Marketing Board set up and the prosperity which followed after the grain growers were assured of a substantial price for their wheat.

"The Gordon Commission has suggested compulsory marketing boards to bolster our Maritime economy," Mr. Ramsay said, "but some of our people do not like the word 'compulsory.' This is where we are making a very bad mistake." He considered it would be pleasant to be compelled to market products systematically to add additional money to cash holdings which would make the farmer independent and prosperous, and in turn provide a substantial tax-key for the Provincial Government.

"The master key to our future prosperity," Mr. Ramsay emphasized, "is Free Trade with the British Family of Nations, which would automatically give us access into the best market in the world, and that market at our very door, with 180 million of the wealthiest people on earth. Give us free trade, and the Gordon Commission can be scrapped, as far as we are concerned," Mr. Ramsay said.

was inadvisable to match Federal Grants unless proper adjustments were forthcoming.

Mr. Ramsay was somewhat critical of the Gordon Commission report which advocated larger farm units, co-operative use of farm machinery, and the removal of farmers from marginal land to other work in other parts of Canada. Every one of these suggestions, he thought, would decrease the population, the very thing he contended should not be done. He commended the Commission, however, for its recommendation for a revision of freight rates and tariffs, the reduction of which, he contended, would go far in bolstering the economy of the Province and the prosperity of the people.

are not capable of being implemented, because of one major reason, that of transportation from the rural school districts to the high school. The limiting factor in respect to transportation is highway facilities.

While the provision and year round maintenance of adequate highways to transport children to the various high-schools in the Province is presently almost beyond the realm of expectation, we submit that much can be done in this direction, without adding significantly to the economic burden of an engaged citizen.

Although our educational program at government level is primarily the responsibility of the Dept. of Education, we believe that the Dept. of Highways have here also a real measure of responsibility. It is our contention that there should be a close liaison between these two departments, in respect to planning routes for development and improvement, particularly hard-surfacing. We have been told officially that a complete lack of consultation or co-ordination exists between these two departments in respects to route planning for highway construction.

May we suggest that in the deliberations of your committee, consideration be given to this aspect of our educational problem, from a view to incorporating in your findings and recommendations a section setting forth the need for firstly, a close liaison between the departments of Highways and Education as indicated above; secondly, that where feasible, highway routes selected for improvement or hard-surfacing should follow a course which will accommodate transportation from rural schools to a central high school.

There are, of course, areas where such a policy would not be applicable; on the other hand, there are many areas where such a policy would readily apply with relatively little additional highway mileage involved to accommodate a group of rural schools. Our school district in the latter classification. The Supervisor of schools for the area has strongly recommended that we should move grades IX and X to a high school, only six miles distant (Kensington). Our ratepayers at the last annual school meeting voted unanimously to implement this recommendation (see attached copies of letter of recommendation and resolution). Yet we were obliged to defer action due to inadequate highway facilities and maintenance. Until these are improved, continued deferral will likely be necessitated.

We would therefore, gentlemen, urge you to give this phase of the whole educational problem the consideration we believe it merits and express the hope that you will see fit to give it due recognition and reference.

Hamilton School Board Asks For Highway-School Planning

As a local school board, representing the rural school district of Hamilton No. 96, in Prince County we are pleased to have the opportunity to present this submission dealing specifically with a local problem, but, we believe, one which applies to many rural school districts in the province.

Our school in common with many others, is a one-room school, over-crowded, (35 pupils enrolled) grades 1 to X inclusive, with subdivisions in one or more of these grades. It is not necessary to discuss here the disadvantages which pertain to proper teaching of children under these conditions, for it is generally recognized and conceded that one teacher, no matter how ambitious, does not have the time to devote to each grade to meet present day requirements efficiently and in full measure.

We have noted the trend to larger school units particularly as it applies to the higher grades and note also the recommendation of the Dept. of Education at various official levels, and numerous educationalists, as well, that rural school boards should endeavor to have grades IX and X enrolled at centrally located high schools, several of which have recently been established in the province.

HIGHWAYS
We would like to suggest that we petitionally support such recommendations, yet, in many instances, such as our own case, they

S'ide Kinsmen Hear Address By Member of Moncton Club

Summerside Kinsmen were privileged last evening to hear one of the finest orations delivered to their club since it was organized in the town twelve years ago. The speaker was Kin Jack Keeffe of the Moncton Club, a past district governor of Kinsmen. He took for the theme of his address "This Canada of Ours" and "Kin". Combining the two themes, he spoke of the inestimable privileges enjoyed by Canadians, the greatness of Canada as a young nation and of how the many blessings that Canadians enjoy should so zealously and jealously be safeguarded. He stressed the great importance and the real necessity of all Canadians living together in peace and harmony as a means of combating the evil of Communism and
