LOBSTER SEASON

Secretary Gaudet pointed out that Dr. Needer's report was based on the idea of conservation. He said the trouble with having two seasons was the difficulty of catching poachers. Possessors of lobster traps could claim they were taken from another section if it were out of season in their own area.

Mr. J. B. Myrick, Tignish, said there would be little fishing from October 1 to May 1 as he expressed himself in favor of a spring fishing season. At the same time Mr. Eugene Gorman, speaking for fishermen in the Mount Carmel and Egmont Bay areas, opposed the suggested one season. A counter proposal to eliminate the last two weeks of the spring season was made by Mr. J. A. Arsenault, president of Tignish Fishermen, who claimed that during the last two weeks the twine in the traps rotted to such an extent as to be useless. He felt that cutting out the final fortnight would result in a saving and would also permit fishermen to go after the codfish which were generally inshore at that time.

He also said that this elimination could be offset by a six week season in the fall. At the close of discussion of the question it was moved by Earl Johnston, North Lake, and seconded by Wendell Graham, of the same district, that the season be left as it is. Before a vote was taken on the motion Mr. J. B. Myrick, Tignish, moved an amendment to the effect that no decision be reached until the matter had been given further consideration. The amendment was carried.

A nominating committee was named to present a slate of directors. The members were J. E. Burden, J. B. Myrick and T. H. Fraser. They offered a slate which was adopted. Named were J. B. Myrick and J. A. Arsenault for Prince County; Emmett Gallant and Edward Murphy for Queen's County; and T. H. Fraser and Wendell Graham for King's County. Directors 'At Large' are J. E. Burden, S. H. Burhoe and L. L. Noonan. The directors 'ex officio' are Paul Gallant, past president, and Eugene Gorman.

During the annual Federation dinner which followed the business sessions brief speeches were heard from several guests.

Council President Speaks — Mr. Francis Millard, president of the Canadian Fisheries Council, told the gathering that fish food was taking an increasingly important place in world values because of the necessity of obtaining more proteins in the daily diet. He predicted a greatly increased consumption of fish, but foresaw difficulties occurring due to it by various countries entering the waters of another country to obtain demanded supplies.

Stating that "The ocean is the least used and the most important food storehouse", he called on the group to ensure that everyone in the fishing industry from the Maritimes to Vancouver work together. He said that here there was a valuable fisheries which had not yet even been touched.

Mr. Gordon O'Brien, manager of the Fisheries Council of Canada, said that the Fisheries Council was an insurance policy the people have taken out to ensure the Government working with the industry. "Mr. Eugene Gorman said he hoped that next year there would be druggers operating out of small harbours. Hon. T. A. Campbell, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and chairman of the Fisheries Development Committee, said he was glad to have the collaboration of the Federation and welcomed the discussion on the matter of one or two seasons.

Inquest Last Evening Held At Bonshaw Hall

At an inquest held last night at Bonshaw Hall in the case of the death of Borden Waldron MacDonald, three and half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacDonald, Bonshaw, a verdict was given to the effect that the child came to his death on the Borden highway at Churchill on Monday, Sept. 17, when he was struck by a truck driven by Floyd Williams. Acting Coroner was Mr. J. W. MacDonald, Bonshaw, a Justice of the Peace for Queen's County.

The first witness called was Dr. Lemuel E. Frowse, who in reply to questions put by John P. Nicholson, appearing for the Crown, stated that he conducted an examination on the body of the deceased at the N. D. MacLean Funeral Home at 10 p.m. on Monday Sept. 17th.

The body had a five inch laceration at the right hip, brush burns on hip, arm face and upper part of the back. The right arm was fractured near the shoulder and a one inch cut over the right eye. Blood was present in ears, nose and mouth. Fracture at the base of the head caused extensive lacerations to the brain and spinal chord. Witness stated that his opinion was that death would be instantaneous, from brain damage due to skull injury.

In reply to a question by Mr. Nicholson, his opinion was that the deceased had been facing the direction of the blow, the lacerations on the front of the head had been caused by a sharp object, and the injuries at the back of the head were compatible with striking the road.

Other Witnesses — Leslie MacNevein, of Argyle Shore, said that he had returned from Charlottetown, driving his own truck, accompanied by Donald MacPhail. He stopped at the home of the deceased to enquire of the whereabouts of Mr. MacDonald. After talking with Mrs. MacDonald he learned that Mrs. MacDonald was in a field doing some fencing, and accompanied by two older MacDonald boys, Willard and Wendell, went to look for him. While stopped near the intersection of the Riverdale Road and the Bonshaw Highway, the boys went into a house to make enquiries about their father, and he noticed a truck coming down the hill on the highway.

Talking to the boys on their return, he heard a thud, and going to the highway, noticed a body lying there which he identified as Borden MacDonald. He had not seen the boy before the accident. The truck was still moving towards Charlottetown, and he thought it had swerved over the back of the truck after the accident but could not give any estimate of the speed. The child was lying on the north side of the road. Witness stayed at the scene while the boys ran to inform their mother, and the truck went on to John McGillivray's gate, and then backed up, although he could give no estimate of the distance. He saw the driver of the truck coming down, but did not see any other occupants of the truck, before he left to summon a doctor. Dr. MacLeod wasn't there, but he left a message and returned to the scene of the accident and saw that the R.C.M.P. were there. The light was good and weather fairly bright at the time.

Mr. MacNevein was shown a photograph of the truck and identified it as the one involved in the accident. Donald MacPhail corroborated the evidence of the previous witness, and said that he had not seen any traffic before hearing the thud, nor had he heard any horn or screech of brakes. He saw the body lying on the road and saw the truck for the first time as it continued on towards John McGillivray's gate. There was no tire mark on the surface of the road. He went with Mr. MacNevein to summon a doctor, and returned with previous witness to scene of the accident.

In reply to a question by the Jury, witness stated that he had seen neither truck nor boy before the accident. He had seen no other occupants of the truck other than driver after the accident but thought the same truck had passed him while they were going for the doctor.

Brother's Testimony

Willard MacDonald, aged 13, said that he was a brother of the deceased. He remembered the previous witnesses coming to the house to look for his father, and left with them with his brother and Wendell and himself riding on the back of the truck. Borden was in the house when they

It is understood the child was going to a birthday party for one of her friends when she ran from behind a parked car on Euston street and was struck by a car going west on that street. The car was driven by Robert J. Lantz, of this city. The child was taken to the P. E. I. Hospital where she was detained overnight. Late last evening hospital authorities said her condition was good and she apparently was not seriously hurt.
