NOTRE DAME CONVENT.

List of Prizes.

The annual examination of the pupils of this institution occupied several days, and was conducted by His Lordship Bishop McDonald, Revs. Dr. Morrison, P. Hogan, P. P. Arsenault, J. Johnstone and Mr. Gauthier. The manner in which the pupils acquitted themselves during the ordeal, from the young ladies of the senior classes to the little tots of the kindergarten department, gave proof of the thoroughness of their knowledge in the different branches, and reflected credit on themselves and on their teachers.

The exhibition of plain and fancy needle work, drawing, painting in oil and water colors, etc., drew many admirers of the fine arts to the studies of Notre Dame Convent, and elicited much praise.

The examination in the musical department occupied a considerable time. From the beginner to the most skillful player, all gave evidence of the excellence of the method of instruction in the institution, and of the attention of the young musicians to correspond with the efforts of their devoted teachers, whether on piano, mandolin, guitar or voice culture.

The examination over, the last three days of the scholastic year were devoted to recollection and prayer. The exercises of the retreat were conducted by Rev. R. B. McDonald of Rustico, whose persuasive eloquence is as much appreciated by the young ladies and the little people of Notre Dame as by the grown up people, who so enjoy a sermon from Father Ronald.

The closing exercises at Notre Dame were private this year, much to the regret of many who were looking forward with pleasure to the musical and literary treat furnished them on similar occasions. Below is the list of prizes merited by the pupils:—
