The case involved four $1,000 Victory Bonds, identified as having been among $200,000 worth of bonds and securities stolen from safety deposit boxes in the Bank of Nova Scotia at Maxville, Ont., in 1948. New Game Birds To Arrive In S'side

Tomorrow evening a shipment of thirty adult chukkar partridge will arrive in Summerside, shipped in the Fish and Game Association of Nova Scotia to the Prince County Fish and Game Association. Another like shipment will go to Charlottetown. On arrival these game birds will be housed and fed by the two branches of the Fish and Game Association and later on in the season, when feed is more plentiful, they will be released at various points throughout the province, where for a number of years, under the protection game laws, they will be allowed to multiply. The shipments of these new type of game birds is in the nature of an exchange service with the province of Nova Scotia. An equal number of Hungarian Partridge will be shipped from this province to the game farm in Cape Breton and later on released at different points in that part of the country. Mr. Norman E. MacLeod, secretary of the Prince County Fish and Game Association said last evening that the chukkar partridge are, in size, in between the Hungarian partridge and the native grouse, and were introduced into this country and the United States a few years ago. Mr. MacLeod said that these game birds seemed to favor the hilly country but expressed the belief that they would do well in this Province, under game protection laws. The experiment will be watched with much interest by sportsmen throughout the Province.

had no new information but that he might be able to supply useful advice on spy-catching. In newspaper interviews, he has suggested that security and protection be offered to any person who wants to know the communism and reveal Communist spy operations. Senator Jenner and McCarran said on their return to Washington early last month after the five-hour interview that they had obtained names and information from Gouzenko which they would use for the "internal protection" of the U. S. Canadian officials noted at that time that the senators had not claimed to have "new" names or information. If the testimony were to be published, Canada wanted to make sure that it was released first in Ottawa and that the complete transcript be made public, not just bits and pieces which might give the appearance of being new information which had been withheld previously from the FBI.

lament." David Fulton (PC-Kamloops) said the government's action in concealing its intention to increase post card rates is "not far short of obtaining the consent of this House to the legislation by a species of false pretences." Mr. Cote said no increase was planned in the present two-cent rate on unsealed letters, including Christmas cards. This rate will continue at two cents for the first two ounces and one cent for each additional ounce. Mr. Knowles said the proposed increase for post cards should have been announced to Parliament during debate on the budget in first-class mail rates. Mr. Cote replied that members should have known the government intended to increase the post card rate. He had told a CCF member in reply to a question Jan. 15 that there would be a general one-cent increase all along the line. He added that in the past post card rates have been increased every time letter rates had gone up.

Post Cards By Air

Replying to a question by M. J. Goldwell, CCF leader, Mr. Cote said his department intends to carry post cards as well as first-class letters, by air wherever air service is available. Alastair Stewart (CCF-Winnipeg, North) said the post office at present is making a $5,000,000 annual profit on first-class mail. Users of first-class mail should not be penalized another 25 per cent when there was a $15,000,000 annual loss on handling second-class mail—newspapers and periodicals. Mr. Cote said second-class mail rates were increased in 1951. It would be "impossible" to set second-class rates which would cover the entire cost of handling newspapers and periodicals. The full cost were charged, small periodicals would be forced out of business and the post office would be no farther ahead.

Battered Body Found

The same night the child's battered body, found by three children and Hutson was picked up in a Cochrane railway station three days later. He was convicted of murder and sentenced to death in November. An appeal for a new trial on the ground of mental unfit-ness was turned down. When Hutson was 19, his father was killed in a hunting accident which was first called murder, then ruled accidental. Just five years before Susan's murder, Hutson's mother was found murdered in her Timmins home, her head battered by an ax. The son went on trial for the murder of his mother and was acquitted.

North Bay Man To Hang Today For Sex Slaying

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—His last appeal for clemency turned down, James Mervyn Hutson, 29, was scheduled to be hanged shortly after midnight Monday for the sex slaying of three-year-old Susan Hutchins last May. Hutson has been confined to a death cell since his conviction Nov. 5. As the end neared, he remained stoical, jail officials reported. Ten days ago, after weeks of refusal he began taking spiritual advice. Hutson's story began last May 20. That day Mrs. Frank Hutchins left her young daughter, Susan, in Hutson's care while she went on an errand. Hutson, treated as a family friend, was an acquaintance of her husband. Hutson and the child were to wait in a store while the mother went down the street. After a few moments, Hutson left the store with the child. He was convicted of murder and sentenced to death in November. An appeal for a new trial on the ground of mental unfit-ness was turned down. When Hutson was 19, his father was killed in a hunting accident which was first called murder, then ruled accidental. Just five years before Susan's murder, Hutson's mother was found murdered in her Timmins home, her head battered by an ax. The son went on trial for the murder of his mother and was acquitted.

Injured In Mill Accident

Mr. Alphee Perry of the Blind Road, Tignish, suffered injuries to the chest and a broken rib while working in the sawmill of Jerry Buote, Tignish East, on Saturday afternoon. While operating the saw in the mill, Mr. Perry was struck in the chest by a piece of lumber which shot off the end of a revolving saw. He was picked up by other employees in the mill and rushed to the Western Hospital, Alberton, where x-rays showed he was suffering from a broken rib. Summerside Aces To Play Sackville Tonight At Raceway Stadium

The Summerside Aces take on one of the smartest and most rugged intermediate hockey teams in the Maritimes when they play Sackville Eagles at Raceway Stadium tonight. Billy Harris, the boy from Dorchester, N.B., who is doing so well in the Brooklyn Dodger chain in baseball, will be on the Sackville line-up. Harris is looking after Mount Allison Gardens for the college and the town this winter. There are reports that he might be playing for the Montreal Royals, Brooklyn's senior farm club, next year. Eddie Booth, the big bruising fellow who plays defence for the Eagles, should prove quite an attraction for the fans. Booth throws his weight around a lot, and is considered one of the most colorful players in the Maritimes. He made a name for himself in junior hockey around Moncton. It is also interesting to note that the son of Ken MacDougall, the manager of Raceway Stadium, will be playing for Sackville. A large crowd is expected to take in this exceptional hockey treat.

Council Moves To Take Over Duties Of Water, Sewerage Commission

A Water and Sewerage Committee composed of Councillors H. E. Clark, chairman; Andrew Perry, and William E. Jenkins was included in the list of standing committees of management named at the first regular meeting of the new Town Council in Summerside last evening. Within a month this committee will take over the duties formerly administered by the Water and Sewerage Commission, as decided by a plebiscite on that matter held in conjunction with the civic election last week. A letter was read from Premier A. W. Matheson in reply to request made by the Town of Summerside asking that the recently announced government policy in regard to ownership of rural electric lines be applied to the 23 miles of rural lines erected last year by the municipally-owned Summerside Light and Power Company. The Premier's letter indicated that reimbursement for building these lines would be made, and that payment would be approved after the details of ownership have been vested in the government. Mention was made by Mayor Wedge of the increasing acceptance of the addition of fluorine to drinking water as a preventative of tooth decay, and he suggested that a committee of the new council make a study of the advisability of adding fluorine to the water supply of Summerside. The cost, he said, would be small, and added that Summerside would perhaps be the first town in the Maritimes to make such a study of this matter which has been tested with very favorable results in other places. Councillor Andrew Perry was commended by Mayor Wedge for the many hours spent in personally supervising the removal of the snow which blocked traffic on three successive occasions. Councillor Perry reported that to date snow removal this winter has cost the town $2,026. This, he said, was divided as follows: 1a-bor, $1,326; trucks, $317.25; extra fuel, $292.00. He said some complaints had been noted regarding delay in sidewalk clearance, but explained that in some sections it was necessary to push the snow from the street back onto the sidewalk, and that this was done before the sidewalks were cleared. Standing committees of management for 1954 were named as follows: Finance and Assessment committee: Councillor Jenkins, chairman; Councillors Clark and MacDougall. Property, School and Parks committee: Councillor Steele, chairman; Councillors Lidstone and MacDougall. Electric Light committee: Councillor Lidstone, chairman; Councillors Perry and Jenkins. Police, Fire and Abattoir committee: Councillor MacDougall, chairman; Councillors Steele and Clark. Water and Sewerage committee: Councillor Clark, chairman; Councillors Perry and Jenkins. Streets committee: Councillor Perry, chairman; Councillors Lidstone and Steele. Councillor Clark, chairman of the new committee that will advise the affairs of the Water and Sewerage Department, said that considerable time would probably be required in taking over the operation of this department and that the committee will depend a great deal on the Town Clerk to provide information that will be required by his committee.

Plans Unchanged For Queen To Visit Gibraltar

LONDON, (AP)—Selwyn Lloyd, minister of state for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons Monday that Queen Elizabeth will visit Gibraltar this spring despite anti-British demonstrations in neighboring Spain. The Queen's planned call at the Mediterranean colony touched off recent demonstrations at Madrid and other Spanish cities. Spain claims the rock as Spanish territory. Generalissimo Franco's foreign ministry sent a protest to Britain charging the trip would be "imprudent" and would arouse "national protests." Britain all along has refused even to discuss Spanish protests at the visit.

Cyanide Cocktail Murderer Insane

NEW YORK, (AP)—Harlow Fraden, 20, accused of the cyanide cocktail murder of his parents, has been adjudged insane. Bronx district attorney George B. De Luca announced Monday. The prosecutor said he has had a psychiatric report which states Fraden "is in such a state of idiocy, imbecility or insanity that he is incapable of understanding the charge, indictment or proceedings, or of making his defence." De Luca said the findings were the unanimous opinion of psychiatrists who examined Fraden. The same report held that Denis Wepman, 22, indicted with Fraden on charges of first degree murder in the killings, is sane. Dr. and Mrs. William Fraden were found dead in their Bronx apartment last Aug. 16 and police at first believed they had died in a suicide pact. Later Fraden and Wepman had a falling out and Wepman told the story of the poisoning to a girl, who notified police.

Mid-Winter Festival Held At Tignish

The Canadian Legion Community Centre was the scene of royalty on February 1st when the mid-winter festival, "The Gateau" was enjoyed by more than 400 people. Prior to the entrance of the Royal couple, the "Gateau" was passed to the waiting assembly. To the strains of "La Marseillaise," the native anthem of France, the royal couple wearing their crowns and regal robes entered the hall with their royal court in attendance and paraded to their throne on a well decorated dais. Mr. J. J. Arsenault, capable master of ceremonies, welcomed the royal couple, expressing the pleasure which their presence gave to all their faithful subjects. The king, on behalf of himself and his queen, thanked their subjects for their faithfulness. While the poor and orphans were collecting food, the king held a private audience with anyone who wished to speak with him. Many favors were dealt out to the worthy. After conversing with his subjects the king and queen with their courtiers led the opening dance of the evening. The music was supplied by the Tignish orchestra. Those taking part in the pageant were: Mr. Peter DesRoches as king, Mrs. Oville Martin as queen, Mrs. Leo Myers and Mrs. Fred Fitzgerald as attendants, Emile J. Gallant represented the poor peasants while Billy Perry, Edward Fitzgerald, Tim Martin and Joseph Gallant took the parts of homeless children. Prizes for the costumes best representing the court dress in the days of King Louis XIV were as follows: first prize, Mrs. John P. Doucette; second prize, Mrs. Camille Chaisson; third prize, Mrs. Carlisle Trainor and Fourth prize, Miss Marie Chaisson. A decorated cake won by Italian society was baked by Mr. Tilman Martin. The proceeds of the evenings entertainment were in aid of the Tignish Mutual Society.

Plans Unchanged For Queen To Visit Gibraltar

LONDON, (AP)—Selwyn Lloyd, minister of state for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons Monday that Queen Elizabeth will visit Gibraltar this spring despite anti-British demonstrations in neighboring Spain. The Queen's planned call at the Mediterranean colony touched off recent demonstrations at Madrid and other Spanish cities. Spain claims the rock as Spanish territory. Generalissimo Franco's foreign ministry sent a protest to Britain charging the trip would be "imprudent" and would arouse "national protests." Britain all along has refused even to discuss Spanish protests at the visit.

Cyanide Cocktail Murderer Insane

NEW YORK, (AP)—Harlow Fraden, 20, accused of the cyanide cocktail murder of his parents, has been adjudged insane. Bronx district attorney George B. De Luca announced Monday. The prosecutor said he has had a psychiatric report which states Fraden "is in such a state of idiocy, imbecility or insanity that he is incapable of understanding the charge, indictment or proceedings, or of making his defence." De Luca said the findings were the unanimous opinion of psychiatrists who examined Fraden. The same report held that Denis Wepman, 22, indicted with Fraden on charges of first degree murder in the killings, is sane. Dr. and Mrs. William Fraden were found dead in their Bronx apartment last Aug. 16 and police at first believed they had died in a suicide pact. Later Fraden and Wepman had a falling out and Wepman told the story of the poisoning to a girl, who notified police.

From latest reports the injured man is improving favorably and will be discharged in a few days.

Summerside Aces To Play Sackville Tonight At Raceway Stadium

The Summerside Aces take on one of the smartest and most rugged intermediate hockey teams in the Maritimes when they play Sackville Eagles at Raceway Stadium tonight. Billy Harris, the boy from Dorchester, N.B., who is doing so well in the Brooklyn Dodger chain in baseball, will be on the Sackville line-up. Harris is looking after Mount Allison Gardens for the college and the town this winter. There are reports that he might be playing for the Montreal Royals, Brooklyn's senior farm club, next year. Eddie Booth, the big bruising fellow who plays defence for the Eagles, should prove quite an attraction for the fans. Booth throws his weight around a lot, and is considered one of the most colorful players in the Maritimes. He made a name for himself in junior hockey around Moncton. It is also interesting to note that the son of Ken MacDougall, the manager of Raceway Stadium, will be playing for Sackville. A large crowd is expected to take in this exceptional hockey treat.

Council Moves To Take Over Duties Of Water, Sewerage Commission

A Water and Sewerage Committee composed of Councillors H. E. Clark, chairman; Andrew Perry, and William E. Jenkins was included in the list of standing committees of management named at the first regular meeting of the new Town Council in Summerside last evening. Within a month this committee will take over the duties formerly administered by the Water and Sewerage Commission, as decided by a plebiscite on that matter held in conjunction with the civic election last week. A letter was read from Premier A. W. Matheson in reply to request made by the Town of Summerside asking that the recently announced government policy in regard to ownership of rural electric lines be applied to the 23 miles of rural lines erected last year by the municipally-owned Summerside Light and Power Company. The Premier's letter indicated that reimbursement for building these lines would be made, and that payment would be approved after the details of ownership have been vested in the government. Mention was made by Mayor Wedge of the increasing acceptance of the addition of fluorine to drinking water as a preventative of tooth decay, and he suggested that a committee of the new council make a study of the advisability of adding fluorine to the water supply of Summerside. The cost, he said, would be small, and added that Summerside would perhaps be the first town in the Maritimes to make such a study of this matter which has been tested with very favorable results in other places. Councillor Andrew Perry was commended by Mayor Wedge for the many hours spent in personally supervising the removal of the snow which blocked traffic on three successive occasions. Councillor Perry reported that to date snow removal this winter has cost the town $2,026. This, he said, was divided as follows: 1a-bor, $1,326; trucks, $317.25; extra fuel, $292.00. He said some complaints had been noted regarding delay in sidewalk clearance, but explained that in some sections it was necessary to push the snow from the street back onto the sidewalk, and that this was done before the sidewalks were cleared. Standing committees of management for 1954 were named as follows: Finance and Assessment committee: Councillor Jenkins, chairman; Councillors Clark and MacDougall. Property, School and Parks committee: Councillor Steele, chairman; Councillors Lidstone and MacDougall. Electric Light committee: Councillor Lidstone, chairman; Councillors Perry and Jenkins. Police, Fire and Abattoir committee: Councillor MacDougall, chairman; Councillors Steele and Clark. Water and Sewerage committee: Councillor Clark, chairman
