THE STORM.

Numerous Disasters at Sea.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—Another southern storm has swept over New England and gone the way of all such disturbances, straight off to the north east and like hundreds of its predecessors left death and destruction in its wake. Yesterday's gale thrashed the water of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland preparatory to making a stern descent upon the European steamers tracks so that its destructive history is not yet fully complete.

Just what it accomplished in this line in New England, and particularly along the coast, can be summed up as follows: five Gloucester fishermen were drowned; six coasting schooners are complete wrecks; nine vessels were sunk; eight schooners are ashore; eleven others are more or less injured through collision and loss of gear.

PERIL OF THE MINE.

32 Men Shut In—Have to Dig Their Way Out.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 6.—Imprisoned 1,000 feet down in a coal mine, at Dunmore, 32 men had a desperate battle for life yesterday, and only succeeded in gaining liberty by digging their way out. Five acres of the surface fell in the mine and completely blocked its exit.

KRUGER'S MOVEMENTS.

Enthusiastically Cheered at Cologne.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

COLOGNE, Dec. 6.—Mr. Kruger walked in the rain from his hotel to the cathedral yesterday. He was cheered enthusiastically by the assemblage of people. He departed at 10 a. m. today on a special train connecting with the Dutch express at Zeevaar.

SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

General Knox Compels DeWet to Retreat.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The War office has the following from Lord Kitchener, dated Bloemfontein Dec. 5: General Knox re-engaged DeWet near Bethulie yesterday. He drove the enemy from all their positions before dark, when they retreated northward.

Pitcher assisted by a movement on Knox's left.

Lord Kitchener also reports several minor affairs.

It is said that no more infantry drafts will be sent to South Africa. The only troops to go to the front hereafter will be mounted men.

QUEEN'S SPEECH

The Very Shortest on Record.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Queen's speech will be the shortest on record. It will consist of a single sentence announcing that Parliament has been summoned to provide supplies for the army. The foreign relations, which are not touched on in this laconic message, will be fully dealt with in the speech opening the February session.

CANADIANS BANQUETED.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Canadian officers were banqueted last night at the Canada Club. Lord Strathcona presided.

THE LIBERAL MEETING.

The Liberal meeting in the Market Hall last night was, considering the weather, well attended, the hall being slightly more than half full.

A considerable number of Conservatives were present to hear just what sort of an excuse the liberals could make for their administration since the last election. But they didn't hear an excuse, not one, and the speakers one and all appeared pleased and congratulated themselves on the splendid manner in which Mr. Peters, Mr. Warburton and Mr. Farquharson had conducted the affairs of Prince Edward Island,—the Pineau matter, the Asylum scandal and the collecting of taxes all included.

Mr. Hughes was the first speaker. He didn't speak very long and he didn't say very much. He didn't find any fault with the Farquharson method of levying taxes, and he did say that in his position as President of the Board of Trade he had found Sir Louis Davies a very good man to deal with, and also the financial statements as published in the newspaper, mentioning the Patriot were not correct.

Mr. Wear then spoke. He said that in the past he had a good deal to do with Dominion and Provincial elections in Charlottetown and Queen's County. But he didn't tell the meeting the fact, which a large number of those present knew quite well, that in previous contests he had associated with him as running mate his great friend and councillor H. Johnny Quinn, and that now he had to be contented with Mr. Geo. E. Hughes.

Then Sir Louis arose. His oratorical powers were in splendid form. He said first of all that he had travelled one thousand miles from Ottawa to help his friend, Mr. Farquharson and his supporters, in the present contest and to try to win back to the fold those who had refused to vote for Mr. Wear. In other words that as Mr. Farquharson and Mr. Wear had scratched his back on and before Nov. 7th, so he would scratch theirs for all he was worth on and up to Dec. 12th. (Leaders of the Patriot were under the impression that Sir Louis was here on departmental business. Then he rambled for almost half an hour on the results of the election, and told of what friends of his had been slain and what ones were the victors, of how the electors of Queen's East had turned a Conservative majority into a Liberal majority, and how, with the assistance of Mr. McKenzie, the judge had turned that Conservative majority into a Liberal majority. Then he got back to local politics again, holding that they should be mixed up with Dominion politics, and that in his opinion Mr. Farquharson had been too economical. He also said that he hoped next year four ocean steamers would be built for the Dominion (so does THE EXAMINER) and that a large part of the work on the Hillsborough bridge would be carried on next summer. Then he exhorted his friends one and all, just because they are his friends and for no other reason, to vote and vote early for Mr. Wear.

Then Mr. Farquharson's turn came. He was not greeted with prolonged cheering, but rather with tramping of feet towards the door, and the hour was not late either. He said that he was on hand to discuss local politics—that Dominion elections and Dominion history were very interesting, but this was not the place for it. Then he told a little story of how he had paid some men one hundred and twenty five dollars for doing nothing, and how the Conservatives had paid ten thousand dollars for consolidating the statues. He did not say that the Conservative government had been punished for their sins, and he did not say it was time for his government to be punished for his sins; but the story was interesting, quite interesting, and funny. But the point began nowhere and ended nowhere; and the only thing it showed was that Donald Farquharson is an adept in figuring up oats at twenty-five cents a bushel.
