It Was Only the Old One.
A rough, awkward handed Lancashire girl was broken in by a benevolent lady, who tried to do a good turn for everybody, and in an evil moment she was given to clean two very ancient openwork silver salt cellars with those rich and rare old royal blue glass receivers inside. One was over 100 years old, the other had been broken and recently patched, of which fact the girl was aware. She broke the other old one, and when she told her mistress she said she was "glad as how it was only the old 'un."

A Startling Declaration.
Wife—Richard, I am afraid we must part—Husband—Good gracious! What for?
Wife (calmly)—Your hair in the middle hereafter. You are getting bald.—
London Fun.

The Mexican torch thistle, growing to a height of 50 or 60 feet, looks more like a candle than a tree. Another variety of the same species has long gray bristles, which give it the appearance of the head of an old gray haired man.

Newspaper duty was invented by Queen Anne. It was originally a penny on each sheet, afterward raised to four pence, and abolished in 1855.

A man who neglects his health is sailing his craft of life in dangerous seas. He cannot too soon awaken to the fact that he is imperiling his most precious endowment. All the wealth in the world, all the power in the world, all the pleasure in the world, all the love and poetry and music and nobility and beauty are but dust in the mouth of the man who has lost his health.

Keeping healthy means looking after the disorders that ninety-nine men in a hundred neglect. You cannot get the average, every-day man to believe that indigestion or biliousness, or costiveness or headache or loss of sleep or appetite, or shakiness in the morning and dullness through the day amount to much anyway. He will "pooh, pooh" at you, until some morning he wakes up and finds himself sick abed. Then he will send for a doctor and find out to his surprise that all these disorders have been but the danger signals of a big malady that has robbed him of his health, possibly forever. It may be consumption or nervous prostration or malaria or rheumatism or some blood or skin disease. It matters not, they all have their inception in the same neglected disorders. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the appetite keen, the digestion perfect, the liver active, the blood pure, the nerves steady and gives sound and refreshing sleep. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. In fact bronchial, throat and lung affections generally yield to it. Medicine stores sell it.

One or two at bedtime cure constipation.—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They regulate and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. By all medicine dealers.

AUGUST THE 11TH.—Don't forget that the greatest night's sport ever held in the city will be celebrated by electric light on the new grounds of the Athletic Association. All the fastest men in the provinces will take part.

Thin in flesh? Perhaps it's natural.

If perfectly well, this is probably the case.

But many are suffering from frequent colds, nervous debility, pallor, and a hundred aches and pains, simply because they are not fleshy enough.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites strengthens the digestion, gives new force to the nerves, and makes rich, red blood. It is a food in itself.

TRICKS OF THIEVING.

HOW SHOPLIFTERS PILFER IN NEW YORK'S BIG STORES.

Women Who Use Clever Children Trained to the Business as Aids in Their Nefarious Calling—The Close Watch of the Store Detective.

Schools for shoplifters are not advertised, but they thrive. Female Fagins are no longer regarded as phenomenal criminals—they are considered well established enemies to the police. Vigilance versus shoplifters, though, is a contest in which the store thieves are invariably brought to grief.

As a woman leading a little girl passed from counter to counter in a Sixth avenue store one day last week another woman closely followed and never took her eyes off her. The woman with the little girl walked and talked rapidly. They asked for nothing; their eyes sought seldom. Their stops at various counters seldom lasted more than a second. When they had reached the jewelry department, their pace slackened. As they passed a counter where a sale of gold mounted combs was in progress the woman's arm flew out from beneath a black cape and back again. With the arm on its return trip had gone one of the most handsome and expensive combs.

On the woman and the little girl passed until they came opposite a tray of earrings. The clerk was about to return the tray to its case.

"What pretty stones, mamma!" exclaimed the child.

"Yes, my dear," responded the woman, "but we won't look at them today."

"Oh, yes. Let's stop. You know you promised to buy me some earrings for my birthday."

"I know, but your birthday is still far away."

"Why, mamma, you know that it is next Tuesday."

"My goodness! The child tells the truth. How time does fly! Well, we'll look at them, but I'll not promise you to buy them today."

Then begins the examination of children's earrings. Mother and daughter look at them critically—they admire most of them. This goes on for several minutes, the mother protesting to the child that the purchase should not be made today. Diamond earrings of all sizes are in the tray.

A customer steps up to make an inquiry. The clerk turns her eyes for an instant toward her questioner. One of the largest of the diamond earrings gives a flash and is gone. The little girl comes between her mother and the counter. When the customer is gone, the little girl has two small earrings in her hand and says:

"Won't you get mamma to buy me this pair?"

While the clerk smiles and the mother is saying they will call again in a day or two the large diamond earring is being fastened inside the cape. The mother thanks the clerk, then they hurry from the store.

They are scarcely out on the sidewalk before a command is whispered in the woman's ear:

"Return that stolen property."

The girl takes to her heels. A man follows and catches her.

The woman calls it an outrage. She protests; says she'll make them pay for the insult. She grows hysterical. They lead the two back to a side door. They take them into the searcher's room. Then the woman detective carefully examines all their clothing. The child cries. The woman becomes silent. She sees it's all up. What's the use of going to the trouble of making another scene? The child is 12 years old and has been but a week under instruction. Being arrested is new to her.

A society takes the child. Her teacher in crime, the woman who posed as her mother, is held for trial.

This is but a sample case. In the same store last week there were 15 arrests for shoplifting. Those of the prisoners who had never been in such scrapes before were released. This particular store tries to avoid the courts as much as possible.

One woman who was arrested wore a shoplifter's skirt. This skirt consists chiefly of pockets. There are pockets of all widths and depths. This skirt is usually worn as an underskirt. An opening is provided in the overskirt, through which the pocket filled skirt is easily accessible.

In the concealed pockets of the woman mentioned were found two pieces of embroidery, several rolls of silk braid, six remnants of silk, several pieces of jewelry and a pair of shoes. Two of the store detectives, a man and a woman, had watched the purloining of all these articles.

It is the rule of most stores that no shoplifters are to be arrested until they reach the street. Scenes caused by arrests are very undesirable in a place of business. Besides this, those placed under arrest in stores often make the defense that they did not intend to take the goods away—they simply desired to examine them in a good light.

One shoplifter, arrested last week, and one on whom the stolen goods were found, had six children at home. The youngest was 6 months old. The woman's husband has a good business. He furnished bail for her. When the proprietors of the store learned that the woman had a 6-months-old child at home they withdrew the complaint against her. The woman's husband said he could not understand why she should wish to steal.

Store detectives deny that there is any such thing as kleptomania.

"Kleptomania is a mistaken notion that some women have that stores are easily victimized," is the definition that the detectives give.—New York Telegram.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, misshapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you need not fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.
