

Cancellation Of C. N. E. Lake Swim Unlikely

TORONTO (CP)—Cancellation of the Canadian National Exhibition's 32-mile lake swim could end in "mass tragedy."

Harry Price, sports committee chairman, viewed the events of a week-end during which Lake Ontario swimmers attempted to swim across the lake as a "mass tragedy."

Price said Monday he is "unalterably opposed" to the Sept. 5 marathon.

"The Sunday episode is a good example of what could happen," he said. "I don't know what the C.N.E. is thinking about in sponsoring this swim."

He also suggested seven RCMP patrol boats will be too few to police the 41 men and women entered in the swim. C.N.E. officials promised the aid of a helicopter and special first aid personnel in case of emergency.

STOPPED BY WAVES

Jim Edmunds, 51-year-old Kingston physical training instructor, and Everhard Matczynski, 25, a German immigrant living in Toronto, had to be hauled from the lake early Sunday after a sudden storm lashed waves to a height of 15 feet. Sixteen persons accompanying the swimmers in boats had to be rescued.

Alderman William Allen, of Toronto, a member of the C.N.E. sport committee, said Monday he is "unalterably opposed" to the Sept. 5 marathon.

Orphanage Kids Enjoy Picnic

The children at Saint Vincent's Orphanage were guests of a mammoth picnic held on the Knights' camp grounds at North Rustico on Saturday afternoon.

A number of the kiddies commenced the afternoon's fun by swimming while other enjoyed games on the camp grounds. Prior to being served treats the children were given balloons and other playthings to add to their entertainment.

The wives of a number of the Knights assisted in the preparation of the food and refreshments. Hot dogs, ice cream, candy, plums, oranges and soft drinks were served to the youngsters.

The kiddies themselves entertained the Knights for a time with step dancing selections accompanied by old time music. To round out the afternoon's fun the kiddies danced with the youngsters and the kiddies staged an old time set of their own.

Among the guests present were Rev. K.C. MacPherson of Charlottetown and the Sisters from the Orphanage.

Russians Wonder Why Not More Livestock In Sask.

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
MILESTONE, Sask. (CP)—Russia's farm chief said Monday he is puzzled why Saskatchewan farmers do not grow more oats than wheat and use the oats to produce livestock.

Vladimir Matskevich said he raised the question because it was a vital one for the Soviet. His country was opening up virgin farm land and the question Russian farmers had to face was whether it would not be better to grow grain on the new land for cattle feed.

The question of bread grains versus the 4,000-acre farm of Peter Pedersen, nine miles west of Milestone and about 30 miles south of Regina.

There, from 72-year-old William Pedersen, father of 42-year-old Peter, the Russians got the story
