Cleaned by the Guardian Reporters

The spire of the Free Church has been removed. A new mast has been placed in the street...

The French Consul General at Quebec is visiting in the case of the French boy who attempted to escape from the P.E.I. vessel Brilliant.

The second number of the "Souris News" (weekly) has come to hand. It is quite a neat little paper.

Mr. KRIBS had the assistance of Mr. James Burns, a representative of the Cigarette Whisky Co., and at times the Rev. Jas. Simpson.

Mr. R. Young, of the P.E.I. R., has sold his beautiful residence, corner Kent and West streets, to James Beales, Esq., for the sum of $8,000.

The eight-legged calf on the Market Square Tuesday was quite a curiosity to the small boy. It is a live calf stuffed with straw, and is almost too big to be a freak of nature.

The police arrested a sailor Saturday night for being drunk and disorderly. After he was confined in his cell and had gone to sleep, a respectable truckman appeared at the police station and complained of his little boy having been struck several times by the prisoner.

The St. John brass band of the S. A., arrived here, Saturday night, via Pictou. The band plays very well. There was a large crowd on the square, Saturday night, when the band gave several well rendered selections.

At Turo on Tuesday evening the police inspector and a constable visited Victoria hotel and found a bar room in full operation. The floor soon made known his business and the premises were cleared. The proprietor has been summoned to answer the charge of violating the prohibitory provisions of the license law.

In the police court, Monday, Patrick Prunty, disorderly driving, was fined $6 or 20 days. Andrew MacQuillan, assault, 5 cents and costs. John Wilson, drunk and disorderly, $1, or 4 days. Daniel MacNevin, drunk and disorderly, $2, or 8 days. Elizabeth Finley, for whom the Magistrate was seeking a place, was taken charge of by the Salvi Army.

The North British and Mercantile Insurance Company, who lost $250,000 sterling by the late St. John's Newfoundland fire, have cabled $1000 to the credit of the relief fund on their account. This is an act of generosity which will not soon be forgotten.

CONNECTION.—In our report of the evidence before the Royal Commission James H. Reddin, Esq., is represented as saying "he prefers the new law to a license law if properly carried out." He wishes us to say that his preference as expressed before the commission is that "he considers the police regulation good but high license best of all."

We were shown, Tuesday, by Mr. Chas. Patton, of Patton Bros., a relic, over 100 years old—some 140 Chinese coins, in the shape of a dagger, and lace, together with colored cards; also three American bank notes dated 1773, 1775 and 1778 respectively. One of these notes was unearthed at Annapolis Royal, N. S., a few years ago. The printing and handwriting are quite visible.

In the GUARDIAN of June 23d, a paragraph appeared stating that an aged farmer named James Mullins, of Vernon River had died, and that afterwards 12 lbs. weight of old silver coins and $350 in bank of P.E.I. notes, were found in the house. A son of Mr. Mullins has called to say that the story is untrue, and that he has been subjected to great annoyance by other heirs of the estate writing to him asking for their share of the reported wealth.

The steamer Worcester, which was disabled off Canso a few days ago and towed into Hawkebury for repairs, could not be repaired at that port and was towed to Pictou by the tug William Aitken, where she arrived at 11 o'clock Monday morning. She went on the slip at the latter port. Mr. Gardiner, manager of the North Atlantic S. S. Co., of Boston, is now in Pictou, and when the steamer is repaired he will come to Charlottetown to re-arrange the regular sailings of the steamers.

The Steamer Coban, Capt. Fraser, from Montreal arrived at this port at daylight Monday morning. Besides a general cargo she had as passengers: W. B. Ross, W. V. Wilcox, W. F. Egg, John Delaby, Wm. Reid, Mrs. McLeod and infant, Robert Reid, Albert do, William do, Amelia do, Annie Simmons, Wm. Palmer. The steamer sailed at noon some day for Sydney and Newfoundland. Her outward cargo consisted of 186 bales hay, shipped by John Alyward; 7 head cattle, by B. Henderson; 1 cow, by P. Duffy. 3 rolls leather, by L. P. Tanton. Rev. Matthew Anderson was a passenger.

We regret very much to record the death of the Hon. John Goff, of Woodville, Cardigan, on the 19th inst., in the 73rd year of his age. Early in the summer Mr. Goff was taken ill while on a visit to this city. A few weeks ago he was sufficiently recovered to return home and it was hoped the country air would bring him back to his usual vigor. But this was not to be. He gradually grew weaker day by day, and on Friday passed peacefully away. Mr. Goff was widely known and universally respected. A good many years ago he occupied a seat in the Legislative Council but was not an active politician. A Conservative in politics, he was also a man of strong independence and public spirit, a man of the strictest honor and integrity, a gentleman in every sense of the word. He leaves a widow and a large grown up family, among whom are Messrs Lewis and Richard Goff of this city, with all of whom we deeply sympathize in their bereavement.

SUMMERSIDE NEWS

Branch Office, Central St.

The Hattie Louise is loading cargo for the West Indies at the railroad wharf. No child will refuse to take McLean's Worm Syrup.

The small building in course of construction near the station is the station master's coal shed. We hope this will satisfy the enquirers.

The merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is not accidental but is the result of careful study and experiment by educated chemists.

A HORSE belonging to Mr. Philip McLeod, Central B. de que, was stolen from his pasture on the morning of the 22d inst. Mr. McLeod is the mail driver between Summerside and Bedouque.

Mr. Stavert, of Schurman's Point, the unfortunate victim of the lightning the night of the storm, is gaining rapidly and will soon be all right.

The Rev. Ephraim Reid gave a talk on the belief of the Universalists, of which body he is minister, Sunday evening at the Peoples Church, leaving his announced sermon, "The more abundant life or present salvation," until next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

ELDER Webber held the platform at the Adventist Tent Sunday evening. His subject being "What becomes of the wicked after death." According to the Adventist belief there is no hell other than the complete annihilation of all those who do not deserve heaven.

The fakers who were with the circus chartered the P. C. Boat to take them to Point du Chene, as the show was over, thinking the town might be too hot for them. They understood that they made money by covering and spent some of their time in getting their gains some sum of $740.

REV. DR. MacDUGALL has received a call from the Scotch church, Summerside. If the church of the Messiah in this city, which Dr. MacDugall founded, can be provided for, it is probable that he will accept the call, Summerside being his native place.—St. John Telegraph.

The steamer Fastnet was late this week, reaching here at 12 o'clock, Thursday. She had 400 passengers and a general cargo, including, and carried out 210 doz eggs, 544 cases lobsters, 3 ton junk canvas, 8 tons furniture and sundries, the total value being $4,500. She sailed direct for Halifax.

The circus held forth in S'ide Saturday afternoon and evening and as a result the town was quite lively. What was said of the good as the performance was exactly the same. Notwithstanding the warning by the press a great number were bitten with the nutshell and pea game. They play in Moncton next, going from here on the steamer M. A. Starr Sunday morning.

Mr. Stavert's house at Schurman's Point which was struck by lightning on Wednesday night was visited by quite a large number of sight seers yesterday. The house is a new one and had just been finished. The lightning struck the chimney and then seems to have run down the gutters of the look-out on the south side of the roof as well as running down the north side in a straight line. The south side of the house is terribly torn, the windows being all smashed and the moldings all torn off.

At the head of the bed where Mr. Stavert was sleeping six feet square of the wall was torn out. The front door on the east side was also shattered and all the glass broken. In fact there is no part of the house which has not been torn and the half acre of ground near the house is beset with pieces of brick, zinc, glass and wood. Mr. Stavert was alone in the house and when found in the morning of Thursday was lying on the floor unconscious. The pillow on which his head was lying had been torn and the bed generally shaken up and it is supposed he was thrown to the floor. His left elbow and the palm of his left hand are slightly burned.

ALL the hair was taken off his head but, strange to say, the scalp is hardly burned at all. He was moved to his father's residence and at this writing he has regained consciousness, but cannot speak or hear.

Don't be deceived with imitations; take only McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup.

The Halifax Herald says:—A few days since we republished from the Yarmouth Herald a paragraph headed "A Pathetic Incident," describing how a young French sailor had jumped overboard from the P. E. I. schooner Brilliant to escape the brutality of the officers of that vessel, and pleaded to be taken aboard a passing fishing schooner. J. C. Mackintosh, president of the S. P. C., forwarded the extract to the British consul-general at New York, with a request that he investigate it, and has received the following letter:—

Her Britannic Majesty's Consulate General, New York, Aug. 17, 1892. Sir,—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th inst., enclosing a newspaper extract containing an account of the circumstances of a young man jumping overboard from the British schooner Brilliant, while on a voyage from Prince Edward Island to New York. I immediately summoned the master and questioned him closely with respect to the treatment of the young man, and now enclose his affidavit as well as Mr. John Houghton, a passenger and Charles MacDugall's an A. B. of the schooner. These affidavits have all been given in a straight forward manner, and point to the conclusion that the printed report is only true in this one respect, viz. the jumping overboard, the sole apparent reason for his doing so being his inability to speak English. Seeing the other vessel passing he hastily filled his pockets with bread and jumped over; nobody chased him or knew even of his intention, and he does not appear to have received the slightest ill-treatment while on board. He has deserted the ship since her arrival here where he learned that he was expected at the consulate-general with reference to his case.

Mr. Crabb showed that 46 persons convicted of selling liquor only represented about a dozen houses. When the husband was imprisoned the wife might sell for the servant girl.

Rev. Mr. Simpson made some statement of the Gothenberg system in Sweden. It reduced the drunkenness 50 per cent. He also said that the wet weather at the last exhibition kept people in the town and around the taverns, which accounted for the drunkenness.

Alexander Mackintosh, is a founder (sworn) to Mr. Giguant.—When the Scott Act was enforced vigorously, there was very little drunkenness.

To Rev. Dr. MacLeod.—We employ 30 or 35 men. The first question I ask a man is "are you a drinking man." None of our present force drink that I know of. A workman who is drunk on Saturday night and Sunday is of no use to work on Monday. Previous to the Scott Act nearly all the men seemed to drink. I think the Scott Act helped to change the drinking customs. It kept the young from the temptations of the bar-room and gave them a different idea of the liquor business. I prefer a total abstainer to a moderate drinker. I think a well enforced prohibitory law would have a good effect on the country. I have always regarded the liquor traffic as the greatest curse of the country. It effects business injuriously.

To Mr. Clarke.—I prefer the present system to license. I think prohibition more easily enforced than the Scott Act. I think sentiment is growing so that in time it will support any prohibitory law. Twenty years ago when I came here it was one of the worst places in existence.

John Quirk (sworn)—Have been a baker 35 years. Was on the license commission from 1870 to 1873. I prefer total abstainers because they are better workmen. I think the Scott Act did good. People were frightened at first and didn't like going in back doors etc. After a while they got used to it. I think there was just as much drinking I would rather have the Scott Act than the license law. I think the present regulation is doing very well and is better than the Scott Act. It is working well to start with. I think prohibition well enforced would do good.

To Mr. Clarke.—The act was enforced in spurs. I didn't like the act because it educated people to be perjurers. I think it could be forced through with proper officers. I think a local officer would be better than a federal officer.

To Dr. McLeod.—I don't know whether the law made men perjurers. I don't know whether those men would perjure themselves after the act was repealed or not. The present season of the year is not usually a time of much drinking.

EL PADRE PINS. The Potato Bug Gets There. It is still unsolved—the mystery of where the potato bug comes from. It has only been discovered by the discovery of an Aroostock man who went away back into the depths of the virgin forest, "thirty miles from nowhere," cleared a little patch of ground, and planted a few hills of potatoes, to find the spots covered with bugs as soon as they got above ground.—Lewiston, Me., Journal.

THE HAIR

When not properly cared for, loses its lustre, becomes crisp, harsh, and dry, and falls out freely with every combing. To prevent this, the best and most popular dressing in the market is Ayer's Hair Vigor. It removes dandruff, heals troublesome humors of the scalp, restores faded and gray hair to its original color, and imparts to it a silky texture and a lasting fragrance. By using this preparation, the poorest head of hair soon becomes luxuriant and beautiful. All who have once tried Ayer's Hair Vigor, want no other dressing. Galbraith & Starks, Druggists, Sharon Grove, Ky., write: "We believe Ayer's Hair Vigor to be the best preparation of the kind in the market, and sell more of it than of all others. No drug store is complete without a supply of it."

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor with great benefit and know several other persons, between 40 and 60 years of age, who have experienced similar good results from the use of this preparation. It restores gray hair to its original color, promotes a new growth, gives lustre to the hair, and cleanses the scalp of dandruff.—Bernardo Ochoa, Madrid, Spain.

After Using a number of other preparations without any satisfactory result, I find that Ayer's Hair Vigor is causing my hair to grow.—A. J. Osmont, General Merchant, Indian Head, N.W.T.

Ayer's Hair Vigor is the only preparation I could ever find to remove dandruff, cure itching humors, and prevent loss of hair. I can confidently recommend it.—J. C. Butler, Spencer, Mass.

My wife believes that the money spent for Ayer's Hair Vigor was the best investment she ever made. It has given her so much satisfaction.—James A. Adams, St. Augustine, Texas.
