RIPLEY'S BELIEVE IT OR NOT

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

Partner bids One Spade, next player doubles, both sides vulnerable. What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠ J7 ♣ Q87 ♦ A783 ♣ K965
 2. ♠ 74 ♣ 985 ♦ AQ9832 ♣ J5
 3. ♠ KJ76 ♣ 94 ♦ Q832 ♣ 45
 4. ♠ QJ543 ♣ K98632 ♣ 4 4 4 3

1. Redouble. There seems to be a considerable difference of opinion among players as to what the proper action to take is when your right hand opponent doubles your partner's opening bid. The one clear way to show a good hand facing partner's opening bid is to redouble. The redouble indicates a hand containing 10 or more points and may be based on either offensive or defensive values, or a combination of both. Usually, the opening bidder passes after the redouble and allows the next adverse bid to come to the redoubler so that he can then identify the type of hand he has.

In the present case, the redouble is clearly indicated. There is both a reasonable possibility of making a game, and an opportunity—if partner has the right hand—to extract a penalty from the opponents in any contract they may undertake. This message is best delivered by the redouble.

2. Two diamonds. When the responder to the opening bid has less than 10 points, he bids nature.

ally over the double according to the dictates of his hand. A pass would simply indicate that there is no other convenient bid. It may be made with a hand containing from zero to 9 points. The two diamonds bid is chosen in this case because it best reflects the actual values held. It is not a forcing bid—the opener can pass.

3. Two spades. Several purposes are served by the immediate raise to two spades. Partner is informed at once of support for a spade contract. But the raise shows limited strength. It cannot, for example, be based on 10 or more points, since with such a holding a redouble would be the proper bid. Ordinarily, the responder will have from 8 to 9 points for the two spades bid.

The raise is given also for preemptive purposes—to try to block the next player out of the bidding. To this extent the immediate two spades bid announces poor defensive values.

4. Four spades. This also is a preemptive bid which denies the values for a redouble. The leap to game shows at least five trumps. The distribution is usually freakish. Doubt also frequently exists whether a game can be made even though it is bid, the chief purpose in bidding it being to silence the opponents, if possible. Rarely, in such a sequence, does the hand contain more than one defensive trick.

Protection Officers Study Aspects Of Fish Industry

ST. ANDREWS—Fifteen fishery officers representing the Department of Fisheries' nine protection districts in the Maritime Provinces are brushing up their knowledge of the fisheries at a two weeks course now going on at the Atlantic Biological Station here.

Sponsored by the Fisheries Research Board of Canada in conjunction with the fisheries department, the comprehensive syllabus not only covers biological aspects of the multi-million dollar industry, but also includes management and other problems affecting most phases of the Canadian Atlantic fisheries.

KEEPING UP
 When the course opened on Feb. 17, the officers were welcomed by Dr. H.L. Hart, Director of the St. Andrews station and Forrest Watson, Chief Protection Officer for the Maritimes, Halifax.

The opening addresses stressed the importance of continuing education for those charged with enforcement of fishery regulations.

Dynamic of fish populations—the changes that take place constantly within a fish stock because of growth, recruitment and mortalities—is an important subject on the agenda as is also the biological aspects of management techniques. Lobsters and shellfish are also being discussed, both from the biological and management angles.

Groundfish—cod, haddock, halibut, plaice and redfish—also occupy an important place in the syllabus, as does the pelagic species—herring, swordfish, mackerel and tuna. Miscellaneous species such as smelt, shad and alewives are also being discussed.

THE OCEAN
 Oceanographers of the St. Andrews station are describing the oceans, their characteristics and properties with particular reference to the Canadian Atlantic.

Scientists who specialize in salmon and trout are dealing with the biological sides of these important species, with particular reference to research and management.

POLLUTION
 Another topic of importance on the syllabus is the question of pollution in freshwater streams. With the growth of population and industry, the problem of pollution is a growing one. Types of pollution, their detection and possible remedies are earmarked for special discussion.

The two-weeks course will conclude on Friday. Fisheries officers attending the course include:

(Nova Scotia) D.A. MacKinnon, Sydney; R. W. Waits, Margaree Forks; L.C. Ripley, River Phillip; J.H. Balcom, Sheet Harbour; G.W. Smith, Bridgewater; D.W. Burns, Chester; L.P. Hamilton, Yarmouth and W.G. Watson, Middleton.

(New Brunswick)—H.J.L. Pailard, Edmundston; W.J. Curwin, Caraquet; J.H. Robichaud, Riviere des Cachees; R.L. Butler, Albert and J.F. Gilmour, North Head, Grand Manan.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints, each day the code letters are different.
