NO PLACE LIKE HOME.—The North Head, Grand Manan correspondent of the St. Croix Courier, writes to that paper as follows: "Every week brings back some of the codfish who had left to try their fortunes in the States. Not less than twenty-five or thirty have returned this summer, intending to remain here."

TWO CITIES ATTACHED.—A United States Deputy Marshal has attached the property of the city of Boston for $700,000 in an action in tort, brought by six citizens of New York. The case is brought on account of the infringement of a patent heater used in the fire department. The same parties placed a similar attachment for $75,000 on property in the city of Cambridge.

In the 223 class, a trotting purse of $1,000 (unfinished), Honest George won two heats and Nightingale won one heat. The best time was 2:19 by Nightingale.

PUBLIC MEETING.—The Secretary's report of the speeches made at the meeting in Market Hall last evening, appears elsewhere in today's issue. The meeting was largely attended, and the case for and against the bill was very well presented. It is to be regretted, however, that during the evening one of the speakers lost his temper and indulged in remarks of a decidedly personal character. Public questions should be discussed in a calm and dignified manner at meetings of this kind.

VERY ACCOMMODATING.—In Chicago they are telling this story on Sam Jones: Recently he was addressing a crowded audience and said: "I want every one in this congregation who wants to go to heaven to stand up." Of course, almost everybody rose. Then he said: "Now I want everybody who wants to go to the other place to stand up." At first no one stood up, but finally a long and lank and skinny individual in the back seats, about as fat as an umbrella, arose and said: "I don't exactly want to go to the other place, but I am willing to stand up rather than let the preacher stand all alone."

It is welcomed in every house in France and England, and in a very brief time the same can be said of Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Lassarve Phenix requires only to be tried once to be appreciated. A marvellous washing and cleansing solvent. Just fancy an article that will make your clothes as good as new, and that will clean everything in the house from the silver you cherish, to the common earthenware which you thought of throwing out, making it just like new. That is what Lassarve Phenix will do, and a score of other things. For it will cleanse everything, and it will not harden your hands.—2i.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER.

THE RAILWAY SCANDAL

Witnesses Fail to Show Up.

Grits Mad Over the Exposures.

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.

In the Senate railway committee yesterday, the Bay Chaleur incorporation bill was considered. Its promoters, when they saw this scandal staring them in the face, asked leave to withdraw the bill, but the committee would not allow its withdrawal, and resolved to go on with the investigation. Grit members of the committee strongly favored its withdrawal, and deprecated the idea of the Senate taking up the matter.

Barwick, the Solicitor for the Ontario bank, then commenced proceedings by calling Armstrong, to whom the money was nominally paid. Armstrong, although regularly subpoenaed, was not in attendance, and was reported to have gone to Montreal.

A summons was order to issue for the attendance of Ernest Paucaud, editor Le Lecteur, as it was stated that he was intending to go on a holiday trip next Tuesday. Paucaud is Mercier's go-between, and it was he who received the hundred thousand dollars boodle. It is believed that Paucaud will skip out and ignore the summons. The grits are awfully mad over the exposure and are moving heaven and earth to prevent it. They attempted to defeat the enquiry when the Senate met, but Abbott and the majority insisted on going fully into the matter.

THE TARTE-McGREGGEEVY CASE

Grits Experience Heavy Weather.

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.

In the Tarte-McGreevy inquest, Hon. John Hearn, in the course of his evidence, said he would not believe Robert McGreevy on his oath.

Thomas McGreevy's cross-examination was continued by Davies, who waxed ferociously indignant, and could be heard a block off, but he never turned a hair on Thomas, who answered him quietly, smiling at his fury. He declined to have anyone speak of Robert McGreevy as his brother. He refused to answer to when he had paid certain election funds, or whether he had contributed to Lungevin's election fund in 1887. His refusal was ordered to be reported to the House. He had never received money from Larkin, Connolly & Co. to give to Sir Hector for any purpose.

The great sensation of the day was the witness's testimony that he had paid Tarte $15,000, and Tarte's admission that he had received it.

The Grits are aghast, and are at their wits end. The last few days have been very bad weather for the Grits.

Ouler was anxious that the committee should meet on Saturday and Monday, but Grotfion vehemently protested that he would not come again till Tuesday.

Committee adjourned till Tuesday when Sir Hector will testify.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS ENQUIRY.

Further Charges Mad.

Sir Hector Will Clear Himself.

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.

In the Public Accounts Committee, Michael Connolly swore that Bancroft, the mysterious tenderer of the Kingston dock, was one of their foreman.

Arnoldi gave further unimportant evidence. Lister asked him if his wife received diamonds. Arnoldi retorted hotly and asked Lister if he would like to know how many petticoats his wife had. The committee sat on Lister.

Lister asked for witnesses in connection with investigation into the printing bureau. He charged that La Presse, of Montreal, owned by Chapleau, owed the New England company $10,000, and there was a bargain whereby this debt was to be paid out of half the profits made by the company on paper supplied the printing bureau.

Chapleau asked for the fullest investigation. He was a shareholder in La Presse, but he knew nothing of such agreement, and, as illustrating the absurdity of the charge, out of eleven thousand reams of paper used in the bureau, only two hundred and forty were supplied by the New England Company in three years.

Grits were very sick last night. The clouds are gathering round them thick. They discussed the situation in little groups.

Laughlan, Amyot, and Choquette, left for Quebec last night to see Mercier, being greatly alarmed over the Bay Chaleur matter.

Paucaud will be got out of the way as he was once before till after prorogation. If his attendance can be secured, and he can be persuaded to tell the truth, revelations will be made that will put everything else in the shade. The Grits are furious at Tarte, whom they are now trying to repudiate and wash their hands of.

Thomas McGreevy's evidence with all its damning admissions against himself, finds universal acceptance, and it is now generally believed that Sir Hector will satisfactorily explain his supposed connection with contractors, and clear himself from every imputation that has been made against him.
