THE DAILY EXAMINER

NOVEMBER 17, 1898.

MR. DILLON'S DOINGS.

The reporters state that Mr. Dillon, alone, has this year purchased in this Province about 1,700,000 lbs of cheese at an average price of 8 cents. The amount he has distributed amongst our cheese factories, this season is, therefore, close upon $136,000. It would take a good many schooners and a lot of fuss to export oats and potatoes representing this amount,—while numbers of fields would be the poorer as a result of extracting so much fertility from the soil. But the fields are little the worse, some of them all the better, for our exports of dairy produce and the good money that is coming into the Province on account of it. For all this Mr. Dillon is entitled to credit and thanks. The late Government, Dr. Saunders and Professor Robertson initiated the movement which has been the salvation of many of our farmers and an untold benefit to the Province. But Mr. Dillon carried it out. If it had not been for his tact, energy, economy and care at the inception of the work, the movement could not have made such rapid progress nor resulted so successfully as it has. It is greatly to be regretted, we think, that the present Minister of Agriculture, while following closely in the footsteps of his predecessors and carrying out their general policy, saw fit to discharge Mr. Dillon from the employ of the Government. If Mr. Dillon were still in office, exercising a general supervision of the factories in this Province, it is not likely that cheap men would have been employed to make nasty cheese in any of them, and it is likely that the character of our dairy output would be higher in the British market than it is today. Let us hope that what has been the loss of the Province will be Mr. Dillon's gain, and that he will find the reward of his early labors in handsome profits on his later purchases and sales.

SHEEP RAISING.

COMMENT upon Mr. J. H. Clarke's letter about the growth and use of rape is unnecessary; for the information afforded by it is definite and complete. But our lately changed conditions make advisable a few words as to sheep raising in general. Never has the demand for sheep and lambs been as strong in P. E. Island as it has been this fall. Direct steamship communication between this Province and Great Britain has been the means by which a good many sheep and lambs have been disposed of while a great many more have gone to the neighboring Provinces and to Boston. Indeed, we entertain the opinion that some of our farmers have been induced to part with ewes and ewe lambs which they ought to have retained for breeding purposes in future years. Having got the taste of our mutton the people of Boston and vicinity, as well as those of the neighboring Provinces, evidently "hanker" after it; and we have no doubt that the people of England, as well, when they discover how toothsome it is, will be disposed to pay good prices for it. Under all the circumstances, the prospects of an extended and steady market for our lambs and full-grown sheep are bright and encouraging. Purchase by weight having been introduced, farmers must see that it is greatly in their interest to have their sheep and lambs as large and heavy as possible. To this end judicious breeding and good feeding are essential. It will be well worth while to take pains in these directions. In respect to the first, the selection of large, well-bred, vigorous males is important; and in respect to the last, Mr. Clarke's letter will afford at least one pointer. Tens of thousands of sheep have been shipped from the Province this year, leaving behind them richer fields and fuller pockets; and what has been done this year may be done in larger measure in other years,—if only our farmers prudently increase the size of their flocks and are ready to take occasion by the hand.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—The city of Victoria, B. C., reports a surplus of $33,000 on the operations of the civic year lately closed; and the Montreal Gazette says that "the kind of aldermen they have on the coast would be worth sending west to kidnap."

—The early death of Mr. Allen McNeill, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, will be lamented by many friends in this city as well as at the capital. We sincerely sympathize with his aged mother and his sister, resident here, as well as his wife and family at Ottawa.

—The Comte de Paris in 1883 summed up the French position about Egypt rather neatly: "I confess I do not understand the attitude of our government. The temper of France towards England resembles that of a man who has been offered an equal share in a profitable adventure, who has refused to accept the risk, and who is now vexed at the success of his neighbor."

—The Duke of Devonshire, Lord President of the Council of Ministers, said in the course of a recent speech. There is no reason to desist from the work of strengthening our naval forces and general defenses, since Fashoda is only an incident in a much larger question. This expresses the prevalent feeling throughout the British Empire.

—The Journal suggests occasional special passenger trains between Tignish and Summerside. If the suggestion should be adopted and the trains do well a similar advantage might be extended the people residing between Souris and Georgetown and Charlottetown. A reduction of fares is, we believe, advisable in the interest of the public and the government.

—Lord George Hamilton, Secretary of State for India, speaking in London said he agreed with Lord Salisbury that it was quite impossible to overestimate the importance of America's entrance upon a colonizing policy. "England and America," he declared, "whose ideas and interests are identical, should stand side by side in the promotion of civilization and good government in the dark places of the earth."

—An Ottawa correspondent reports that there are no signs of any immediate intention on the part of the Government to cause bye-elections to be held to fill the vacancies in the House of Commons. There are now six vacant seats in the Commons, and about as many more which are practically vacant, as the gentlemen who nominally hold them are understood to have practically accepted offices of emolument under the Crown, although not yet actually appointed.

—Farming says that "it is conceded by everyone closely identified with the Canadian dairy trade that we have about reached the maximum quantity in regard to our export trade in cheese. We are now sending to Great Britain annually about $15,000,000 worth of cheese. The export market has now reached such a stage that if we increase to any great extent the quantity of cheese we put upon the market a reduction in price is sure to follow." In view of the fact that cheese makers in the States, in Holland and in other countries are being gradually driven out of the Canadian market by Canadian competitors, the grounds for the conclusion arrived at by Farming are questionable. As others go back, let us go forward.

—After referring to the "thorough and complete sympathy so noticeable between the motherland and her colonies," Mr. Chamberlain, in the course of his latest speech, continued as follows:

"What is of equal importance, our American kinsfolk has begun to understand better. If we have had differences in the past I believe they have risen entirely from the want of proper mutual understanding; but now the American people know that in the late trouble our hearts went out to them and they heartily reciprocated our good feelings. I shall not attempt to predict what may follow this better feeling; but I may at least hope that, in the future, the understanding of which I have spoken may be perfected and that in the face of that understanding we may be able to guarantee peace and civilization to the world."
