

The Genius Loc of Jerusalem and of Brooklyn

The London Daily Telegraph, commenting on Dr. Talmage's very personally conducted tour to the Holy Land, his utilization of holy places as advertising media, and his annexation of Mars Hill, etc., says: Dr. Talmage, pastor of the Tabernacle in Brooklyn, has recently paid a visit to the Holy Land, and he has returned home from his religious tour positively thrilling with the memories, not so much of the sacred spots he has visited, as of his own beautiful emotions in beholding them.

much later period than the first century of the Christian era, and it is possible that, even if the original teachers of Christianity could be brought to understand its nature and uses—which is more than doubtful, perhaps—they might hesitate to admit the propriety of availing themselves of it. St. Paul himself, who boasted of being all things to all men, might conceivably have shrunk from being the particular thing to a particular class of men which the modern preacher, especially of the Transatlantic type, is ever striving to become.

Last Night's Carnival

The carnival at the Hillsborough rink last evening may safely be set down as one of the most successful held in this city in recent years. True, we have seen more spectators present on former occasions, but seldom have we seen a greater number of skaters in costume. The rink was prettily decorated for the occasion, but the scene would have been much more brilliant if the lights were stronger.

While some of the costumes were familiar to those in the habit of attending carnivals, there were not a few new and bright dresses to relieve the monotony. However, there was nothing very new or striking in any of the costumes—nothing to call for any great amount of special mention. It seems strange that many of those who are in the habit of skating at carnivals should pay so little attention to costuming. Some persons are inclined to think, however, that if the directors were to offer suitable prizes for the best costumes, there would be an improvement in this respect. This plan, or some other one having the same end in view, should be tried if an improvement is to be made.

Among the characters that were most noticeable last evening, were the "Owl," "Minerva," the "Hot-tent Chief," and the "Indian Chief." The "Chinese Mandarin," was also a capital representation; and very good characters were those of the two carpet-bag men, or "Tracadie Detectives," who claimed to be readers of the Patriot newspaper. Not having heard that the Government was sustained they had come to town to obtain an office in accordance with the ante-election promises. They looked rather surprised when they took off their masks and read THE EXAMINER and ascertained that the Government was sustained, and that there was no chance for the next four years. The "Girl of the Period," was just a trifle too prim; but the buxom "Housemaid" was true to life. The "French Woman" was also a very good representation. The two "Highland Chieftains" were splendid specimens of the brawny Scot, and "Glynn," with his red, reel and net, could hardly be kept from fishing within the limits. There were some other characters worthy of special mention; but our space will not permit. The lists of those who handed in their names will be found below:—

Sir,—In view of the immense services to music in this island rendered by Mr. Vinnicombe, which extend over many years, and also because of the enthusiasm and zeal with which he has thrown himself into the work of the Charlottetown Philharmonic Society, I sincerely hope that that gentleman's forthcoming concert will be generously patronized by our citizens.

FRED. E. J. LLOYD, Conductor Charlottetown Philharmonic Society.

Social Entertainment at Milton.

MILTON HALL was well filled on Wednesday, 12th inst., by an appreciative audience to listen to the first of a series of social entertainments to be given by the young people. The rector occupied the chair. Miss Holroyd and Mrs. Sampson accompanied the various singers on the piano. The following took part, and as each was rapturously applauded, it is unnecessary to particularise: Misses Hooper, Coles, Westcott (2), Wise, McKinnon; Mrs. Nunn, Messrs. H. Coles, W. Coles, Campbell, and McGinnis. Mrs. Nunn received a well deserved encore for her song, "Pass Under the Rod." The duet of H. and W. Coles, "All's Well," was also encored. The comic medley duet, "Money Matters," between Mrs. Dunn and H. Coles, was cheered to the echo, and an encore demanded. Mr. Campbell's reading was well received. The two hours were most pleasantly spent.

Personal.

The Bangor Commercial says: The engagement is announced of Miss Strickland, one of the most popular society young ladies of the city, to Mr. Palmer, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., who is at present visiting here. Cardinal Jacobini, Secretary of State at the Vatican, is believed to be dying. Emin Pasha has decided to leave Zanzibar direct for Europe. Elias H. Baird, cashier of the Lincoln, National Bank at Lincoln, Pa., is said to be a defaulter to the amount of $25,000. The Pope has decorated the Shah of Persia for his kindness to Catholic Missions. The death of John P. Mott, one of the wealthy men of Halifax, is announced.
