PRAYER.—Whenever a person prays earnestly, and truly, his prayer will be simple, it will be short it will be to the purpose. Almost every prayer in the Bible, is a short prayer. Long prayers and recapitulation do not indicate earnestness ; it is the deep simple cry of an humble, needy destitute heart, that God hears, when offered through the name and merits of Jesus Christ. I look upon the General Confession of the Church of England as a perfect model in this respect it is exquisitely simple, and evidently borrowed from, and moulded upon the model of the Lord's Prayer. There is scarcely a word in it, that is not a monosyllable; 'We have done those things which we ought not to have done, and we have left undone those things which we ought to have done.'

How simple, how intelligible, how much to the purpose, and what a contrast to those splendid extemporaneous prayers we (the kirk of Scotland) are sometimes doomed to listen to! Let us pray in spirit, and pray in truth, and we shall pray simply, and to the purpose; simple words, sublime petitions,—so our Lord taught His disciples, and so He will teach us to pray.—Dr. Cummings.

One night, at White's observing the postmaster-general, Sir Edward Fawkener, losing a large sum of money at piquet, Selwyn, pointing to the successful player, remarked —"See how he is robbing the mail !"

On another occasion, in 1755, observing Mr. Ponsonby, the speaker of the Irish House of Commons, tossing about bank bills at a hazard-table at Newmarket—"Look how easily he passes the money bills."

A writer in the Examiner lately saw a blind man looking with much apparent interest at the prints in Colnaghi's window. "Why, my friend," said we, "it seems you are not blind." "Blind! no, thank God, your honour," replied the man, "I have my blessed sight as well as another." "Then why do you go about led by a dog with a string!" asked we. "Why? because I hedicates dogs for blind men."

SOCIAL COURTESIES should emanate from the heart; for remember always that the worth of manners consists in their being the sincere expression of the feelings. Like the dial of the watch, they should indicate that the work within is good and true.

WHY DON'T LAWYERS ADVERTISE.—We ask the members of the bar, why their business cards are not found in our city journals! Apropos to the question—we saw a paragraph in a Virginian paper the other day, to this effect: a gentlemen went to a printing office to examine an exchange paper, coming from a place some fifty or a hundred miles distant, with the view to discover the name of some lawyer there, to whom he wished to confide the transaction of some business matters of pressing importance. And, after running his eye carefully over the paper he laid it aside, and remarked—"Well I can't find the name of a single Attorney in that paper ; and any member of the profession, in the place alluded to, could have obtained a fee of fifty dollars from me, by having a card in the paper, as I would willingly have paid that amount, rather than the trip at this particular time." Let every body advertise, and every body will be certain to do good business.

SOUND OF BELLS.—The nearer bells are hung to the surface of the earth, other things being equal, the farther they can be heard. Franklin has remarked that many years ago the inhabitants of Philadelphia had a bell imported from England. In order to judge of the sound, it was elevated on a triangle, in the great street in the city, and struck, as it happened, on a market day, when the people coming to market were surprised on hearing the sound of a bell at a great distance from the city than they ever heard any bell before. The circumstance excited the attention of the curious, and it was discovered that the sound of a bell struck in the street reached nearly double the distance it did when raised in the air. In the air sound travels at the rate of from 1,130 to 1,140 feet per second ; in water, 4,708 feet per second. Sounds are distinct at twice the distance on the water that they are on land.

THE LAZY TURK.—The Turkish soldier is not an industrious laborer in the the trenches ; he digs a few minutes, gives a grunt, and then sits down. A very vehement and zealous commanding officer of a distinguished fusileer corps was the other night in the trenches, when the Turks were digging ; and, seeing one rather more idle than the rest, gesticulated violently at him, and induced him to work a little. Johny however, soon gave in, and on the pantomimic action being repeated, very politely handed his spade to the Colonel.
