GROUND FOR CONFIDENCE.

The Montreal Gazette sees in the bank returns for September ground for confidence in the trade of the country. It points out that the total circulation at the close of last month was just 5 per cent. less than at the corresponding period a year ago, a decline not greatly, if at all, out of proportion to the fall in prices of staple articles, leaving the inference to be drawn that in point of volume at any rate, the trade of the Dominion has not diminished. In addition to the increase in bank currency, there was an expansion during August and September of about $400,000 in Dominion notes of small denomination, the total of these issues rising from $7,157,400 to $7,541,000 in that period. There are other favorable features in the September bank statement. Current loans, or discounts, to the mercantile community do not increase. At the close of the month these loans aggregated $199,774,000, as compared with $199,908,000 at the end of August, showing a decrease of $134,000 which is not much more than offset by an addition of $200,000 to overdue debts. Now, the discount account is closely allied to that of circulation. Ordinarily they rise and fall concurrently. The emission of currency for the purchase of farmers' produce, for instance, is largely based upon credit; in other words, the discount of grain buyers' paper, which is retired in due course by the sale of the cereals. When, therefore, so large an expansion as three million dollars occurs in the note circulation without any increase in "current loans," the conclusion may fairly be deduced that importers, manufacturers, and traders in general here have been able to appreciably reduce their indebtedness to the banks. A year ago the amount under discount was $204,654,000, or, making allowance for the increase in overdue debts, fully $4,000,000 more than at the present time, so that the proportions between circulation and discounts have been reasonably well maintained. It is, indeed, apparent from the figures we have cited, that the condition of Canadian trade continues sound at bottom, and that traders have manifested their ability to shorten sail in order to weather the gusts of commercial atrophy and financial distress from which other countries have so severely suffered. Public deposits rose $1,280,000 in September, those on demand increasing $200,000, and those after notice $1,086,000, the latter doubtless being from the agricultural class. On the year, demand deposits are higher by $5,340,000, and time deposits higher by $7,080,000, the aggregate being the largest in the history of the country.

In view of the facts and arguments here set forth, there is no strong reason why anyone should anticipate that the financial disaster which overtook the commerce of the United States must necessarily overtake the people of Canada. Let us but be careful in respect to our purchases and try to honestly pay all our floating debts, and we shall come out of this "quiet time" all right. The Gazette remarks with truth "the output of forest, farm and fisheries remains large, the export trade is well maintained, and, above all, there is reason to believe that domestic business has been conducted upon such prudent and conservative lines as to ensure stability in the present and a rapid expansion when circumstances and conditions warrant."

PROTECTION TO PUBLISHERS.

The Guardian is anxious for a discussion of the book duties. Yet it has failed to do that which is necessary to render a discussion intelligible to its readers,—it has not published the book duties. The Guardian maintains that the book duties were arranged to give protection to the book publishers. We readily admit that, in addition to the discouragement of yellow-covered literature, the tendency of the tariff is to encourage Canadian publishers and printers. Why not? Publishers and printers and book-binders, etc., are not a bad class in a community—they are a good class; and if by encouraging them to compete with publishers in England and the States, books come cheaper to the Canadian reader, the Canadian reader ought not to complain. Books are now, upon the whole, cheaper in Canada than they ever were; for English and foreign publishers know that the moment they put the prices of their books above a certain figure the Canadian publishers, with an advantage in their own market, will step in and publish the books themselves. We can to-day purchase by retail at Carter's the best novel that Sir Walter Scott ever wrote for twenty cents, the duty being about three cents; and we can buy Milton's Paradise Lost at Haszard & Moore's for twenty-five cents, and Paradise Regained for ten cents, the duty amounting to perhaps a cent or a cent and a half in each case; and we can obtain at the Bazaar store all the plays and all the sonnets of Shakespeare for one dollar, the duty being not more than six cents. We believe that the works of all the first-rate British and American authors are now sold in our city bookstores at prices proportionately low. Surely these are prices about which the Canadian reader has no cause to grumble, or the Guardian any right to raise a row. Certainly the new duties do not operate as a prohibitory tax upon knowledge.

PRESBYTERIAN SABBATH-SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the Presbyterian Sabbath-Schools of the central district of Queen's County was held in Zion Church yesterday afternoon, Rev. David Sutherland, convener of the committee, in the chair. All the congregations were represented, excepting Covehead.

After devotional exercises, Rev. A. A. Mackenzie, of Brookfield, read a very able paper on "The Teacher's Message." The central thought was that the teacher is to present Jesus Christ to the scholar;—not the Christ that was, but the Christ that is—the personal, living, loving Christ—not only the sorrowing, suffering Christ, but the Christ who tore off the masks from hypocrisy, who denounced meanness and shams, who hated lying, who abhorred cant—the manly, noble Christ! He illustrated the subtle power of companionship by the practice of the old Persian monarchs, who entrusted the training of their young princes to four nobles, the wisest, the most truthful, the most temperate, the bravest—so that the youths might acquire these great virtues from companionship. Similarly, said Mr. McKenzie, if our boys and girls are brought into companionship, into loving association with the real Christ, they will be "transformed into the same image from glory to glory, even as from the lord the spirit."

The paper was enthusiastically endorsed by those present, being spoken to by Revds. Fullerton, King and Miller and Messrs D Laird and James. Miss Bessie Brown conducted an admirable primary class taking as her subject the international lesson for Sunday Oct. 28th., "A Paralytic Healer." One could not help thinking that this lesson furnished an admirable comment on Mr. McKenzie's paper. The simple story of this manifestation of Christ's love and power so graphically told by Miss Brown easily commanded the intelligent interest of her class and their admirable answers showed that they fully comprehended the salient points of the lesson. This exercise was decidedly one of the features of the Convention.

Rev. Mr. Campbell, of Strathalbyn, followed with a paper on "The Teachers' Preparation." Taking for granted the qualification of personal character, Mr. Campbell advocated the greatest possible mastery of the subject to be taught, recommending first, personal study, and then, the use of lesson helps, teachers' meetings wherever practicable, and if possible the establishment of teachers' normal classes. This paper was discussed by Rev. Mr. Fullerton, Messrs. James, W. Laird, Pitblado, J. A. Lawson and A. D. Macdonald.

Reports of Sabbath School work were given by Messrs W. Laird, of New Glasgow, and D. Beaton, of Brookfield, after which Rev. Mr. King spoke of the success which had attended the efforts of Murray Harbor to keep their Sabbath school open all winter. Mr. King earnestly pressed the importance of this matter upon the attention of country Sabbath schools.

The evening session was largely attended by the Sabbath School teachers of the city and a number of citizens, in addition to the delegates from the country. After devotional exercises, Superintendent D. J. McLeod gave a talk on "The Teacher's Method;" speaking of the power of method and emphasizing its great importance in the primary classes. An example was given of the way in which abstract ideas might be brought within the child's comprehension. In the advanced classes, Mr. McLeod seemed to think that method was practically unnecessary; each teacher would devise his or her own methods.

A model lesson on the same subject as the primary was then conducted by Mr. James. If the answering on the part of the audience, a large number of whom must have been teachers, was a fair sample of the way in which questions are answered in advanced classes in Sunday schools, we fear religious education is hardly on a proper basis as yet.

The remainder of the session was devoted to a practical talk on various subjects connected with Sabbath-School work. Very helpful and practical suggestions along various lines were made by Messrs. D. Laird, A. McKinnon, A. Kennedy, J. Pitblado, J. M. Campbell, and Revs. Fullerton and King.

The whole convention was characterized throughout by a practical tone; and there seemed an earnest desire on the part of all to discover and remedy defects, and to endeavor to adopt the best methods of doing work.

At the invitation of Rev. Mr. Campbell, it was decided to hold the next convention at Strathalbyn.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

The St. James Gazette prints a despatch from Tien Tsin, saying information from trustworthy sources has been received there to the effect that negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the China-Japanese troubles are being carried on at Seoul. The report is not credited in London, however, as nothing is known of it at the Chinese legation.

A despatch from Shanghai says the British consul at Seoul states that a despatch bag officially and amply sealed must have been opened in transit from Chemulpe to Seoul. This must have been done, the consul add, with the knowledge of the highest Japanese officials at Seoul, because they have since shown that they were acquainted with the gist of the contest of the bag. The consul has requested the foreign office to cable him instructions as to what action he shall take in the matter.

Officials of the Chinese legation at Washington give an empathetic denial of the reports that China is negotiating with Japan for peace, or that she will at this time seriously consider overtures of peace from any source whatever. The winter season, said one of these gentlemen to-day, is so near at hand that hostilities must necessarily cease in a few weeks, until warmer weather next year. China meanwhile will continue preparations for war.

Mail advices from the Orient say the French minister at Pekin has again made a demand for reparation for the murder of the French missionary, Pere Joseau, in Corea by Chenese troops. Li Hung Chang has requested an extension of the period set by the French minister, on the plea that he has his hands so full with the present war that he cannot make the necessary investigation.

The Chinichi counts the Chinese losses in men thus:

At Song Hwan, killed and wounded...	600
Drowned at the sinking of the Kow Shing.....	1100
Killed and taken prisoners at and after the capture of Ping Yang	2685
Lost in Laiyuen.....	203
Lost in Chi Yuen.....	202
Lost in Chao Young.....	153
Lost in Kwenggi.....	130
Taken with the Taao Kiang.....	153
Otherwise killed and wounded.....	500
Wounded at Ping Yang.....	2000

On the whole, China's loss on land has been from 8,000 to 9,000, and at sea fully 1,400.

GENERAL TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Amsterdam, Oct. 22.—A despatch from Batavia, Java, says the volcano of Galoengong, in Preang district, is again in eruption and several villages have been destroyed by the flow of lava. This is the second great eruption of this volcano, the first having occurred Oct. 8, 1822, when four thousand persons were killed and a vast stretch of territory laid waste.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Davis Powers, who disappeared from Nunda on the 12th inst., and was thought to have been murdered by Tramps, was found here to-day and is now in hospital. Powers, who kept a store, was assaulted by two tramps to whom he gave lodging, because he refused to give them liquor. That was the last he remembered till he found himself in the woods. The six days are a perfect blank to him.

Rome, Oct. 22.—Many associations known as "Socialist Workers," which for some time past have existed in various parts of the country, have been suppressed by the authorities on the ground that they tended to excite and foster class hatred among the people. The suppression has caused a sensation. This step was taken in consequence of alarming reports sent in by prefects who had been questioned concerning the association. The prefect of Milan, where there are 55 bodies of Socialist Workers in correspondence with the allied societies all over Italy, gave a full explanation of their dangerous doctrines and plans. He found railway employes especially numerous and active in the association. The general programme was to destroy the existing social system, abolish private ownership, and demolish by means of revolution the whole judicial fabric.

Nyack, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The new residence of Rev. Ross Taylor, son of Wm. Taylor, Bishop of Africa, was burned at South Nyack early this morning. Three of Mr. Taylor's children perished in the flames. Three workmen were seriously injured. When Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were awakened they were surrounded by flames and smoke so dense that they were barely able to get out. There was no possibility of doing anything for their six children, whose escape was cut off, but two of them succeeded in getting to a window and saved their lives by jumping. The three employes jumped from a third story and were badly hurt. The house was of stone, and had been occupied only two weeks.

New York, Oct 22.—Edwin F. Uhl, Assistant Secretary of state at Washington, has declared that O'Donovan Rossa is not a citizen of the United States, although he has been voting here for a number of years on papers granted by Judge Lorremore in the court of common pleas on Feb. 21, 1871. Mr. Uhl holds that these papers are worthless on the ground that the qualification of five years continuous residence had not been fulfilled.

Warsaw, Oct. 21. — Despatches from Yalta say the Czarina is suffering from nervous collapse and paralysis of the legs. Her illness was caused by overwork in the Czar's sick room, loss of sleep and constant axiety. The Grand Duchess Xenia has been confined to bed for several days. She is said to be suffering from premature child-birth.

Brussels, Oct. 21.—The latest returns show that the clericals won in Brussels. Their majority is estimated at 18,000. They carried Tournai, which was formerly liberal. It is believed the opposition in parliament will consist of only 14 liberals and 33 socialists. Premier Deburlet is said to have been unseated in Nevelles.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct 21.—Nothing has yet been heard from the Peary expedition steamer Falcon, which sailed from Philadelphia on October 3rd for this port, which is eleven days overdue. The steamer Corean, which arrived here last night from Philadelphia, saw nothing of the Falcon on the passage, nor any wreckage or indication of what became of her.

London, Oct. 22.—The Right Hon. Herbert Asquith, the home secretary, to-night addressed the first of a series of meetings of his constituents at Leven, Fifeshire, Scotland. In the course of his remarks he said that the statement that the cabinet had been recently summoned to consider grave complications between Great Britain and France was the idlest fiction that had ever entered the brain of man. The statement that British diplomacy had sustained a serious rebuff in the great capitals of Europe was utterly destitute of the smallest foundation.

At New York, on Saturday, the grand jury found indictments against ex-Captain Doherty and his former wardmen, Hock and Mehan, and ex-Sergeants Liebers, Clark, McKenna, Jordan and Parkerson, all of whom were dismissed from the force several weeks ago. The indictments are for bribery. All the men have been arrested.

LECTURE ON ASTRONOMY.

The illustrated lecture on astronomy, in Philharmonic Hall last evening was interesting and instructive, a clearer idea of the motions of the heavenly bodies and the phenomena of eclipses and the tides being conveyed than is possible by means of a written description. But the introduction of laugable pictures and songs seemed to jar upon the feelings of the audience as a descent from the sublime to the ridiculous, and it certainly rendered the lecture rather too long. We have no doubt that Professor Cox will in future avoid this error. The lecture of Thursday evening will be a continuation of the same great and ever-wonderful theme. We hope that it will be well attended.

An Important Judgment.—A disconsolate widow in Montreal has just been the cause of an important judgment being given in the Court of Review in that city. The lady claimed money from the estate for mourning expenses so long that the executors began to think it was time for her tears to cease flowing. So a suit was the consequence with the result that three judges in review decided that the legal term for a widow's sorrow is one year, and that sorrow for her loss must not be made a matter of speculation in the trappings and suits of woe.

Sold Zola's Works.—At Quebec a few days ago, a book-seller named Fred Desjardians was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by Judge Blanchet for selling Zola's works.
