CANADA'S NEXT GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Montreal, Sept 29.—The Star's London cable says:—"Lord Ashbourne's name is only one of several that are mentioned in connection with the post of Governor-General of Canada. The Duke of Abercorn's name is being as much talked of in this connection. The official statement is that nothing has been settled. Lord Ashbourne's selection for the office is most unlikely, in view of the urgency given to the Irish questions now coming before the British Cabinet. It is significant evidence, however, of the importance now attached to the Canadian Viceroy, in that a member of the Cabinet who has been thrice Lord Chancellor of Ireland is seriously suggested for the post.

"The idea of Lord Stratheona and Mount Royal's appointment was warmly received in Canadian circles here. Lord Stratheona himself is back in his office, deeply immersed in Canadian business."
