THE DAILY EXAMINER.

APRIL 4, 1891.

Notes and Comments.

—The late Secretary Windom ascribes his success in life to his wife. "To her love," he says, "I am indebted for the happiness that has blessed my life, and to her prudence and wise counsel I owe much of ythe measure of the prosperity I have enjoyed." If any husband uses these facts to blame his wife for his non-success, it will be proper for the b tter-half to respond that Secretary Windom's wife had a better husband than most women have to work with.

—In the distribution of power under the United States constitution, the duty of prosecuting the lynchers of the Mafia rests on the state of Louisiana, whose regular mode of procedure is through the grand jury and the local authorities. If these refuse to discharge their responsibilities, the Government at Washington is powerless. It is the latter, though, that the Italian Government has to deal with, and who will feel the affront put upon the nation, in face of all civilization, by the withdrawal of the Italian Ministers.

—The French fishery in the North Atlantic does not seem to be in a very prosperous condition. The special returns just issued show the exports of fish from St. Pierre and Miquelon to be :

1886—908 300 quintals fish val'd at			$1,276,423
1887—754 770	do	do	2,507,321
1888—594 629	do	do	2,081,248
1889—531 254	do	do	2,027,534

The population of the island would, too, seem to be decreasing, and is now less than 6000, of whom 672 are Englishmen. Perhaps these facts may help to impress upon French statesmen at home the desirability of seeking some other means of aiding the fishery than state bounties.

—The outbreak in Assam appears to be a bad form of the petty wars that Great Britain is always waging on her Indian frontier. Four hundred and seventy men killed is a much larger score than generally attends even a season's campaign. The men who were killed were Ghoorkas, also, who for courage and fighting qualities stand first among the Indian native troops. Before so many of them succumbed it is safe to say the rebels got a lesson that will make the work of the relieving force a great deal easier.

—The Canadian Gazette, of London, says : "It is hardly worth while for Sir Henry Tyler to attempt to hoodwink his shareholders upon the matter. Wisely or unwisely, the Canadian Pacific influence was flung into the scale of the pro-British party ; and, wisely or unwisely, the Grand Trunk influence was flung into the scale of the annexationist party. Each company must abide by the result of the issue. That the servants of British stockholders should fight against the empire is certainly to be deeply regretted, but that is a matter which must be settled between the employer and the employed."

—The New York Press says : "If Major McKinley should be nominated for Governor of Ohio he will have to calculate on greater opposition than any American nominee has ever before encountered. Of course the Democratic party, just now directed by the English mugwump element, will oppose him, although some Democrats, who place principle above party, may vote for him. Then England, with all the thunder of the London press, will oppose him, and strive for the defeat of the man who is compelling British manufacturers to look for factory sites in America. Germany, which sends us German goods and keeps out American pork, will oppose him. Austria will look anxiously for his discomfiture, and France and Italy will pray for the repudiation of McKinley." The American eagle is to the rescue of the author of the McKinley tariff.

—The Thames Tunnel, begun sixty-five years ago, is only thirteen hundred feet long, and took eighteen years to build. The Mersey Tunnel is, with approaches, about four and a half miles long, and the roof of it is thirty feet below the bed of the river. It was found not difficult to make, and cost altogether one million two hundred and fifty thousand pounds; the subaqueous portion, however—about a mile—cost only one hundred and forty thousand eight hundred pounds. The Severn Tunnel is about four miles long, and cost about five hundred thousand pounds per mile. As some two miles of this are subaqueous, the Severn Tunnel is the longest of the kind in the world. Of land tunnels the St. Gothard is the longest—nearly nine and a half miles—and cost about two hundred and fifty thousand pounds per mile. The Mont Cenis Tunnel, which is about eight miles long, cost close upon four hundred thousand pounds per mile; while the Arlberg Tunnel which is six and a half miles long, cost only one hundred and ninety thousand pounds per mile.

THE STANLEY succeeded in making her way into Pictou last night, and left on return to Georgetown this morning.

POSTPONED.—The lecture to have been given in St. Patrick's Hall last evening by Prof. Mellish, was postponed until Friday evening next, owing to the unfavorable weather.

IN A PROHIBITION CITY.—The Bangor, Me., News says: In accordance with an order issued by City Marshal Parker, the members of the night police force notified every saloon keeper Monday evening that they were requested to close at 10 p. m., and sell no liquor to minors.

PRAYING FOR THE PRINCE.—In the course of his closing prayer at the morning service in old St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, on Sunday, the pastor, Rev. G. M. Milligan, after praying for the Queen, fervently pleaded for a blessing on the Prince of Wales, and continued, "If all reports be true, Lord, change him. Fit him for the throne, or else grant that he may never reach it to make trouble."

SIZED UP.—An exchange says :

"One of the interesting methods of sensational journalism is to tell a lie on one day, for a sensation, and then retract it on the next day, for another sensation."

Of course it would never do to imagine for a moment that the writer of the foregoing paragraph was keeping a close eye upon the management of our contemporary The Guardian.

H. & L.—The Hook & Ladder Company will meet at the usual hour Monday evening.

St. Vincent De Paul Sewing Circle.

THE annual meeting of St. Vincent De Paul Sewing Circle was held on Thursday evening. In the absence of the Director, Father McElmeel, the Rev. James Morrison read the annual report as follows :

FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT.

In submitting for your approval the Fifth Annual Report of the St. Vincent De Paul's Ladies Sewing Circle, it is proper to remark that the Association has this year been longer engaged in work, has had a greater number of active members, and has spent a greater amount of money than in any former year. The total number of members was sixty-two—of these twenty were honorary, and forty-two active. The number of meetings was nineteen, and the average attendance at each meeting twenty-four.

On the fifth of November the first meeting of the season was held, and the following Office Bearers were elected:

Rev. Father McElmeel—Treasurer.
Mrs. D. Reddin—President.
Katie Caven—Secretary.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given on the first Thursday of each month.

The funds at the disposal of the Society amounted to three hundred and forty-three dollars and forty-three cents. This amount was received from the following sources—

Contribution of Active Members	$ 47 60
" of Honorary Members	20 00
Members of the League of the Cross	52 00
Rev. Father McElmeel	5 00
Proceeds of concert (less $13.25 expenses)	74 99
Trustees of Connolly's Estate for School Boys' Clothing	143 93
Total		$343 43

This amount was expended has follows:

Paid for dress goods, cloth, wincey, cotton, sacques, shawls, scarfs, etc	$185 47
Paid for boots and shoes	127 00
Cash given to sick, etc	30 00	342 47
Balance		96

Leaving a balance of ninety-six cents in favor of the Society.

The following is a list of the clothing distributed to the poor :—130 pairs boots, 90 shirts, 64 coats, 66 pants, 120 articles underclothing, 58 pairs socks and stockings, 16 caps, 25 sacques, 20 shawls, 24 aprons and pinafores, 28 dresses (large) 25 children's dresses, 42 underskirts, 7 bonnets and hats, 6 sheets, 10 pillow slips, 8 night gowns, 17 vests, 26 scarfs; 32 pairs mits, 25 articles of sundries.

In addition to the above, fifty yards of cotton, 30 yards of dress goods, 10 yards of homespun, 16 yards of flannel, and cloth for three boys suits, were furnished to persons who undertook to have the material made into clothing

The Society has also to acknowledge, with gratitude, the following donations : Mrs. McQuaid, large web cloth ; Mrs. Eden, dress goods, socks and stockings; Mr. Alfred McEachen, 6 pairs felt overboots, socks and overalls; Mrs. B. Callaghan, socks, stockings, etc.; Mrs Fontana, 4 pairs of stockings; Prowse Brothers gave a boy a complete suit of clothing.

Donations of left-off clothing were also received from ladies of the congregation.

Respectfully submitted,
KATIE CAVEN, Secretary.

Ch'town, April 2, 1899.

After the reading of the report, the children attending the Convent of De Notre Dame, gave a literary and musical entertainment for the amusement of the ladies. The meeting closed with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The music with organ, violin and harp, was very beautiful.

Prince St. School Entertainment.

THE Lyceum was greatly overcrowded last evening ; and the enjoyment of the entertainment was marred by the whistling, thumping, stamping, cat-calls, etc. of those in the audience who, we may presume, have never attended our public schools, nor learnt good manners at their homes. But the entertainment was, in itself, an excellent one, reflecting great credit upon the children and their instructors. Particularly noticeable were "the calisthemics" and "the tamborine drill," showing that attention is paid to the physical as well as the mental culture of the children of Prince Street School. There were precision and strength, as well as beauty, in the movements of the fair young pupils. Very pleasing, too, were the "Three Little Kittens" and the "Mother Goose Medley." The choruses by the pupils were well sung. Miss Edith Brown's solo was sweetly and clearly rendered ; Mrs. E. H. Norton sang with taste and feeling ; Mrs. Roome's song was good in every way ; Professor Macleod gave excellent expression to the music and the sentiment of "Hame came our guid man at e'en" ; and Master John Lewis is evidently the coming man among the popular vocalists of our town. Rev. James Carruthers' reading was dramatically rendered—capital in every respect. The cornet solo by Mr. Fletcher and the violin solo by Miss May Macdonald were both artistically given. The latter is wonderfully improved of late. Altogether the entertainment was unusually successful.

Religious Services.

Methodist Brick Church.—Services at 11 a m and 7 p m, conducted by the pastor, Rev John Read. Sunday School at 2.30 p m.

Remember the Railway Gospel Meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in McLeod's Hall. Strangers always welcome. Lesson : St Luke 19-10—"For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Zion Church.—Services to-morrow will be conducted by Rev D Sutherland, pastor, in the morning at 11, and in the evening at 7 o'clock. Morning prayer meeting at 10.15. Sabbath School and Bible classes will meet at 2.30 p m.

Services in the Baptist church to-morrow :—Preaching at 11 a m and 7 p m, Rev J A Gordon, A M, pastor. The ordinance of Baptism will be dispensed at the morning service. Sabbath School and pastor's Bible class at 2.30. Strangers welcome and provided with comfortable seats.

Kensington Hall.—To-morrow school at 2.30 p m. Service at 7 p m. Subject : "The Great Judgment."

THE WOES OF A NEWSPAPER OFFICE.—The Harriston Tribune says : La grippe has struck this town again in right good earnest. As usual the high-toned and aristocratic are his first victims. Four of the staff of this office have been laid out, which makes it hard for us, the foreman and the devil. The boss got home from Manitoba on Monday, and he being of the high-toned kind, was laid out on Tuesday. Should they all survive, the Tribune will come out as usual ; but, if they all die, we will have to close up for a few hours until a new staff is secured. However, the Tribune will live, no matter what grippe does.

British Trade With Brazil.

The London Economist has been investigating this question, and has arrived at an approximate idea of the effect of the new arrangement made between Brazil and the United States. Taking the figures of 1889, it appears that Brazil, will admit free of duty from the United Staces goods formerly taken from Britain to the value of £1,182,500. The details of the last year were :—

	British Goods.	Duty.
Coal	£ 471,500	5 p. c.
Machinery, tools and implements	578,700	15 to 48 "
Railway material and equipment	132,300	5 to 15 "
	£1,182,500

In future, American coal, machinery and railway material will go in free, and this advantage will be enhanced by subsidies to steamship lines running to Brazilian ports. Then, the treaty provides also for a reduction of 25 per cent. upon certain lines of United States manufactured goods, and the business done in these lines by Britain in 1880, with the duties imposed, was as follows :—

	British Goods.	Duty.
Cottons	£2,569,400	15 to 48 p. c.
Iron and steel	691 200	15 to 48 "
Leather	218,000	30 to 50 "
Rubber	36,300	48 "
	£3,514,900

That is to say, British exports to Brazil to the annual value of about £4,700,000 are to be discriminated against by a differential arrangement in favor of the United States so large that the Repubtic, which has only been doing 9 per cent. of the trade with Brazil, while Britain has been doing over 50 per cent , can hardly fail to profit thereby. Well may the question be asked, "What will the Mother Country do under such a series of assaults ?"

As Lord Dunraven showed in his able paper in the Nineteenth Century, these repeated changes of tariffs "create an unhealthy condition of trade." British industries, he points out,—

"Are subjected to sudden bursts of prosperity when demand in protected countries temporarily overleaps the tariff barriers ; but these bursts are invariably succeeded by a period of depression arising from a natural shrinkage of demand or from the addition of an extra foot or two to the protective wall. If we cannot manufacture goods here and export them to the United States or some foreign country, capital invested in mills in the United Kingdom is withdrawn and devoted to manufacturing those goods in the United States or in that foreign country. If the mountain won't go to Mahomet, Mahomet must go to the mountain. This may be all very well for capital, but how does it affect the workingmen ? They cannot be transferred from place to place as readily as money."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Denial.

SIR,—In the issue of this morning the Guardian contains a slanderous article against me.

I have only to say that the object of their slander is to try and keep me out of the House of Assembly, which they can't do.

If Dr. Jenkins or Mr. Stewart had come to me to engage the hall, I would have been happy to let them have it. Any responsible party is at liberty to hire the hall, provided arrangements are made for paying the rent of the same.

HENRY C. DOUSE.

Ch'town, April 4, 1891.

A Strange Combination.

SIR,—How true it is that "politics sometimes makes strange bed-fellows." Mr. Simon W. Crabbe, a well-known Scott Act advocate proposes Dr. Jenkins, and Mr. Simon Bolger, who is a—well, not a Scott Act man, seconds the motion ! What a combination! It's enough to make angels weep.

ONLOOKER.

The Local Situation.

SIR,—The local political situation is what Councillor Byrne would call unique; it would even be amusing if it were not for its seriousness. There is not a straight candidate of either political party in the field. Dr. Jenkins is out as an Independent, and Mr. Douse is the forlorn hope of the ward politicians who engineered the "razzle dazzle" in Market Hall on Tuesday evening. Which of the two will be elected remains to be seen. It's a pure case of "six of one and half a dozen of the other." The great majority of persons will likely abstain from voting unless something unforeseen turns up between this and election day.

CITIZEN.

"Elector" Speaks.

SIR,—I was much pleased with the tone of the leading article in THE EXAMINER yesterday. It was timely and to the point. Let the so-called leaders of this civic reform movement, whoever they are, show themselves, and tell the electors what they propose doing. Dr. Jenkins is pledged to do their bidding, and it is nothing but right that the public should be given an outline of the measure their candidate promises to champion. We don't want to "buy a pig in a bag." And then there's Mr. Douse. But perhaps the whole thing is a bluff game, put up by the liquor men and the "reformers" to kill off Mr. Blake. An explanation is required instanter.

ELECTOR.

Personal.

Mr. Hackett, Inspector of Fisheries, is in the City. He is registered at the Hotel Davies.

A telegram, received to-day, by Premier McLeod, from Senator Howlan, dated Halifax, says: "Leaving Halifax to-day by steamer Carthagenian, for London, via Newfoundland."

The death of Lady Inglefield, wife of Sir Edward Inglefield, so well and favorably known on the North American Naval Station, is announced. Lady Inglefield has been an invalid for many years.

Percy Lear, representative of the Montreal Cigar Association, is hard at work organizing the new cigar manufacturing company, which it is expected will start business in Halifax early in July next. Mr. Lear is well-known in Charlottetown.

K. D. C. Cures Dyspepsia.

To the Electors of Charlottetown, Common and Royalty.

GENTLEMEN,—Having been waited upon by a large number of the inhabitants of this City and Royalty, and requested to put myself into nomination for the election for the Local House, to be held on the 9th inst , I have acceded to their request, and have nominated on the 2nd inst., in due form.

In asking for your suffrages, I beg to state that I will not support any party that will not give fair play to Charlottetown—that is to say, its share of the monies received from Ottawa—which, I contend, this city has, in all justice, a right to receive in proportion to its population.

We have in the Royalty about twenty miles of roads that are sadly neglected, and in this city about sixteen miles of streets to be kept in order.

I should strongly advocate the keeping in the best state of repair this important branch of the public interests.

We have, at an outlay of two hundred thousand dollars, constructed a system of Waterworks, which gives protection not only to Civic property but to Local and Dominion Government property as well,—a protection for which, we may say, we only receive six hundred dollars a year.

I will support that party which secures to this City its rightful share of all Government monies.

In regard to the Ward system in this City, I believe it is admitted to be the system in force in all cities, and why Charlottetown should make any innovation I cannot see. I am of the opinion that the present Ward system should be preserved intact, with this exception : that as Ward Five has, of late years, grown considerably larger than the lower Wards, I would vote for its division into two Wards, when the people of that Ward ask for the same.

Thanking you, Gentlemen, for your confidence, I pledge myself, if elected, always to work for the interests of this, my native city, and of the country generally.

I am, yours respectfully,
HENRY C. DOUSE.

What Ora Seaney Says About Spring Millinery.

"It is difficult to tell how soon the vanishing point will be reached in small hats. The large ones are stupendously gorgeous, and the shapes will be one extreme or the other. Flowers are to be extensively used, and they certainly simulate nature more closely than ever before. Gold and silver are seen upon every hat and toque, and the enhanced effect is quite charming. Ribbons, galloons, laces, braids and full set pieces are produced in gold and silver. Pinks promise to be good, no less than seven shades being shown. Yellows will be used with black, and also with gold. Gold and silver dotted black nets hold the lead, and give great promise of so continuing throughout the season. A strong effort will be made to replace black in straws with colors, and ecru and gray stand first in public favor. The trimming is almost universally placed at the back, and arranged quite high. The crowns have almost entirely disappeared on the top, but bandeaux placed underneath and covered with crushed roses or small flowers rest upon the head. Voluted brims are a perfect rage, and to be without a hat with a voluted brim for sun wear is to be without one of the most becoming effects ever placed above the face."
