safe; nearer and nearer the man came, treading with a light elastic step, and they could see now that he was not a laborer, but a gentleman in a light shooting-coat and straw hat. Suddenly, as he approached, Helen's face lighted with a vivid flush; as he came on the colour mounted—mounted until her cheeks glowed with a tender red; a moment more and he had reached them.

'Oh, Alan,' came with a sob from Helen's lips.

'My own Helen!' and in another second she was clasped in the stranger's embrace.

'Pardon me, Mr. Seton. Really, it is quite impossible that you should refuse to give this gentleman a hearing.'

The speaker was Mr Gardner, the old lawyer and friend already mentioned, and he alluded to Alan Morton, who was sitting in Henry Seton's drawing-room, waiting till he should be listened to, with a look of quiet resolution on his handsome face Helen was in the room too, standing tearfully in the deep alcove of the window, almost hidden by the curtains.

'Mr. Seton will, I think, hardly feel justified in continuing to refuse his consent to my marriage with his ward,' urged Alan, addressing himself to the lawyer, 'when I mention that I had her father's consent to the engagement. Nothing but the dangerous illness of a sister who resides abroad would have kept me from hastening to England on hearing of Miss Seton's bereavement.'

'Circumstances are changed,' put in Henry, with considerable irritation of manner; 'I refuse my consent.'

'Hush, hush, my dear sir,' interposed the lawyer, trying to keep the peace; 'let us hear what Mr. Morton's proposals are We lawyers, you know,' turning to Alan with an attempt at a joke, 'are obliged to have an eye to pounds, shillings, and pence. Have you any objection to give me, as Mr. Seton's friend, some idea of your means?'

'They are little enough, I own,' replied Alan, frankly; 'but it seems to me that, under the circumstances, it is only for Miss Seton and me to decide whether they are sufficient. If I had not been obliged to leave England Mr. Seaton would have allowed me to marry his daughter at once, yet at that time it was thought, I know, that she was likely to have a considerable fortune.'

Alan Morton, as he said the last words, happened to glance towards Henry Seton, and noticed with surprise the blood mount to his forehead.

'Yes, yes,' answered the lawyer, thinking that by talking the matter over he should give Henry time to recover his temper, which had seemed to be on the point of failing: 'it was thought that Miss Seton would be rich, but unfortunately her father died without having made any provision for her.'

A suspicion entered Alan Morton's head that Henry Seton was concealing from him the true state of Helen's affairs, which Mr Gardner might not know, in order to induce him to resign her before she should be of age to act for herself. Therefore he pursued the subject.

'I understood,' he said, turning pointedly to the lawyer, yet keeping an eye on Henry, 'that there was some money likely to come to Miss Seton by settlement. Can you tell me what can have given rise to the idea?'

'It was a very natural idea,' replied Mr. Gardner; 'indeed I believe that Mr. Seton almost shared in it himself, for he always had a fancy that he should survive his brother. I can explain the circumstances to you in a moment. Mr. Seton I am sure you will have no objection to my doing so?'

He looked towards Henry, who muttered very surlily, 'Say what you please,' and began nervously to put some paper together on the writing-table.

'Well,' resumed the lawyer, 'I need not make a long story of it. The simple fact is, that Miss Seton would have been not only well off but wealthy had her father lived a few hours longer. He and his brother, Captain Seton, died the same day, but Miss Seton's father died at eleven in the morning, and Captain Seton not till two in the afternoon; therefore, by a singular provision of the will under which they inherited, his son, as heir to the survivor, succeeded to the property.'

What ailed Alan Morton? The color flushed into his face; he rose and stood, still addressing the lawyer, but with his face turned towards Henry.

'May I enquire,' he asked, 'on what day Captain and Mr. Seton died?'

Henry turned upon him in a fit of ungovernable passion.

'Leave my room, sir, instantly, if you don't wish to be kicked out of it. Good heavens! do you think that I am going to submit to the insolence of a confounded meddling scoundrel like you?'

'Stay, sir, stay,' interposed the lawyer, laying his hand on Henry's arm, and perfectly aghast at this uncalled-for burst; 'there is no insolence in the case. Under the circumstances there is no wonder that Mr. Morton should wish to hear all the particulars. Mr. Seton died, sir, at eleven o'clock, in the morning of the 15th of October, and—'

'And I saw Captain Seton lying dead at six in the morning of that same 15th.'

There was a dead silence in the room. The lawyer fixed his keen eyes on Henry, whose face had turned a yellowish livid white Helen had stolen from her retreat at the sound of her cousin's angry voice, and now stood by the chair from which her lover had just risen. Henry turned upon her fiercely.

'How dared you not to tell me this?'

'Tell you what?' said Helen's gentle voice. 'There was nothing to tell for Alan did not see my uncle alive; besides I could not speak to you about his letters.'

Alan continued steadily:—'I arrived at K—— on the morning of the 15th October, in the course of a walking trip of two or three days. I was just passing the inn, when I heard my name called, and saw my old school and college friend, Edward Wilson, at a window. He was in a room on the ground floor; and in the same room, on a bed, was Captain Seton's body. Wilson told me he had died at two in the morning, and I saw him lying there with my own eyes at six. I wanted to remain with Wilson, but he would not hear of it. He persuaded me that he wanted no help, and reproached himself with having allowed me to risk infection by coming in. So I left the way I had entered without seeing any one but him. I saw his death afterwards in the paper, and regretted bitterly that I had not stayed with him; but as to the time of Captain Seton's death there is not the lightest doubt about it.'

Another dead silence; Helen's soft tones broke it. 'There must be some mistake,' she said approaching her cousin with her old gentle manner, all anger having given way to pity at the sight of his ghastly face. 'Henry—Oh, Henry, are you ill?'

'Miss Seton you had better leave us for the present,' said the old lawyer, sternly. 'I fear there is room for some painful suspicions regarding Mr. Seton's conduct. At any rate, the matter must be investigated. I shall start for K—— myself to-morrow, to make the necessary inquiries.'

A kind of gurgle startled them. Henry was standing with his two hands pressed against his brow as if to keep his senses. He strove to speak, but something seemed to choke him and his words were hardly articulate; yet he forced them out and they stood to listen.

'There is no need; it is true! I altered the letter. Not for the fortune; it was to win Helen, but—oh, my God! What is this?'

He staggered, and his eyes closed. Helen turned white; the lawyer and Alan Morton sprang forward, but before they were able to reach him, Henry Seton had fallen to the ground at their feet, stricken with paralysis.

• • • • •

The sequel is soon told. Helen is happy. She and Alan Morton have sold the old family place, where the change of ownership must have been known and commented upon, and have settled in a distant part of England, within easy reach but out of sight of the sea. Two tiny children play round their fire-side; besides these, their home has another occupant. Whose easy-chair is that drawn up in winter to the warmest nook by the hearth? Who is the invalid, a young man still, but with wasted limbs and drawn features, who on summer days can just crawl down the terrace steps and sit basking in sunny spots? He brings a book sometimes, but his mind is weak, and he likes to play with the children, and tell them long rambling stories, which are their chief delight. But when they read him stories in return, they notice that if there is any mention of a lonely pool or pond their playfellow's face changes; it seems to strike a painful chord in his memory; he grows gloomy and sends them away. They have learnt to pass over such passages in their little books.

See! there comes Helen and her husband; how handsome he is! and how lovingly she leans upon his arm, and looks up at him with her soft, trusting eyes. They join the invalid, and Alan makes him lean on him, while Helen walks on the other side. He brightens up a little and thanks them, and they speak cheerily to him, but he soon relapses into melancholy. Thus it has been for years; thus it will be to the end of the life of this wreck of what once was the calm, keen, clear-sighted Henry Seton.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Irish in England.—At the last census in 1861 among the 20,066,224 persons found in England and Wales, 601,634 were natives of Ireland, being nearly three in every hundred. At the preceding census in 1851 the number was not quite so large, being only a little over 2·9 per hundred. One thing, however, must not be overlooked, that the children born in England of Irish parents are counted among the English people, and that, partly at least as the result of this, an unusually large proportion of the Irish in England—in 1861 nearly five sixths—are adults of 20 years and upwards. Reckoning only males, the census of 1861 shows 9,776,259 male persons of all ages in England, and among them were 298,729 natives of Ireland, being 3 per cent. of the whole number; but the Irishmen in England 20 years old or upwards were more than 4·5 per cent. of the whole male population of that age. It was estimated by the Registrar-General that the Irish in England were sustained at their number by an immigration of nearly 18000 a year. Of the Irish male persons of all ages in England at the last census rather more than 100,000, above a third of the whole number, were in Lancashire. In Liverpool, with a total male population of 215,716, 40,059 males were natives of Ireland. In Manchester and Salford 22,096 of the 217,596 males were persons born in Ireland. Other Lancashire towns show considerable numbers of natives of Ireland. In Bolton there were 2,424 of the 33,759 males, and in Preston 2,810 in 38,068. Many other towns in the north show the tendency of the Irish part of the population to the towns. The census gives 4,933 natives of Ireland in the 100,133 male persons of all ages in Leeds; 2,458 in 49,268 in Bradford; 3,265 in 92,140 in Sheffield; 2,524 in 25,274 in Stockport; 1,270 in 16,826 in Gateshead; 1,426 in 46,528 in Hull; 2,297 in 37,818 in Sunderland; 3,322 in 54,092 in Newcastle. The town of Warrington is not separately given, but in the district the numbers are 1,985 in 22,035 males of all ages. Coming south, we find 1,854 in 30,610 males in Wolverhampton; 5,812 in 143,996 in Birmingham; 1,966, in 69,043 in Bristol; 2,472 in 43,868 in Merthyr Tydfil; 1,048 in 11,458 in Newport. In London there were at the last census 1,307,781 male persons, and 47,587 of them, 3·6 per cent, were born in Ireland. In Glasgow, and also in Dundee, the census showed nearly 16 per cent. of the inhabitants natives of Ireland; in Edinburgh 5 per cent.

Iowa is clear of debt. Alone of all the States, she does not owe a dollar. The people of Iowa did not shrink from their duty during the war. They paid their full share of the public expenses, and sent their quota of men to the field; and there were no better men in the armies of the Union. The gallantry of Iowa's soldiers was conspicuous in every battle, as their endurance and vigor were in every march. This happy condition of freedom from debt is due to the wise and economical administration which the people of Iowa have insisted on, and which their State officers have been able to give them. It is, indeed, an enviable situation, which other States groaning under debt and taxation, may look at with an admiring eye.

A Man Buried for Three Days in a Snowdrift.—A correspondent of the Deseret News, writing from Heber City, Wasatch County, gives the following account of a most extraordinary case of exposure. On Sunday the 9th ult. a young man named John Lee started on foot from this city to go to Heber City. On the Tuesday following he was at William Kimball's, and started from that place to go over the mountains. A heavy snow storm coming on, he lost his way in the blinding drift, and travelled in the snow from Tuesday till Saturday, when exhausted nature could bear no more, and he sank down. Thinking that he was going to die he sought a hole where he might lie down and not be so exposed in his last moments as he would be on the level snow. Here he was covered by the snow drift, the storm continuing until he was completely buried in, how deep he did not know, but he belived there was about five feet of snow over him. In a state of partial unconsciousness he lay until Tuesday morning, as he afterwards learned, when he thought he saw the sun rising, and with the thought came hope and a desire to dig his way out. He had on two hickory shirts and two heavy coats, but in his efforts to free himself from the tomb in which he was buried, his clothes were worn through, and the skin and part of the flesh were worn off his elbows As he got his head above the snow he saw a man coming down from the mountains, to whom he made signals; and this person, a young man named Galloway, from Rhoad's Valley, came to him and helped him out. Galloway then started for the nearest house, at Hallstone's ranch, some three miles off, for assistance. He found some teams from Heber City, and Lee having been got down to the road where a sleigh could get to him, one of them took him on; but a horse team soon after passing, he was taken by it to the fort at Heber City. During all the time of his exposure from leaving Kimball's, he had been without food. It was nearly sun-down when he was got down to the road, and the air was very cold. When he reached Heber City it was found that his arms and legs were frozen; and, though living when Murdoch left, his recovery was considered almost hopeless.

AN EFFECTUAL WORM MEDICINE.
Brown's Vermifuge Comfits,

Or Worm Lozenges. Much sickness undoubtedly, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The "Vermifuge Comfits," although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

Children having worms require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness.

Symptoms of worms in children are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach and bowels cause irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's "Vermifuge Comfits" is such as to give the best possible effect with safety.

ROGERS' MEDICINES!

AFTER A TEST OF FOUR YEARS

before the public, are still increasing in popularity, because they continue to make cures in the history of Medicines, as abundantly appears by the following, among hundreds of similar testimonials, from people of the highest respectability from all parts of the Lower Provinces.

UNPARALLELED

There is no longer any reason why the most hopeless cases in any disease arising from impurities of the blood may not be cured, as well as

GENERAL DEBILITY,

FEMALE WEAKNESSES, &c., &c.

OUR

ALTERATIVE SYRUP

is beyond all controversy unsurpassed as a purifyer of the blood and invigorator of the system. This, no man can doubt, who will look over the following

CERTIFICATES:

Cancer of the Womb Cured.

Messrs. Rogers & Co,

Gents.—I have been cured by your wonderful Medicine of one of the worst of diseases, as follows, viz:

I had been afflicted for several years with an internal Tumor, and four years ago I was taken sick with a fever; the old complaint also revived. I had a Doctor attending me, but continued to get worse, we sent for another Doctor. He pronounced it a hopeless case, and said I could not live long. He said the Tumor was then as large as a pint bowl, and was assuming a cancerous nature. I suffered more than tongue can tell. My friends expected me to die daily. They were called in to see me die, and I was reduced to a mere skeleton. I suffered in this dreadful manner for upwards of two years I at length, as a forlorn hope was induced to try your medicine. The first lot seemed to make me worse, and I became discouraged; but the Rev. A. W. Borss advised me to continue. I did so, and soon began to improve, and I am now well again, and a wonder to myself and neighbors. I feel as one raised from the dead. I am a young woman of 26 years of age. I state these things for the benefit of suffering humanity, and I cannot begin to describe the severity of my case—it is widely known in the County of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia.

Yours, with much gratitude,
LOIS A. HATFIELD.

We, the undersigned, friends of Miss Hatfield, have much pleasure in endorsing all she says aboea and much more might be said of this most extra ordinary case.

ULCERATED CANCER CURED!

Who needs better proof than the following voluntary testimony of

MRS. HANNAH BALMAIN, OF WICKHAM, N.B.

Some four years since there came a lump in my breast, and at the time I did not know what it was—but on showing it to three Doctors, they told me it was a "Cancer," and for which the knife would have to be applied; then again, I went to a female doctor, who has been in the habit of curing Cancers by drawing them out, but she informed me that it was deep in the flesh and too long seated, and therefore could not help me. Knowing that something must be done, I concluded to try your medicine, which I saw advertised in the Visitor. Accordingly I sent for a can of Ointment and Powders for making the Syrup, which I used without the slightest change at the time. I began to think it was a failure, but concluded to give it another trial; consequently I procured another can of Ointment and Powders, and from its use it gathered and broke in two places, and discharged very freely for about six months, after which time it broke again in another place, and one of the old Ulcers healed up, the remaining two still remaining, one of which ran for two and a half years, the other healing up in about two months after it broke, during which time I used your medicine regularly I may here state, that the last Ulcer healed up about thirteen months ago, since which time I have enjoyed good health. Yes, I may say better health than I have enjoyed for several years.

I remain yours, respectfully,
Mrs. Hannah Balmain.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER.

Five Islands, Nova Scotia, }
October 21st, 1867. }

Messrs. Rogers & Co,

Gents:—My daughter is nicely, and you have done wonders, for I never thought you would make a cure as you have done. Her leg appears to be quite strong, but it itches a little.

Yours, &c.,
Edward Corbett.

The above was a very severe case of Scrofula of four or five years standing, and after having baffled the skill of the best Physicians and almost every other Patent Medicine, and the child appeared to be on the verge of the grave, and the parents having lost confidence in everything in the medical line, we undertook the cure for a certain sum, and if we failed we were to get nothing: but we succeeded, as we do in every case of Scrofula we undertake. Nearly the whole of the bone from the knee to the ankle came out in pieces from time to time.

Rogers & Co.

Mrs. Edwin Starratt, of Port William, Nova Scotia, after having lost the use of her limbs for upwards of three years, has been fully restored to her former health by the use of our medicine Any one wishing to know the particulars can correspond with Mrs. S. who will give every information.

R. & Co.

Mr. Allen, Editor of the Liverpool Transcript, Nova Scotia, has been cured of a very bad Scrofulous sore on his leg, of several years standing, after every other means failed.

R. & Co.

Miss Miles of Milton, Queen's Co., Nova Scotia, was for upwards of three years suffering from a general derangement of the system. Suspension of the menses, bleeding at the lungs, &c., &c., and to all appearance was fast sinking to the grave. Medical skill and every other means proving ineffectual. In a few months our ALTERATIVE SYRUP restored her to her usual health.

Persons wishing to know the truth of this case can drop a line to the Rev. John Hughes, Baptist Minister at the above place. We could easily fill pages of newspapers with the relation of such cases, but we deem the above sufficient for the present.

R. & Co.

It usually takes from six to twelve months to effect a cure in cases of long standing, and will cost from thirty to sixty dollars The cheapest way for such cases is to order a $29 box at first, which can be had in New Bruswick by ordering from

JOHN CHALONER, ESQ.,

Corner of King and Germain Street. St. John. But may be had at all the principal Drug Stores by Retail, or address

THE ROAD TO HEATH AND LONG LIFE

SECURED BY

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

Impurities of the Blood.

In selecting the most appropriate medicine for a particular ailment, there may be some difficulty unless one can be found to purify, regulate, and improve the quality of the blood. These Pills possess and exert these three qualifications in an extraordinary degree. They enable the stomach to digest any ordinary food, increase the secretory powers of the liver, cleanse and purify the blood, expel all morbid matter, and throw into the circulation the purest elements for sustaining and repairing the frame.

Weakness and Debility.

How many persons suffer from debility without knowing the causes why they are feeble! In most cases the stomach is the aggressor. Holloway's Pills have long been famed for regulating a disordered stomach, and restoring its healthy digestive tone; they are, therefore, confidently recommended as a never-failing remedy in all cases where the constitution, from any cause, has become impaired or weakened.

Disease of the Head and Heart.

These formidable diseases are, unfortunately, of frequent occurrence; for the most part they creep on gradually, but may be prevented by proper precautions. Holloway's Pills are the surest preservatives against all derangements of the brain, and are the speediest correctors of irregular circulation. If they be taken without delay, when tingling in the limbs, drowsiness, or giddiness comes on, the effect will be marvellous.

Females of all Ages & Classes.

The fame of these Pills is partly based upon the beneficial effects they have upon the constitutions of females. "Endorsed by the Medical College of Glasgow."

DR. JUDSON'S
DEAD SHOT WORM CANDY.

THE Subscribers, B. L. JUDSON & CO., are the Sole Agents and Importers on this Continent, of this Wonderful Medicine, and propose to give here

A few Reasons why it is the Best and Safest Remedy in the World.

1st—It is the result of the experience and study of a Gentleman and a Scholar.
2nd—It is not a Quack Nostrum.
3rd—Is is perfectly pleasant and easy to take.
4th—The smallest child will greedily tease for it.
5th—It never fails to kill the Worms.
6th—It is entirely vegetable, and cannot harm the smallest child.
7th—It is the result of 70 years experience of old Dr Judson
8th—It is endorsed by and bequeathed on his death-bed by old Dr. Judson.

Now see what a Physician of the Royal College said of it 20 years ago.

Certificate from a Physician 20 years ago, Before the Medical College, Glasgow.

I do hereby certify, that by request of scores of my patients and others, I have analyzed what is known as old Dr Judson's Worm Candy Sticks; on analysis, I find it to contain nothing that is the least injurious to the youngest infant. I find that the Medicine used, acts specifically on the Worms, and is a perfect regulator of the debilitated system—knowing this to be the fact, and the medicine so pleasantly disguised in a candy stick, I strongly recommend to this Board of Physicians to prescribe Dr. Judson's Dead Shot Worm Candy to all of their patients that are troubled with the common or Tape Worm.

[Signed] C. H. MACPHERSON, M. D.
Analytical Chemist.

Old Dr. Judson expressed a wish that this Remedy should be put at such a price as would enable all, THE POOR ESPECIALLY, to use it. In deference to that wish, we have put it at following price.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her

Soothing Syrup,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over thirty years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed, in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it; on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we do know," after thirty years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skilful nurses in New England, and has been used with never-failing success in

THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve and overcomes convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in Children, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC,

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be far the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years; and when resorted to in season, seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaint, &c.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

PULMONARY COMPLAINTS

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact over their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these:—

Such testimony
CANNOT BE DISCREDITED.

From the mass of evidence in our possession we select the following:—

From L. J. RACINE, Esq.,

of La Minerve, Montreal. "Having experienced the most gratifying results from the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I am induced to express the great confidence which I have in its efficacy. For nine months I was most cruelly afflicted with a severe and obstinate cough, accompanied with acute pain in the side, which did not leave me, summer or winter. The symptoms increased alarmingly, and so reduced was I that I could walk but a few steps without resting to recover from the pain and fatigue which so slight an exertion occasioned. At this juncture I commenced taking the Balsam, from which I found immediate relief, and after having used four bottles I was completely restored to health. I have used the Balsam in my family, and administered it to my children, with the happiest results. I am sure that such Canadians as use the Balsam can but speak in its favor. It is a preparation which has only to be tried to be acknowledged as the remedy par excellence."

A CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH.

St. Hyacinthe, C.E., Aug. 21, 1856.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Son.

Gentlemen:—Several months since a little daughter of mine, ten years of age, was taken with Whooping Cough in a very aggravated form, and nothing we could do for her seemed in any way to relieve her suffering. We at length decided to try a bottle of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. In three hours after she had commenced using it, she was greatly relieved, and in less than three days was entirely cured, and is now well. I have since recommended the Balsam to many of my neighbors, who have used it, and in no case have I known it fail of effecting a speedy cure.

You are at liberty to make any use of the above you think proper. If it shall induce anybody to use your Balsam I shall be glad, for I have great confidence in it.

Yours, P. GUITTE,
Proprietor of the Courrier de St. Hyacinthe.
