BRIDGETOWN W. I.

The annual meeting of Bridgetown Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George Turner on Nov. 3. Sixteen members answered the roll call by paying dues.

The meeting opened by repeating the Creed in unison. A brief address by the president was followed by the financial report by the secretary-treasurer and reading of minutes of annual meeting and monthly meetings.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Mrs. Raymond Acorn; Vice-Pres., Mrs. George Turner; Sec'y - Treas., Mrs. V. H. Dockendorff; Auditors, Mrs. Brian Clay and Miss Phyllis Clay. Directors, Mrs. R. Clay and Mrs. Paul Kingsbury.

Plans were discussed for raising money for Institute funds in the months ahead. The sum of five dollars was donated to King's County Memorial Hospital. The members volunteered to do a quantity of sewing and knitting for the Red Cross.

The sick committee reported that all sick persons in the district had been visited during the past month. Cards had been sent to friends in the hospital, and a card of sympathy to a member who had been bereaved.

The school committee reported that a pump and a new stove were urgently needed in the school, and it was decided to bring this matter to the attention of the School Board. The Institute undertook to purchase three music books, and several other small articles needed in the school.

The improving of the school grounds was said to be progressing favourably.

For entertainment there was an amusing contest, "Radio Slogans" by Mrs. Kingsbury. After adjournment, a delicious lunch served by the hostess brought their very enjoyable meeting to a close.

The Mendelssohn choir of Toronto was founded in 1894 by the late Augustus Vogt.
