RELIGIOUS SERVICES

HOLY REDEEMER CHURCH

Holy Name Sunday was observed yesterday at Holy Redeemer Church. At the 7:30 Mass the members of the Society attended and received Holy Communion in a body. Rev. Father O'Hara preached impressive sermons at the three Masses.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

A large congregation greeted our new Minister, Rev. A. E. McKenzie as he delivered his initial sermon at yesterday morning's service. There were a number of visitors present, including those who have returned once more to enjoy the beauties of their former home and for whom the subject of Rev. Mr. McKenzie's message was "The sufficiency of Christ. I determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ and Him crucified," 1 Cor. 2-2.

The confidence and assurance with which Saint Paul makes this statement is somewhat amazing. Mere familiarity with his teachings will not do. He must not be limited in our life and thought. It requires thorough intimacy to nurture true love and devotion. "I know Jesus Christ," there must be no indifference. There must be the conviction that Christ can and deserves to win this world. The Communist knows his message and he believes it. Moreover, he is determined that all men shall know and believe just what he does.

Why should there be a difference in the attitude of Christians? The preacher made a plea to the young and to all to recapture that conviction and certainty that we are St. Paul's so that whatever our condition or feeling is: joy, sorrow, pleasure, pain, succeeding or failing, He understands and He can help us as can no other. He is sufficient for our needs and in Him alone is found abundant life. The handsome flowers which adorned the pulpit days, presented in loving memory of the late Mrs. Alfred Affleck, added much to the brightness, the beauty and the delight of the service.

The musical part of the service comprised two solos, one by Mr. Wilfred McDonald of Covehead, the other by Miss Berna M. Heestis, both of which were received with appreciation. The children's hymn was "This is my Father's World, And to His Hand I cling." All Nature Sings and Round Me Rings the Music of the Spheres," after which they retired for their separate Bible study led by Rev. H. Miller. At the evening service Rev. Hugh Miller was the preacher and spoke from the text Luke, 23-39, "It thou be the Christ save Thyself and not pointing out the unreasonableness of such a demand."

ST. JAMES KIRK

"Now the coat was without seam, woven from the top throughout." These words, taken from St. John's Gospel, chapter XXIV, verse 23, formed the text for a most convincing sermon preached at St. James Presbyterian Church yesterday morning.

There was a large turnout of regular worshippers and many visiting friends were also in attendance. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Mr. Moorehead Legate, D.D. "Under the Roman law in Palestine in our Lord's time, it was the custom of soldiers who performed the execution of criminals, to claim as their own the clothes of the one they had put to death."

The coat of crack which Jesus wore was made in one piece. It was seamless, just as His life was a seamless one. In His life there was no seam between God and man. There was no line between what we term sacred and what we term secular. Jesus drew no line between the interests of self and the interests of others. In fact His whole life was devoted to the end that we should get away from the power and curse of selfishness. He came for the salvation of humanity. He was human. The fact that Jesus was human gives us a claim on Him, and we can call Him brother. Yet we must never forget that He was God as well as man. If He was only human, and nothing more, we would be following a mere philosophy. Philosophies have been given to the world by many great men, but it is Christ's divinity that makes our Christian religion, the only true religion. To Jesus there was no difference between the sacred and the secular life. To Him a man's religion was shown by the way he did his work; a man's daily work could be worship.

We are too much inclined to draw a line between the secular and the sacred. We make a seam between Sunday and Monday, between the religious and the secular life. To Him a man's religion was shown by the way he did his work; a man's daily work could be worship. We are too much inclined to draw a line between the secular and the sacred. We make a seam between Sunday and Monday, between the religious and the secular life. To Him a man's religion was shown by the way he did his work; a man's daily work could be worship.

During the offertory a solo was presented by Mrs. H. G. Henderson.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The services at the Central Christian Church yesterday were conducted by Rev. E. J. Chisholm of St. John, N.B., former pastor of the churches at Cross Roads, Hazelbrook and Alexandria. His sermon at the morning service emphasized consecration, showing how great things can be accomplished by consecrated, willing workers in the Kingdom.

He instanced how much had been accomplished in his own congregation in St. John because of the willingness of the people to be led. At the evening service his subject was taken from 2 Timothy 4-7: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." Mr. Chisholm traced the life of Paul and asked his hearers if they, like Paul, would be able to state at the close of life they had fought a good fight and kept the faith.

He referred to the pleasure of being back in Prince Edward Island and meeting his many friends made during his ministry here, and the joy it gave him to have the privilege of supplying the pulpit of the Central Christian Church. The music for the day consisted of a quartette "Take Thou the Breath of Life" by Messrs. Craswell, MacKay, Beck and Stewart, and an anthem "I Will Forgive," by the choir. Mr. Chisholm announced he will again occupy the pulpit of this church next Lord's Day.

Scout News and Notices

Brother Scouts. — The Provincial Camp broke up Saturday, the 11th inst. Mixed with feelings of gladness at again seeing home, were feelings of regret at leaving a beautiful camp site and the many friends found in a Boy Scout Camp. We all hope to meet again in a bigger, better camp next year.

Friday night's camp fire was one of the best. The Camp Chief took the opportunity to say "goodbye" to the assembled Scouts and Leaders, expressing his thanks to all for their contribution to the success of the Camp. He made marked reference to the work of the Patrol Leaders, who had helped by their untiring zeal to make the camp a success.

A feature of the camp fire was the reading by Mrs. F. A. Driscoll of a paper describing a Boy Scout Camp as she saw it.

Previous to gathering for the Camp Fire the boys went about and "bounced" everybody, from the mascot to the camp chief.

The extension of the Provincial Camp for Boy Scouts started on Saturday, 11th inst. Up-to-date thirteen Scouts have reported as follows: King's Scout—Durrell Murray, 7th Ch'town Troop. Scout Geo. McNeil, 1st S'side Troop.

Scout Louis Moore, 1st S'side Troop. Scout Herb. Stright, 1st S'side Troop. Scout Keith Mollison, 1st S'side Troop. Scout Robert Brennan, 1st S'side Troop.

Scout Clair Kelly, 1st S'side Troop. Scout Francis Arsenault, 1st S'side Troop. Scout Henry Souler, 1st S'side Troop. Scout Stuart Peppin, 7th Ch'town Troop.

Scout Robert Large, 3rd Ch'town Troop. Scout Dan Nicholson, 3rd Ch'town Troop. Ralph Smith (Smitty) cycled down from Charlottetown Saturday night to spend the week-end at camp.

A full list of Scouts attending the Provincial Boy Scout Camp will be issued next Saturday, also a list of tests passed.

The Baptist Wolf Cub Pack of Charlottetown are going to camp at DeRoma from 15th to 18th inst, inclusive. Zion Wolf Cubs, Charlottetown, will be in camp from 25th to 28th. —Grey Wolf.

ORANGEMEN

(Continued from Page 1) and outlook while the persecution made to Christian faith is a dangerous one. Their very success made for added difficulty because the patronage of the emperors which was presently achieved tended to lower the standard of religion's purity and made for decay.

With the division of the Roman Empire the leadership divided east from west. In the west the continued patronage of the Caesars proved to be more than a doubtful asset and laid the foundation for a great demand for reform.

The great Reformation movement of the middle ages swept western Europe. In the motherland it found its expression very specially in the drive for liberty to have the Bible and worship God in the language of the people. Great men like Ridley, Latimer, and many others went to the stake for their faith. The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church.

CANOE COVE CAMPERS RETURN HOME

The Boys Camp at Canoe Cove operated jointly by the M. R. E. O. and Y. M. C. A. closed Saturday morning. This camp, conducted this year particularly for junior boys, has had very satisfactory results judging from the interest and keen participation of the boys in the programs from day to day.

At the closing Camp Fire programme on Friday night, Clarence McDonald of Bradshaw received the Silver Cup award as the best athlete of the group throughout the period of the camp. Murray Willett of Summerside received similar recognition as the best all-round camper. Special speakers at the Camp Fire throughout the period were Mr. Geo. Ayres, Col. Keith S. Rogers, Dr. J. A. Clark and Rev. A. M. McKensie.

The Camp Committee acknowledged with grateful thanks the helpful contributions made by these visitors to the camp and also the assistance of the following in supplying cars for special trips, transporting boys to and from the camp: Dr. J. A. Clark, A. Pickard, F. M. Stewart, G. Claude Smith, Fred Small, E. E. Clawson, Mrs. F. S. Chandler, J. W. Boulter, E. V. Bell, Rev. Geo. Christie and Rev. A. F. Baker.

The Camp Committee and particularly the leaders and boys have appreciated the kindness of Rev. Geo. Christie and Mr. Ed Acorn in supplying treats for the camp—the former donating strawberries for a supper and the latter contributing a supply of ice cream.

The Canadian Girls in Training took over the camp grounds Saturday for their camp which will carry through until July 23rd, to be followed by a Baptist Young People's Leadership Training Camp.

Personals

Miss Marjorie Duffy, City, is visiting in Rosebank.

Miss Marjorie Mitchell of Montreal is the guest of Miss Edith Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shaw, Upper Prince St.

Mrs. Austin Donahoe, Rosebank has returned from Quebec where she was attending the pilgrimage to Ste. Ann De Beaupre, Councillor and Mrs. F. W. Boyd of Westville, N. S. were among the excursionists on Sunday. They visited Mrs. Boyd's niece, Mrs. Percy Gregory, Malpeque Road. Miss Noreen Gregory returned with them to Westville where she will spend her vacation.

The congregation was reminded of the succeeding contributions until the coming of the Prince of Orange, following the Stuart Kings, established firmly the traditions of the English throne.

Reviewing the historical background, the speaker reminded his hearers that "the religion which is ours has come to us at great cost." Continuing, he spoke of the "liberty which is ours, liberty to worship God in our own way, to read in our own language and of the priceless inheritance which is ours to pass on to the following generations in the words of St. Paul he charged his hearers to "stand fast in the liberty wherewith Christ has made us free." These privileges and this inheritance make their demands upon all for loyalty to the memory of those who have gone before.

"It expects of us a high standard of living, moral honesty and God fearing exhibiting the fruit of our faith and the kindness of charity which recognizes other people have grown up in tradition vastly different from our own. People are not won by persuasion or opposition but by the kindly expression of the Christian faith in neighbourliness and love," Rev. Mr. Raymond said.

Finally the congregation was reminded that the greatest thing in life is the gift of Christ that, having allowed Him to come into one's life, lesser interests will adjust themselves.

Salvation Army

Canada, Bermuda and Newfoundland, I also welcome Mrs. MacMillan and the other members of the travelling party," His Honour Lt.-Governor DeBlois said in his introductory remarks.

"Since assuming my office as representative of His Majesty the King in this province it has been my privilege to welcome to Prince Edward Island many notable persons from different parts of the world, but in all sincerity I wish to say that this afternoon in welcoming the Commissioner of the Salvation Army I am not unmindful of the honour and the privilege that is mine," he continued. "We welcome Commissioner MacMillan not merely because of the high and important office that he holds, but because we know that he makes the influence of that office felt wherever he goes."

"I have always been deeply interested in the work of the Salvation Army whose motto or slogan is 'A man may be down but never out.' "I have watched with admiration the magnificent work that the Army is doing for the people of this Dominion and Empire and throughout the world, and while I feel that no one can properly estimate the real value of the work done in a week of their lives and compelling them through methods of love and kindness, which know no religious boundaries, to make a new start in life and to accept the truth of God's everlasting and redeeming love, the love that alone is able to satisfy the longing and the need of every human being and that has the power to transform life."

"That my friends, few words is the mission message that the Salvation Army is daily bring to those in prison, to the sick and to those who have suffered adversity and are finding the burden of life heavy to bear and the Army in proclaiming this gospel of love of hope and of light is making a contribution of very great value to humanity as a whole and is rendering a great service in helping to promote the spiritual force that is necessary to maintain the peace and contentment of the world."

"I understand that Commissioner MacMillan enjoys the distinction of being the first Canadian trained officer to occupy the office of Commissioner and I would like to assure him that I follow Canadians and as fellow Christians we are justly proud of his splendid record of unselfish service and of his loyalty and devotion to the

Robt. Simpson's

Plan Expansion

"We have very definite plans and policies for the expansion and improvement of our Charlottetown and Prince Edward Island activities, coincidental with the appointment of F. A. Stewart Jones as Simpson's special representative," said Lionel L. Shatford of Halifax, Maritime Agency Supervisor of The Robert Simpson Eastern Limited, who has been in Charlottetown for the past two or three days, accompanied by his assistant, J. W. Campbell.

Mr. Shatford informed the Guardian that after careful consideration of various factors, it has been decided to substantially improve the show room premises on Grafton Street, the contract of these improvements having been let to local firms today.

It is anticipated that all of these improvements will have been completed within the next two or three weeks. Orders have been placed for several carloads of new merchandise for immediate shipment to Charlottetown, and announcement of the big expansion sale will be made in due course in the columns of this newspaper.

Mr. Shatford left on return to Halifax today. Mr. Campbell will remain for an indefinite period to superintend the improvements which are being made in the store.

Mr. Shatford is a cousin of the late beloved Canon Allan Shatford of Montreal, one of the most eloquent and distinguished divines in Canada. He visited the Island several years ago and will be kindly remembered by many of our citizens.

The announcement that Mr. Jones has been appointed in charge of the agency here will be learned with great satisfaction by our people. He is a young man of marked executive ability and the Simpson people have been fortunate in securing his services. His active interest in the development of everything pertaining to the welfare of this city has frequently been demonstrated.
