

S'side Naval Cadet Enrols at HMCS Venture, Esquimault

Bruce M. White, son of Mrs. Ruby White, Summerside, is one of eighty-nine young men from across Canada who have been enrolled this fall as naval cadets at HMCS Venture, junior officer training establishment at Esquimault, B. C. He was chosen for the course by a special selection board which met at Halifax this summer.

CADET WHITE

The Venture Plan was introduced in 1954 to extend the opportunity of a naval career to more young Canadians and to provide another avenue of advancement for regular force and reserve personnel.

Besides academic instruction, the cadets will receive basic instruction, ashore and afloat, in piloting and navigation, marine engineering, seamanship and other subjects.

A comprehensive sports and recreation program is also followed. Venture cadets intending to specialize in naval aviation receive sufficient flying training with the Victoria Flying Club to qualify for an "A" license. Graduates are promoted to midshipmen and appointed for flying training at the U.S. Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Florida. The other cadets are promoted, on graduation, to midshipmen and appointed for naval courses before being sent to sea to obtain watchkeeping certificates.

Graduates from the two-year course under the Venture Plan are entered in the navy on a seven-year short-service appointment during which they may apply for a permanent commission.

Launch Final Campaign For P.C. Catholic Welfare Agency

SUMMERSIDE — Approximately 160 women of St. Pauls parish gathered at an enthusiastic meeting in the Parish Centre on Tuesday evening to launch a penny a meal campaign to raise funds for the operation of the Prince County Catholic Welfare Agency in the current year.

A campaign to raise $8,000 for this year's program is to be held all over the county and Henry Wedge, president of the agency, stated that he is writing all the parish priests in the county asking them to make arrangements to raise a per capita amount in their respective parishes.

Mr. Wedge stated that not sufficient money was raised last year to carry on the full program of the agency and he hoped that this year the people will be more generous in their donations so that this important work of social assistance can be carried out as planned.

The program in the various parishes will take different forms as the people decide and last night's meeting was for the purpose of starting a four month campaign in Summerside by which all adults are being asked to save a penny a meal.

Mr. Wedge presided at the meeting and outlined the history of the agency and explained why it had been established here over a year ago. He described the work that is performed and the manner in which money is spent. He gave a statistical report which in complete detail explained the various services rendered. He urged the workers to co-operate fully in this important work being carried on by the Sisters of St. Martha.

Mr. T. Earl Hickey, treasurer of the agency and a member of the finance committee, outlined how this penny a meal campaign will work. He said that the workers will be divided into teams under team captains and that each worker will be responsible for several families.

They will deliver a penny a meal sticker to each of these families and ask them to place this sticker on a jam bottle or some other container which will become a bank in which they will be asked to deposit their pennies.

The workers will call at these homes every month and collect the donations.

Rev. J.P.E. O'Hanley, the pastor of St. Pauls congratulated the women for turning out in such large numbers. He said that they will be working a good cause and knew they would be successful.

The two other members of the finance committee, Earle McDonald and Fred Gallant, were also present at the meeting and helped in the distribution of the stickers and the allocation of names.
