

Nassau Contest Winners Have Native Club Tour

Sunday afternoon saw the gathering of the Nassau and Miami four winners with relatives and friends at the Charlotteville Airport preparatory to their departure on Flight 37 at 4:30 p.m. for Moncton. In a gay and festive mood the group continued on from Moncton via St. John's, Toronto where they stayed overnight at the Skyline Motel, Malton, Ontario. Departure at 11:30 a.m. for Nassau via TCA jet airliner, and they are due to arrive in Nassau at 1:30 p.m. They will transfer from the airport to the beautiful Montagu Beach Hotel which will be their home for the next three days. The afternoon they see them getting acquainted with their new surroundings, following by dinner at the hotel. The evening is given over to a night life tour of native clubs, and floor show, dancing and refreshments at each club. Then back to the hotel to rest, or perhaps discuss to some extent the events of the day. We surmise this could last to the wee small hours of the morning.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES A. ALLABY Wedding Reception Held At Shining Waters Lodge

Baskets of summer flowers in shades of white, mauve and yellow formed an attractive setting in First Baptist Church, Charlottetown, P.E.I., for the August wedding of Letha Ruth Warren, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Warren, North Bluff, and James Ardon Allaby, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Allaby, Sussex, N.E.W. Brunswick.

The Reverend T.W. Howard, North River, assisted by Reverend A. Ross Russell, Sussex, New Brunswick, officiated at the double rite ceremony.

The soloist, Mrs. Stirling MacLeod, sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "The Voice That Breathed 'O Eden'" during the signing of the register. The bride's maid was the direction of the church organist, Mrs. V. Leigh Dingwell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of fallé taffeta, Swiss embroidery encircling the draped elongated bodice, which featured scooped neckline, and long tapering sleeves. The bouffant skirt billowed into a chapel train, and her bouffant veil of French tulle was held in place by a Queen Elizabeth crown of crystals and pearls. Her only attendant was single strand of pearls. She carried a white lace covered Bible, the gift of her groom, upon which she clustered white carnations and red rose buds.

The bride's attendants were four of her cousins, Mrs. Peter Austin, matron of honor, Miss Lynn Anne Warren, maid of honor, Mrs. Beverley Simpson and Miss Marilyn Laird as bridesmaids.

Mrs. Austin wore a street length gown of mauve silk organza over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice and elbow length sleeves the bateau neck-line dipped low at the back and featuring a single strand of pearls gracefully from the neckline to control the hemline of the intricately draped skirt.

Mrs. Simpson and Miss Laird were attired in gowns of green silk and white tulle, taffeta styled similarly to that of the matron of honor. All the attendants wore matching bouffant dresses of nylon tulle, matching shoes, and short white gloves, their only accessories being strands of pearls. They carried nosegays of white and matching tulle and white streamers.

And James nothing this will say "Well, I reckon this is it, Ellen! Let's pick up any of the axes and hammers and other things lying about, so that if they won't be lost to us as a result of the snow. Because, by the signs, there's a snowfall now brewing."

Today their mamas cued the piglets in the stroy beds, having sensed early the approach of the present cold weather. The balmy weekend was kind to them in that it had some within the area of the farmer's profit so far there has been only one loss.

So the fall younglings arrive: the kittens and piglets. And, as well, to charm the youngsters, of late there came a new calf. "We should make a good one!" Mack welcoming it said.

Now Night with its "thousand eyes" tells away, fancifully as do maiden number on the daisy petals one by one in summer; another October day, a Monday. It flutters dark on the dim shadows a moment... then is gone. Well, tomorrow - Diary - Good-night...

AS OUR party entered the reception lobby of the Hawaiian Hotel, a charming diminutive Japanese girl, Miss Sybil Seto of Honolulu, welcomed us, carrying "Ja."

"A lei to harmonize with the bright blue bikini you wear," she murmured to me, carefully selecting a lei of blue flowers. "The beads perhaps you bought in Peralta?" she added. And she was right.

Then through a spacious dining room with Polynesian decor she led us to a special alcove walled with bamboo, garden-fresh with trailing vines, softly lighted and just large enough for our party of four, all interested in unusual foods.

We each decided to order the soup of our choice, then each a different entree, the four entrees to be divided into four portions and served on a large plate to each of us for comparing reactions and the fun of taste-testing.

Here are some word-pictures of entrees from the lavish menu of the "Hawaiian Hut" in Portland's Eastland Hotel in Maine.

The washing action that dares to be different up down—330 times a minute

Why up and down? Less wear and tear on clothes. Only a Frigidaire Washer's agitator works this way. All Frigidaire Washers work up and down. Not sideways.

Why not sideways? Because sideways agitators wash by dragging clothes through the water. Back and forth. Back and forth. Too many pulled threads.

Up and down is kinder to your clothes. Safer. Instead of dragging clothes through the water, the Frigidaire agitator pumps sudies water through the clothes. Keeps clothes totally under-water too. Always circulating. Never letting them ride up.

And it works. Give even the heaviest, dirtiest denims 6000 ups and downs and they come thoroughly clean. But that's easy. The real test is with your dainty things. They don't take kindly to backs and forths. But they come clean gently with ups and downs. No drag. Anything you can put in water can be washed in the Frigidaire up-down Washer.

More facts: You can use liquid or powder washing aids. You can spin water out fast when washing's done, leaving clothes brily damp and saving drying time. Still more facts? See your Frigidaire Washer dealer. See his matching dryers, too.

ELLEN'S DIARY

A Cozy, Cracking Fire Makes Teakettle Sing

Wind-blown, one day was. In-ellnd to be the "well, it's as you like" James agreed. Smoothly then the drive truck headed out to a roundup at the other farm. Marketable lambs were of ewes too were freed from the flock in a day disposal. Re-coming to town. Cpl. Miss E. Hunt of Gen. Hill, N.B.; and Mrs. Dale Hicks, Moncton, N.B. (Photo by Bob Hambley)

And then when we later spread a few pieces, it was to notice that the surroundings, so far as summer not long ago, were empty now of birdsong, bare too of former flowerings about. The startling's cottage in the heights of the garage was closed, curtains drawn, chimney smokeless. The robins long ago deserted their home in the birch trees, though they still search the edge of keening wind, near the meadow for lost treasure. Shreds of the goldfinches' shreds, the goldfinches by contrasted house, remain in the rookshrub—and in so woolly and soft-lined with the silk of the spring dandelions painstakingly gathered. No sound today of crickets' lament. Gone now were so many delights of the year.

Wind-blown, our day. "How about us today up that back of a bee log? We'll never get a better time for it."

Sherbrooke Will Supply Layette Items

Mrs. Alvin Matthews entertained the Sherbrooke WI for the October meeting. Mrs. Earle Chappelle, president, was in charge.

Roll call was answered by each of the 15 members in attendance naming her favourite TV or radio programme. Correspondence was read and bills voted to be paid. A discussion buying a coffee maker followed and $2.00 was voted for the Unitarian Service Committee. It was decided that each member bring an item for layette to the next meeting while it is held at home of Mrs. Fred Macdonald.

Mrs. James Harris entertained with a contest which was thoroughly enjoyed. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. James Harris and Mrs. Martin Keldker. "God Save the Queen" brought a pleasant evening to a close.
