

Household Scrapbook

Stronger Buttons
If the button is to have considerable strain, it is a good idea to put a small piece of old kid glove or chamois skin under the button...

Grain Effect in Wood
Beauty of finish and the greatest possible grain effect in wood can be obtained with a treatment of linseed oil applied directly to the bare wood.

Rag Rugs
Dip the ends of rag rugs into starch. When dry, press well and the rugs will lie straight on the floor.

Morning Smile

Asked For It
For several minutes the young man did not speak. His heart was too full. It was enough for him to know that this glorious creature loved him; that she had promised to be his wife.

His good fortune seemed incredible. Finally he whispered, tenderly: "How did it happen, darling, that such a bright, shining angel as yourself fell in love with a dull, stupid fellow like me?"

NO SLEEP SLUGGISH?

Get relief from constipation—indigestion. Positive results from FRUIT-A-TIVES proven by tens of thousands. FRUIT-A-TIVES contain extracts of fruits and herbs.

Anne Adams Patterns

WEEKLY SEW-THRIFTY!
SAVES work! Time! Money! This easy-fitting, long-wearing threesome is what you need for Fall Cleaning! Apron ties on; slacks, blouse grand for sports too.

GETTING UP Getting you Down?
If morning finds you only half rested, still weary—if your sleep is broken by fitful tossing and turning—your kidneys may be to blame.

KENNEDY'S ANNOUNCING FALL FASHIONS IN COATS
All these wonderful styles to choose from! Fitted Coats - Flared Coats - Boxy Coats - Pyramid Coats - Belted Coats - Storm Coats.

Swan-Gibson Wedding At Dunstaffnage

Shown above are Mr. and Mrs. C. Blair Swan, who were married in Central United Church, Dunstaffnage, on Saturday, September 1. Left to right are Mr. Charles Cannon, groomsman; Mr. and Mrs. Swan, the former Miss Lobel Marie Gibson; Miss Alva Mutart, maid of honour; Miss June Gibson, bridesmaid; and ushers, Mr. Allen Welch, Kansas City, and Mr. Keith Dalziel.

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.
MORE ABOUT OUT-PATIENT CLINICS IN GENERAL HOSPITALS TO CURE ALCOHOLICS

I write about alcohol and alcoholism frequently because governments, various voluntary organizations and the public generally have become aware of the great mistake we have all been making in not considering alcoholism as a defect in the make-up of an individual...

That the alcoholic is really a sick man or woman and should have the care of a physician instead of the police has been shown to us by the Yale School for Study of Alcoholism and other organizations such as Alcoholics Anonymous.

The pattern of organization or method followed is similar to that of other clinics operated cooperatively by the Department of Public Health. It is intended that these clinics facilities for alcoholism shall be part of the regular services offered the community by the hospital.

We read in The New England Medical Journal that at these clinics "the patient must be helped to adjust his life, without alcohol, to the community and its environment wherein he lives or expects to live. Merely to keep the alcoholic sober in the artificial environment in an institution instead of the environment of his home community, or depending on special treatment, is expensive, ineffective and certain to lead to failure."

Cook's Corner

PEACH CHUTNEY
Four cups granulated sugar, 1 1/2 pts. cider vinegar, 5 lbs. peaches, 2 medium seedless oranges, 4 lemons, 1/2 lb. preserved citron, 2 cups seedless raisins, 2 minced cloves garlic, 2 cups chopped, peeled onions, 3 seeded green peppers, chopped.

PICKLED PEACHES
Pour boiling water over 8 lbs. peaches. Let stand until skins can be removed easily. Dip in cold water and peel. Stick 3 whole cloves in each. Make syrup of 8 1/2 cups granulated sugar, 1 qt. cider vinegar, 2 cups water; seven 3 inch sticks cinnamon, 2 tablespoons whole cloves, 2 tablespoons whole all-spice.

ELLEN'S DIARY

"This is the life!" Karolyn laughed arriving on foot and somewhat breathless in time to attend to the dinner preparations at this house today. Her men were already in the harvest-field, had been there since dew-lift this morning stripping this or that piece of stubble along the farm.

"Yes" Jeanie agreed with an answering smile, dropping a sizable turnip at our door and coaxing Mack to follow her then to her care in the house across the lane.

"And what did we do with it?" Karolyn stopped a moment to ask soberly as at dusk she entered the truck for the homing. She sighed, "I'm sure I don't know—every day just flits by... there's no holding them!" And how does a day at the threshing go, so that very soon it is only a memory?

"The regular rhythm of the machinery fading in naturally with the other sounds and sights of this season seems in its importance to provide a background for the rest... for the golden glory of the sunlight along the slopes and the haze of September on the far hills—for the soft wandering wind, the lazy drift of clouds in the blue, the quiet sheen on the pond-waters and the deepening tints in the woodlands.

Alice Brooks Designs

PROMENADE ALL!
Do-it-do and away you go! Here is the cutest gayest embroidery idea ever! Use these square-dancing motifs on kitchen towels or all around the hem of your new skirt!

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Home Of Their Own
Separate Domicile Needed For Real Family Life
DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I are very happily married and he is wonderful to me. We are living with my in-laws who are the most wonderful parents anyone could ask for, especially since my own parents have passed away.

ANSWER: Every young couple should have their own home just as soon as possible. The very essence of marriage is the establishment of a separate domicile in which to raise a new family.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 17 and just as unhappy as I can be. I work and make my own money but my brothers and sisters always want to know what I buy with it. They are all busy trying to ruin my life, and making me miserable. I have no privacy at all.

ANSWER: Your plait is a common one with the "youngest of the family." Your brothers and sisters are not trying to make you miserable. They love you dearly, and are simply interested in your activities.

Elizabeth and Philip: Royal But Real

Prince and Princess 'Move In With the In-Laws'
By ARTHUR J. MATHERS
NEA Special Correspondent
LONDON—(NEA)—Steeped in British tradition—and in love with England's Princess Elizabeth—Philip was instructing naval cadets at Corsham in 1944, a lieutenant in the Royal Navy.

But a few weeks after Elizabeth had sailed for South Africa in January, 1947, Philip became a naturalized Briton and got himself a surname. He shed his titles, took the name of his uncle, and became simply Lieut. Philip Mountbatten.

SHE GETS A BOUQUET: Princess Elizabeth receives a bouquet from two little girls during the royal tour of South Africa in 1947. King George and Queen Elizabeth watch in background.

laughter which resulted. "And," as the South Africans themselves say, "to make a Boer laugh is something."

Without hesitation the Princess walked across to the tragic vehicle and gave each of the lever children an individual wave and smile. Neither South Africa nor Elizabeth have forgotten that incident. Soon after her first child, Prince Charles, was born Elizabeth "adopted" a leper on his behalf.

But the real highlight of that South African tour came three days before the Royal Family returned home. In Capetown, on April 21, Elizabeth celebrated her 21st birthday and made a "solemn dedication" to the British Commonwealth in a world-wide radio broadcast.

HE GETS A NAME: Prince Philip, here saluting at Corsham in 1947, became a British citizen and plain Philip Mountbatten.

three years for Elizabeth and Philip in more ways than one. Their two children were born: Prince Charles (Nov. 14, 1949), and Princess Anne (Aug. 15, 1950). Philip got his first command (the destroyer Mägpie) and, against a spate of ill-directed criticism, Elizabeth, like many other navy wives went out to live with her husband in Malta.

Tomorrow: A new role for Philip.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "I soon realized that it was no use to continue on."
2. What is the correct pronunciation in milk to stiffen it. Press it on the wrong side.

How Can I!!!

Q. How can I clean flat silver satisfactorily?
A. It can be quickly cleaned and without any harm done to it, by covering it with sour milk and boiling for three minutes. This is a very effective method.

CONSTIPATED BABY

Nothing better to help clear out bowels quickly—yet gently. No "sloopy" stuff—no dulling effect. Used by Mothers for more than 50 years.