Gold nuggets continue to be plentiful in the mining regions of British Columbia. A $100 nugget was recently brought down from Stanley, Cariboo, and an $80 nugget was found in the same district about the same time. It was in the same section that a $480 nugget was found by a Chinaman, and one for $400 by a prospector in the bottom of Williams Creek.

Russia appears to have been the power that prevented the success of European efforts to relieve the Armenian Christians from their sore persecution. She feared intervention might lead to the establishment of an independent Armenian state in Asia Minor, between her borders and Constantinople. She wants the territory it would be made out of for herself. She is about as heartless as the Turk.

Advices received at Rome from Massowal, state that Menk, King of the Abyssinians, after an attack on the Italians under Gen. Baratieri, withdrew from the strong position lately held by him. It is stated that the Abyssinians are now encamped at Enowa awaiting an attack. Gen. Baratieri is reported to have started for Adowa. Now that all reinforcements of Gen. Baratieri have arrived, he has under his immediate command 36,000 men. With the exception of North Africa this is the largest army ever sent from Europe to the back continent.

In the Reichstag last week Herr Richter declared that harmony between England and Germany meant peace throughout the world. War, he said, would work damage to Germany. It would be disastrous to England in India, in the Bosphorus and in Egypt. Herr Belzel, socialist, condemned the congratulatory telegram sent by the Emperor to President Kruger of the South African Republic, which he said justly aroused the indignation of England. If the case had been one involving France or Russia instead of England, he declared the message would never have been sent. If such a policy were ventured upon he predicted that Germany would some day be awakened by a dire catastrophe. He attacked the policy of Germany in the east.

WILL NOT BE MISREPRESENTED. SIR,—We, the members of the Christian Temperance Union having seen Mr. Howard Haszard's card in a recent issue of your paper, feel it our duty to answer it, as we are unwilling to bear even a share of misrepresentation. We were duly appointed and had the pleasure of canvassing for three committees whom we were afterwards pleased to see elected with so handsome a majority. We did not, however, canvass either for or against Mr. Haszard nor did we canvass for or against Mr. Dawson.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE 82nd BATTALION.

Sir,—In the Patriot of the 5th inst., I noticed a letter from a person signed "Private," suggesting that the present matter was represented by the D. J. C. of the district to the Adjutant General of Ottawa, in order to complete the establishment of the 82nd Battalion. The idea is a good one, and I have no doubt that if the matter was represented by the D. J. C. of the district to the Adjutant General of Ottawa, the request would be granted.

Charlottetown has at present the finest Companies of Artillery in the Dominion, as has been demonstrated by the last efficiency competition. The reason that they have attained such a state of efficiency, is simply because there has been and still exists, a sort of jealous rivalry between the two Companies, the one striving to outdo the other.

Now, Sir, since we have as "Private" says abundant material at our command, why not raise another Company of Infantry could not be raised in Charlottetown, and then the same friendly rivalry that exists between the artillery companies would exist between those of the infantry and the consequence would be that ere long Charlottetown would be the boast of having the "two best" artillery and infantry companies in the Dominion.

Hoping that the Deputy Adjutant General will apply for an obtain permission to take the necessary steps to raise the Company, I am

Yours, etc.

MURRAY HARBOR SOUTH MAIL COURIER.

Sir,—As Murray Harbor South is a great distance from railway accommodation, it is well to let the travelling public know the best means of reaching here in winter, which, to my mind, is by placing yourself in charge of our genial friend, Mr. John J. McDonald, of Montague Bridge, who now has the contract of carrying Her Majesty's mails from Cardigan Station through by way of Montague Bridge to Murray Harbor South. On arriving at Cardigan you will be met by Mr. Duncan McDonald, who will spare no pains to make you comfortable with wraps and furs for the drive to Montague. On arrival there you will meet a hearty reception from John J. himself, who keeps one of the best hotels in the village. You need not be afraid of catching a cold by remaining over night, as the Village Hotel is heated throughout with hot air and fitted up with all the modern improvements. John J. is a good entertainer, and the hour for retiring arrives before you think of it. In the morning you start in a comfortable sleigh for Murray Harbor South in charge of "Allan," who, by the way, is a brick and can stand all kinds of weather. Come what day may, rain or shine, snow drift or fog, you will be sure to reach your journey's end in safety. This is the hardest route on the Island, but through the pluck and energy displayed by the drivers we seldom ever miss a mail. Your correspondent hopes that when the Southern Railway matures that our esteemed friend John J. will be appointed Conductor of the "Palace Car" in compensation for past hardships and favors.

Yours, etc.

THE MASSACRE AT HISENG.

John Milligan, an Armenian, living in Hartford, Ct., has received from relatives in Armenia, details of the horrible massacre at Hising. One morning the town was surrounded by 4500 soldiers of the Turkish army dressed as Kurds. They had been brought 89 miles to Hising. About 6 o'clock in the morning the soldiers made an attack on the town, killing 258 men, women and children. Some women and young girls were carried to places unknown. About 450 persons were wounded and left without homes their homes having been burned. They have no place to go or anything to eat. Two priests were killed. The soldiers tortured them, tried to make them deny their faith, and become Mohammedans. When they could not change them, they cut off their arms, then their legs, lastly their heads. Some women they cut into four parts and put up on posts. Others they stripped of clothing and made them walk through the streets with them until they fell fainting and exhausted. Milligan has a full list of those killed at Hising.
