

Happenings of The Week

Margaret Truman may have to change her travel plans and fly back to the United States to fulfill her singing commitments. She told a press conference today she may have to go home by air unless her ship leaves Naples July 5 as scheduled. She is scheduled to sail aboard the Constitution which was held up in New York by a seamen's strike. She arrived in Rome accompanied by three secret service men from Paris for what she hoped would be a "strictly private" vacation in Rome and Naples. The U. S. President's daughter seemed particularly pleased that no fuss had been made about her arrival. The "official" greeting party was made up of four couples, including U. S. Ambassador and Mrs. James C. Dunn, and the representatives of the Italian government. Miss Truman was driven directly from the station to the Villa Taverna, home of the Dunns where she will stay during her visit.

In the Church of St. James the Apostle, Montreal, the marriage was solemnized of Miss Patricia Dorothy Carson, daughter of Brigadier Sir Frederick Carson and the late Lady Carson, and Mr. John Brooke Claxton, son of the Minister of National Defence and Mrs. Brooke Claxton, of Ottawa. Rev. Ralph Latimer officiated amidst a setting of white peonies. Mr. J. F. Martin played the wedding music. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and attended by Miss Kathryn Mason, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Helen Claxton, Miss Joanne Hewson, Miss Barbara Watson and Miss Dorothy Anna Carson, as flower girl. Mr. David Claxton was best man and the ushers were Mr. David Mackenzie, Major F. S. Carson, Mr. James Soden, Lt. Col. R. J. Carson, Captain P. J. Carson, Mr. Bruce Chisholm and Mr. Donald Drennan.

Dr. M. M. MacOdrum, president of Carleton College, Mrs. MacOdrum and their young daughter, are leaving Ottawa today to spend a month's vacation in Prince Edward Island.

Rev. James T. Ibbott and his son, Jimmie, are leaving next week aboard the "Franconia" for a holiday in England. They will return to Charlottetown early in September.

Miss Audrey DeBlois is arriving today from Montreal to spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noel H. DeBlois at their Keppoch summer home.

Captain K. R. McLay, Halifax, visited recently with his sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Piercey and Rev. A. Piercey at the Rectory, Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Baker have as their guests Lt. Col. J. K. S. Manuel and Mrs. Manuel. Col. Manuel is on the Headquarters Staff of Eastern Command in Halifax.

Mrs. Wilson E. Hunt of Malden, Mass., who has been visiting with her niece, Mrs. R. R. Bell, is leaving on Monday for home. Mrs. Hunt is sailing in a few weeks time for a holiday in the United Kingdom.

Before the opening dance of the Golf Club a cocktail reception was given at "Lakewood," Tracadie, by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Likely, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hogan, Dr. and Mrs. Kent Irwin, Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Laidlaw.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hartlen leave this week-end for a fishing trip in Nova Scotia.

A Silver Anniversary party was given on Friday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mellish, 20 Brighton Road, in honour of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. P. Jardine who received many gifts in silver from their friends.

At the annual meeting of the Provincial Auxiliary Protestant Orphanage, Mrs. H. E. Miller, on behalf of the Charlottetown Auxiliary, presented Mrs. Henderson with a lovely gift, marking Mrs. Henderson's 25th year as an officer of the Charlottetown Auxiliary.

A choral wedding was solemnized in St. John's Anglican Church, York Mills, Toronto, on Saturday, June sixteenth, when Constance Kennedy Conacher, daughter of Mr. Lionel Conacher, M.P. and Mrs. Conacher was united in marriage with John Frederick Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Payne Murphy of Westmount, Quebec. The Rev. Canon O. C. McCollum officiated. Among the guests was Miss Lena McLure of Charlottetown, Miss Lelia Worthy of this City is godmother to Mrs. Murphy, nee Constance Conacher.

Mrs. W. T. Weir, West St., City, left this week on a visit to friends in Calgary and Vancouver.

Miss Elizabeth Martin has arrived from Toronto, and will spend a month's holiday at Keppoch Beach.

Mrs. Lloyd Wellner entertained at her Keppoch summer home on Tuesday for Mrs. Harry Ritchie of Ottawa who is spending some time visiting at Government House with her brother, Lieutenant Governor T. W. L. Prowse and Mrs. Prowse.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miller have moved to their summer home at Keppoch.

Mrs. Alfred MacNeill entertained at afternoon tea on Tuesday for her aunt, Miss Margaret MacNeill of New York. Mrs. Milton Bell presided at the table and Mrs. Arthur Farquharson assisted the hostess. Miss Francis Farquharson attended the door.

Miss Elaine Porter, whose marriage is taking place on Tuesday next, has been guest of honour at several parties during the week. On Monday, Mrs. Heath MacInlyre and Mrs. Gordon Bell entertained at afternoon tea for her, and on Tuesday evening Mrs. William Warren, who is summering here, gave a bridge for Miss Porter.

Mrs. George J. Rogers and Mrs. Douglas Hill on Thursday entertained at a luncheon for Miss Porter at the Keppoch Beach Hotel.

After the rehearsal of the Van Patter-Porter wedding, Mrs. F. A. Burke will entertain for the bridal party.

After the final performance of Hanzel and Gretel, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lawson gave a party at Inkerman for the cast.

Many parties have been given in honour of Miss Adele Clark, bride-elect. Recently Miss Roma Burke entertained for her at a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. Bert Cameron was hostess at a Community shower, and a party was given by Mr. Harry Norton at their summer home for Miss Clark and Mr. Mick Cameron.

Mrs. James A. Fairly, of Liverpool, formerly of Epsom, who is visiting the Province to renew her friendship with numerous Islanders who enjoyed her hospitality overseas, has been largely entertained during the past ten days. His Honor the Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Prowse formally welcomed her to the Province, and others entertaining her included Mrs. Frank Andrew, Mrs. G. D. Fitzgerald, Misses Mary and Margaret Irving, Mrs. Albert Wilson, Mrs. Melville Andrew, Mrs. Lillian E. Wonnacott, Mrs. I. A. and Mrs. J. E. Burnett.

FitzGerald-Moore Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Terence L. FitzGerald photographed as they cut their wedding cake. The reception was held at Sandy's following their marriage at Saint Peter's Cathedral. Rev. Canon E. M. Malone officiated at the ceremony. —Garnham photo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ives have moved to their summer cottage at Keppoch.

Miss Phyllis Murray entertained on Wednesday evening for her friend, Mrs. Lorne Ives of Kentville who is visiting with Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Hogg.

Hostesses this afternoon at the Golf Tea will be Mrs. Gordon Aard, Mrs. Myron Bell, Mrs. James Burden, Mrs. Walter Sharpe, and Miss Iris MacLellan.

Miss Margaret Gould who has resigned her position on the English Department at Prince of Wales, has returned to her home in Toronto.

Rev. G. Carlyle Webster and Mrs. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Parent have returned from Fredericton, N.B., where they attended the funeral of the Rev. Dr. Frank Baird.

Mrs. Robert Ford, of Toronto who has arrived at "Villa Waters" for the summer, will accompany Dr. and Mrs. Corey and Frank Johnston to Fredericton where they will spend the holiday weekend with Mrs. Bruce Davison.

At the Tennis Club this afternoon, the hostesses will be Miss Barbara Rogers and Miss Allie MacLeod.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Morell will spend Festive Week with her sister, Mrs. R. C. Parent and Mr. Parent, at "Ravenwood". They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morrell.

Miss Christine King, B.A., arrived Wednesday night from Montreal to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. King, Highland Ave., City. On June 28th Miss King was guest soloist at the wedding in St. John's Anglican Church, Ottawa, of Miss Rosemary Lake formerly of Trinidad now of Montreal, and Dr. James Dewitt of Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacKay, Melrose, Mass., arrived in the City this week to attend the wedding of their son which takes place this afternoon in Zion Presbyterian Church.

Out-of-town guests at the MacKay-Auld wedding which takes place this afternoon in Zion Presbyterian Church at 4 o'clock will include Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Champion, Medford, Mass., Mr. James MacKay, Stoneham, Conn., Mr. Joseph Kincaid, Malden, Mr. Harold Sanderson, New Jersey, Miss Lois Johnstone, Montreal, Miss Eva Roper, London, Ontario, Miss Elaine Mutch, Halifax.

Friends of Mrs. Stirling Inman will be glad to know that she is doing nicely following an operation in the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Wednesday of this week.

The many friends of Mrs. J. W. Haselink, Ontario, will be pleased to know that she has arrived on the Island to spend another summer with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Sellar and family.

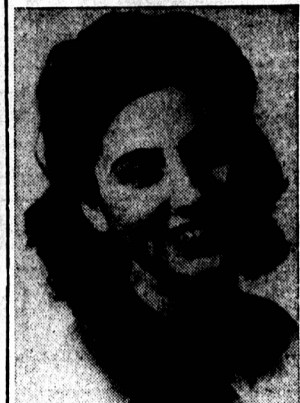

The tea hostesses at the Summerside Golf Club on Wednesday afternoon were Mrs. Harold Schurman, Mrs. Ralph Ramsay, Mrs. G. J. Hayes and Mrs. H. P. M. Patterson.

Mrs. Perley Read has returned to her home in Summerside on Wednesday after visiting friends in Halifax, N. S.

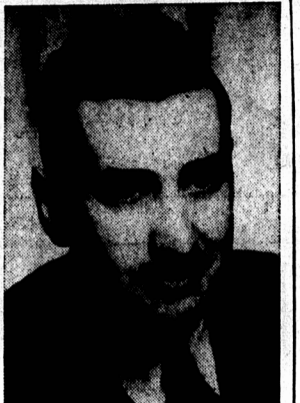

Mrs. W. F. Strong of Summerside entertained at bridge this week.

Last evening Mrs Ruby MacNeill returned from Saint John, N.B. to spend her vacation with

Engagements Announced

Mr. George Tulle announces the niece Selma to Peter Vincent Mitchell, Newcastle, N. B. The 22nd at St. Dunstan's Basilica.

engagement of his daughter, Bernice Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo wedding will take place August

MISS MARY FRANCES FOSTER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Foster, of Westmount, and B.A., B.Eng., of Montreal, son of late H. S. Francis, M.L.A., of For- ding will take place on July 14 Mount Allison University and of McGill University.

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

APPLYING CORTISONE DIRECTLY TO THE DISEASED CONDITION

Ever since Drs. Banting and Best discovered insulin, research workers have been finding conditions besides diabetes in which insulin is of great value. And now there is a specific treatment for arthritis, research workers are finding other uses for these miracle drugs with beneficial results in treating rheumatic fever, alcoholism, hay fever, gout and those chronic skin ailments, eczema and psoriasis. We are, therefore, not surprised to learn of other ailments helped by cortisone.

In Southern Medical Journal, Drs. Tom Spies and R. E. Stone report their results in the treatment of various skin, eye, and other conditions by the local application of cortisone. These physicians treated two patients with rheumatoid arthritis (the commonest form of rheumatism) associated with two forms of eye inflammation (iritis and uveitis), two patients with arthritis and allergic skin disease and two patients with chronic psoriasis (white patches covered with abundant silvery scales which bleed underneath when removed) by local application of cortisone acetate.

All six cases had been treated with three antihistamine substances all of which had failed to give relief. The eyes of the patient with iritis and uveitis appeared normal by the sixth day of local application of an ophthalmic ointment, containing 25 mg. of cortisone acetate per gram. The skin inflammation due to allergy subsided completely after 13 days of daily applications of cortisone acetate ointment.

The patients with psoriasis — a most difficult skin disease to cure — were given three courses of cortisone acetate by injections into the muscles of doses of 1,200 mg., 500 mg., and 375 mg., respectively. From the time the cortisone treatment was started to the end of the third period of injections (nine weeks), the disfiguring patches had disappeared from 70 to 95 per cent. The most pronounced clearing was in the scalp and the surface of the elbows. To one of the patches which measured about 3/4 inch by 1 1/4 inches located below the knee, 5 mg. of cortisone acetate per gram was applied twice daily. After 24 days of treatment this patch showed as much healing as had followed cortisone injections, whereas the untreated patches all "Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold B. Milligan of Summerside will leave today to spend the week end with friends in Moncton, N. B.

Last evening Mr. George A. Calbeck returned from Montreal to his home in Summerside. He was accompanied by his daughters, Miss Dorothy Calbeck, teacher at Branksome Hall, Toronto, and Mrs. H. G. Speers with her daughter, Sally, from Ottawa.

Miss Geraldine Fowler, who has been Instructor in Music in the Summerside High School for the past year, left Saturday morning for her home in Young's Cove, N. B., stopping en route in Halifax, N. S.

Mrs. Hugh Smith of Summerside is spending this morning for Coverdale, N. B. where she will be the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murray.

Miss Mary Hogan of Toronto is spending her vacation at her home in Summerside.

Mrs. May G. Campbell and daughter Olive, of Hollister, California, spent a few days in Summerside this week, guests of the former's aunt, Mrs. William A. Toombs.

Mrs. J. S. Hinton, Summerside, has as her guest her brother, Mr. John Hall Lee, of Los Angeles, California, who during the years has made periodical visits to his native province. Mr. Lee recalls when Prince Edward Island entered Confederation in 1873, as he was then eleven years old.

Miss Beverly McElroy of Cambridge, Mass., who is vacationing in Morell, guest of her aunt, Mrs. Peter MacDougall, and Mr. MacDougall, was visiting friends in Summerside on Thursday.

Mrs. Wilfred Taylor and sister, Mrs. MacFadyen returned to their homes in Kensington on Wednesday evening after a month's vacation in Toronto, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Holbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison and family left Summerside yesterday by automobile on a trip to Maine.

The forecast is for an auspicious time for summoning all the influence, forces and faculties for putting over plans, hopes and wishes in a pleasant and also profitable manner. Business, new projects and personal affairs should move easily into constructive channels, even though strenuous at times. Important plans, agreeably pushed, should flourish.

For the Birthday Those whose birthday it is should

ELLEN'S DIARY

By An Island Farmer's Wife

This was a day when one member of the family at Alderlea, craved sympathy from the others, and found that the current busy schedule of work, had made no allowance for that. There was of course a certain and comforting concern displayed by all, but there was no evidence that one or another of them would like to be detained while we sadly ran over the list of our ailments. Perhaps it was because we had been over-confident of late in our continued good health, or maybe it was we had kissed a recent small sufferer too fervently — in any event we have been over-taken and over-powered by the ills of a common cold. No casual malady this, which allows one to smile brightly and explain: "I have the cold!" but one which dragged the poor sufferer along the edge of the valley of despair, ill and wan and spiritless, as weary in the very effort it demanded, she looked out upon her world today.

Not that we were left alone in our misery. On the contrary, we had a number of callers. Mr. D. arriving while the morning was still newborn, fresh and be-dewed and lovely, looked in to tell us: "There's a bad cold on the rounds, and" with a twinkle "they say it seems to settle harder on the old folks." Jeanie came with remedies — tablets and drops and suppositories, which no doubt contributed their part to make the day livable. Granddaughter entering quietly to find us huddled up wanly in the depths of the old armchair, instead of being about our accustomed beat accepted it for the heat. "Isn't this great!" she said blithely "I know you won't be able to come out to give me swings, but you'll have a lot more time to read to me!" The younger farmer came in more than once to survey — very kindly — the lie of the land and to offer suggestions for our relief. James came too, ostensibly for a drink at the pump or to wonder "how the time's going," and stop briefly to listen to our tale of woe. "It aches here . . . and there are pains there . . . aches on dear," we sighed mournfully.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

James listened attentively and then a broad smile of understanding swept his features. "Right here, Ellen? A dull ache? Well, now, isn't that exactly like I was a day or two ago! It's the very same sickness that bothered me, kind of like, you don't care much whether you live or die? Well, there now — isn't that just the way I felt? No ambition at all! Yes" he nodded, "I know. Do you know Ellen, we're going to have quite a time putting those plates in place. Guess we'll need more help." The last words came to us from the yard. Ever it has been that "men must work and women may weep," so today in the insistence of having in the office, the barn-timbers must rear their new lengths at the hands of the workmen.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When a girl has been introduced to a young man and is leaving him, should she say that she is glad to have met him?
A. No, it is not her place to say this. It is rather for the man to say, "I am glad to have met you," or, "I hope to see you again," and she may then respond, "Thank you."

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Wants Wife To Work
This Husband Trying To Avoid Responsibility

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Our ten years of married life have been a series of ups and downs, but through it all we have achieved a love that few marriages come to know. Our only real bone of contention has been my reluctance to work outside the home. I consider that my financial gain realized from such an arrangement would not compensate for the consequent neglect of my home. My husband usually brings the financial troubles of himself, then sulks and stays away from home until I get a job to tide us over. I have two children and feel that they need me at home, more than I need a job. My husband loves me before his, as much as I do, but puts his needs before theirs. Because I wouldn't go to work and help him out of his latest financial tangle, he began going out with a girl who worked with him. The affair didn't last long; my husband is very contrite about it and we are once more in complete union. I could never go through such an episode again, though, and in deference to the whole household, wonder if I should sacrifice their welfare and take a job or remain firm hoping that responsibility will eventually make my husband a man of whom I can be completely proud. M. R. E.

ANSWER: You deserve a good deal of credit for handling your tangled affairs so competently, and for so clearly facing the issues that have confronted you. There is no question but that you are the font of wisdom and the guiding hand of your household, the one upon whose authority the children—and this includes your husband—depend.

HE'S IMMATURE

Your husband is a creature of immaturity, seeking to duck every vestige of parental responsibility and taking recourse in the most childish attitudes of sulking and petty revenge when he doesn't get what he wants. The only obligation he retains is the financial one of supporting his family and he is certainly over-anxious to shift that to your shoulders. Once you evince your willingness to get a job and work steadily, he'll drop every pretense of being the wage-earner, and you'll supply the family pay check for the rest of your days. Don't do it! No matter how much he sulks, make him keep some vestige of manhood and self-respect, even against his will. The place for a mother of small children is at home, unless circumstances force her to work outside, and only illness or an incapacitating nature—physical or mental—justifies a man being supported by his wife. Since his financial entanglements are of his own weaving, make your husband get out of them himself. The trick of turning to flirtation as revenge for your not acceding to his every whim is nothing short of contemptible.