

Mr. Gordon Hutcheson Carries On Firm Practise

The optometric partnership of G. F. Hutcheson and Son has been changed by the retirement of Mr. G. F. Hutcheson senior partner, and the practice is to be carried on by Mr. Gordon Hutcheson, a graduate of the Rochester School of Optometry, who has been associated with his father for the past twenty-five years.

Mr. Hutcheson, senior, has been compelled to retire in his 80th year because of ill health, after being engaged in his profession for more than 50 years, beginning his career in 1896 in what is now known as the Hughes building, G. F. and F. G. Hutcheson were in this location until 1938 when the present building at 53 Grafton Street was obtained and equipped for optometric service.

Mr. Hutcheson, senior, has, aside from his profession, given largely of his time and effort for the half century to almost every worthy service in his community, and until his retirement was active in Rotary, Red Cross and funds raising campaigns of the City and Province. Many friends have extended best wishes for a pleasant retirement.

Mr. Gordon Hutcheson has been active in service work during his professional career and was a member of Charlottetown Kinsmen, is now a Y's Man and has had various responsibilities in local, Maritime and National Optometric organizations.

The holdup man who had been sitting around the bank for some time casually walked up to one of the girl tellers with a paper bag on which were the words "This is a holdup". Mr. Cannon had dropped into the bank to say hello to Miss Jean Moore, a Charlottetown girl who is employed there.

Personals

The condition of Bobby Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Addie Peterson shows some improvement. X-rays taken at the City Hospital yesterday reveal that he is suffering from a fractured skull. The boy was struck by a car on Richmond Street, while he was celebrating Halloween with a number of other children.

a level of attainment commensurate with his abilities. In order that the "ten imperative needs of youth" be translated into practice: 1. The schools must be more than classrooms where pupils collect to listen to teachers' lectures. 2. The schools should be places for functional programs: a. where the complete development of the child takes place rather than academic development alone; b. where the program helps children grow toward maturity in all areas; c. where there are opportunities for the pupil to develop self-control, where latent talents, abilities, and skills are discovered and developed through vital work experiences; e. where individual differences are recognized and provided for; f. where the pupil can develop and practice wholesome moral, ethical, and spiritual values; g. where the pupil can evaluate his own progress and development and not just the teacher's evaluation, in terms of academic examinations, is made known; h. where the pupil has the opportunity to explore various vocational and professional fields; i. where the pupil has the opportunity for instruction and practice in recreational activities; j. where the pupil has opportunities for wholesome human relationships to help him understand people that he may learn to work in a group cooperatively; k. where the problems of contemporary life are recognized and emphasized; l. where there are opportunities of transmitting the cultural heritage. A program of this type cannot be given in a building that consists of nothing more than standard classrooms and standard equipment. A program that will provide for the needs of this upsurge for the needs of the pupils and that will equip them with the skills, abilities, and understandings mentioned above requires that the elementary and secondary schools contain special facilities. Those facilities needed for an enriched program will be discussed under the following headings: Science Facilities, Homemaking Facilities, Industrial Arts, Auditoriums, Physical Education, Music, Libraries, Kindergarten.

Rotarians Addressed On Communism By Missionary Priest

"Half of the world is now Communist controlled," said Rev. Cornelius Pineau, S.J., in addressing the Rotary club at their weekly luncheon in the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday. "I am wondering if we of the free world are not in a very great majority just too complacently living our lives of comfort and freedom, just hoping that everything will take a turn for the better, and will it not be a subject for alarm if a very high percentage of our people could be said to oppose the onslaught of communism no more dynamic than a wishful 'It cannot happen to us,' the speaker said. Rev. Father Pineau, who recently returned to his native P.E.I. after 18 years in China as a missionary, witnessed developments in China both under the Nationalist Government and under the modern Communist plan. The speaker, in throwing light on Communist tactics said that political, social and economic revolution and religious persecution is one and the same thing. Religious persecution cannot be separated from Universal revolution, of which it is an integral part. "One cannot understand the action of Communism without understanding its philosophy," the speaker said, "in which a scientific explanation of the universe has replaced the hypothesis of 'God.' Human conduct is no longer regulated by moral law, but must be regulated by science, which depends on matter. Matter is the ultimate rule of morality and as matter is forever changing, the morality of human action is every varying." Anything that helps Communism is morally good, and anything opposing is morally bad. Under Communism all things are supposed to carry within themselves an antagonistic force which works for its destruction. As there is no such force within the church they created it. The antagonistic force created was "Nationalism" of the progressive Christians, a patriotic movement. The build-up called for disintegration of church, colleges and schools from the inside by pointing out to the people the humiliation of foreign administration, and foreign maintenance. Outside the large centres church property, houses, schools and hospitals have all been confiscated. "The external organization of the church will disappear" Father Pineau said, "but I think the faith is there to stay, it will not be dispersed. There are 2,500 Chinese priests, 300 of whom are in prison who will carry on underground in spite of the loss of 150 others killed by Communists." The speaker, who was introduced by chairman B. Graham Rogers, was thanked for his highly enlightening address by Jerome O'Brien, Past President. Gordon Milligan of the Calgary Club was introduced by George Walters and accepted into membership. The resignation of Gordon Foster from the club due to his transfer to Newfoundland was received with regret.

LONDON (AP) - Rt. Rev. Donald B. Marsh believes Eskimos are the world's most honest people. Allison McCoubrey, 31 formerly of New Glasgow, P. E. I. is in Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary, Alta., with serious head injuries received while at work at the Swift Canadian Company plant in that city.
