UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.

The session of the Senate to-day was occupied chiefly with the usual introduction of bills and resolutions. Among the bills introduced in the House were the following:—To reduce the letter postage to two cents; to prevent polygamy. Resolutions for a special committee on woman suffrage were passed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.

Referring to a despatch from St. Petersburg, stating that relics of the Jeannette were found in a boat, the Herald says:—Accounts from the Rodgers up to October 16th, 1881, make no mention of meeting with the Chasseur. The story of a boat with corpses and silver spoons marked "Jeanette" is evidently derived from finding by three Chukchees of the wreck of the whaler Vigilant with corpses on board, and two knives, among other articles carried off, marked "V."

Relative to the fire at Williamsburg last night, Theodore Havemeyer said: "There are four members in the firm, three Havemeyers and Chas. Zendt, who has invested in it about $600,000. The building destroyed was worth about $250,000; machinery $750,000; stock, $500,000; so that $1,500,000 will probably cover the actual damage by fire. The capacity of the refinery was 4,000 barrels daily, requiring 3,000 men, 1,200 of whom were employed in the main building destroyed. The loss is partially covered by insurance, it being an impossibility to fully insure such property. The cause of the fire is unknown. When the damage in the new building is taken into account (the stock having been deluged with water), the loss will probably reach close on to $2,000,000."

BERLIN, Jan. 8.

An Imperial rescript, dated Jan. 4, countersigned by Bismarck, has been addressed to the Prussian Ministry. It says: "The right of the King to direct the Government and policy of Prussia, in accordance with his own judgment, is restricted, not abrogated, by the constitution. The official acts of the King require the counter signature of a Minister and are carried out by his Ministers, but they remain the official acts of the King in whose resolve they originate and who in them gives constitutional expression to his will. Therefore it is not permissible to represent their exercise as proceeding from responsible Ministers. The Prussian constitution is the expression of the Monarchic traditions of this country, whose development rests on living relations of its Kings to the people. These relations cannot be transferred to Ministers, because they appertain to the person of the King, and their maintenance is necessary for Prussia. It is therefore my will that in Prussia, and also in legislative bodies of the Empire, no doubt will be allowed to attach to my constitutional right or that of my successors to personally direct the policy of the Government. It is the duty of my Ministers to support my constitutional rights by protecting them from doubt and obscurity, and I expect the same from all officials who have taken the oath of loyalty to me. I am far from wishing to restrict the freedom of elections, but functionaries intrusted with the execution of my official acts are bound to support the policy of my Government even at the elections. I shall acknowledge the faithful discharge of this duty, and shall expect all officials, remembering their oath of allegiance, to hold aloof, even at the elections, from all agitation against my Government."

Emperor William has decided to proclaim Crown Prince Frederick William Regent on the 22nd March next, on the occasion to the Emperor William's 85th birthday.

In the Reichstag, to-day, during a discussion, Herr Richler vehemently attacked Bismarck, whom he reproached with dragging the name of the Emperor into debate whenever doubtful questions were before the House. Bismarck left the Chamber while Richler was speaking. The rescript excited much comment in the lobby, where it was regarded as a signal either of the impending dissolution of the Reichstag or of the introduction of disciplinary measures against public officials. The Prussian Diet will debate the rescript.

Friends of Parnell are endeavoring to secure his release before the opening of Parliament. It is believed the Government has the matter under consideration.

ALEXANDRIA, Jan. 9.

Serious complications have arisen between the Chambers and European Controllers-General over financial measures. Cherif Pasha, Prime Minister, is supported by the army, and another demonstration is probable.

There is a very large amount of prejudice, especially among working-men, against the wearing of spectacles; the testimony of a physician connected with an eye hospital, which has been recently published, showing that workmen dare not take to glasses when they ought, lest it be thought that they are unable to do what is expected of them. But it should be noted that these useful things are made to protect the eyes, and extend the range of vision; so that there are many wearing them who see far better, and have more powerful sight, than those who go without. In fact, glasses do not mean defective sight, but the desire to preserve and strengthen it. Therefore, to object to a man because he uses spectacles would be unreasonable and foolish.
