

Jackie Robinson Adds Another First To List

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.
NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—Jackie Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' second baseman who was the first Negro to play modern major league baseball, added another "first" to his list today when he signed a two-year contract as a radio and television executive.

Robinson will serve as "director of community activities" for WNBC and WNET, the key radio and television stations of the National Broadcasting Company in the metropolitan New York area. Robinson thus became the first Negro to hold an executive post with a major radio or television station.

Although his new duties were not fully defined, Robinson said they will be clearly related with his work with boys, which he has been doing at the Harlem Y.M.C.A. and would enable him to expand such work.

He also said they would not interfere with his baseball career because "if I lose effectiveness in baseball, I lose it here, too. My importance to kids is in being able to play baseball."

Robinson will not begin his new work until the Dodgers return from spring training in mid-April and he plans to devote only an hour or two each day to it during the baseball season.

As director of community activities, Robinson will plan programs of interest to youth, working in close-co-operation with schools, social agencies such as the Police Athletic League, Y.M.C.A., and so on, appear on the air as a performer, fill speaking engagements and work with the merchandising department of the stations as a "pepper-upper" of sales.

Robinson emphasized, however, that baseball will come first as long as he is an active major leaguer.

"I'll play ball and then worry about my job," he said.

Reports Marked Progress In Veterinary Services

As a result of the veterinary policy of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, five veterinarians have been placed in the Province, covering definite territories within the limits of which each man operates on prescribed fees and regulations, stated Mr. W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister, in reporting to the Agricultural Council conference yesterday.

Headed by Dr. George Fisher, who is in charge of this branch and also of the agricultural laboratory on Prince Street, the veterinarians include Dr. Glen R. Hendry, Kensington, Dr. J. E. Stens, Charlottetown, Dr. J. R. McCrea, Montague and Dr. Hilton A. Curry, O'Leary.

Each vet is subsidized from $2,200 to $2,800 according to the territory in which he is placed. The service in the main has proven satisfactory, although some further arrangements may be necessary in order to adequately take care of the demand, Mr. Shaw reported. Student aid was employed during the year to assist in the field work.

Field Extension

In field extension, the addition of Mr. Isaac Tuplin, a graduate of Macdonald College with training in field crops, was made to the staff in 1951. As a result, an urgently required service on field crop extension will now be provided. A seed drill survey was continued during the year.

Mr. Shaw also reviewed the year's activities in rural youth extension services and leadership courses.

Among dairy improvements he noted particularly the improved packaging of butter and cheese.

In connection with grass silage extension, he noted that 350 tons of grass silage were saved during the past season at Falconwood Farm, two cuttings having been utilized. The grass was saved in pit, upright and surface silos. Plans are now being investigated to reduce labor expenditure in saving the grass with ordinary farm machinery. Investigations are also being conducted into improved grass types, treatment and pasture improvement.

Breeding Stock

Further importations of breeding stock have included two Ayrshire bulls from Scotland by the P.E.I. Ayrshire Breeders Association, two Shorthorn bulls from Ontario by the Shorthorn Breeders Association, two Jersey bulls from Jersey Island by the Jersey Breeders Association, Guernsey bulls from Canadian breeders by the Guernsey Breeders Association and North Country Cheviot rams from Scotland and Canadian sources by the Sheep Breeders Association. In addition, number of breed subsidies, a large number of bulls have been distributed in the Province.

A new Bull Premium Policy based on a yearly inspection basis, and placement of bulls suitable to the livestock of any district was also initiated.

Underdrainage and land clearing has been promoted through the use of machinery designed for this purpose and directed by Mr. Walter McMurtry of the Natural Resources Department. Equipment has been utilized to some extent to dig pit silos and for other farm purposes. This service is capable of great expansion.

Reports Favorably On Cattle Condition

"The condition of cattle in general throughout the Province was exceptionally good when going into winter quarters and we have every reason to believe that the average producer of both milk and beef products will benefit very greatly from the sales which they have had from time to time," stated Mr. L. W. Roper, Dominion Livestock fieldman, in his report to the Provincial Agricultural Conference yesterday.

The export trade from this Province, he reported, was reduced considerably in the year 1951, but it was noticeable that the few buyers who visited here during the summer months were most anxious to buy dairy cows of a higher quality than previous years, and they also paid a much higher price.

The Shorthorn sale conducted by the breeders last May proved very satisfactory and a number of reasonably good bulls were distributed to buyers in outlying sections of the Province. Too great a number of these young herd sires, however, were not old enough or good enough in type and conformation to head pure bred herds.

All the young herd sires of breeding age in the Ayrshire breed have been disposed of realizing good prices for Class "A" bulls. Some were shipped out of this Province to Nova Scotia and quite a number went to the province of New Brunswick while the remainder have found ready buyers in our own province. The Holstein breeders have also made a number of exceptionally good sales. While there were fewer in number of herd sires in other breeds, they were all pretty well sold out at the end of 1951.

The Federal Bull Loaning Policy has completed another very successful year with 38 associations operating throughout the province, as follows: 16 Ayrshire, 11 Holstein, 9 Shorthorn, and 2 Hereford. The total number of cows which were bred to the above mentioned herd sires amounted to 230 head. This was considered a very good average per association for this year.

Kids May Soon Be Asked For Penny For Puppet

FLORENCE, Italy, Feb. 6—(Reuters) The children of the world may soon be asked to "give a penny for Pinocchio."

But before that can happen a committee of adults will have to settle a 26-year-old argument over what they want to do with the money once they get it.

What they can't decide is whether to erect a statue of the puppet, known to youngsters the world over, or one to the forgotten man who thought him up—Lorenzini, creator of Pinocchio, was brought up in the village of Colodi near here, and wrote under the pen-name Carlo Colodi. He died in 1890.

Literary and historical purists would like to raise a monument in the main square to the man—Lorenzini of Carlo Colodi.

Other villagers with an eye for the tourist trade would like a statue of Pinocchio.

"If no one remembers the name of Lorenzini, then they ought to be reminded of it," says the purists. "Who ever heard of a statue of a puppet?"

"If Pinocchio stands on the monument, everyone will stop to look at it," says their opponents. "Who can deny that Pinocchio is more famous than his creator?"

A compromise proposal is to build a statue to Lorenzini and to Pinocchio at the same time.

Extremist scruples would be nicely satisfied, argue supporters of the compromise, if the monument portrayed the man Lorenzini holding the puppet Pinocchio in his arms.

Pinocchio, they add, might perhaps be a bit jealous of Peter Pan, who has a fine statue of himself in London's Kensington Gardens while there are no really well-known monuments to his father, James Barrie.

The debate continues sporadically in a committee headed by Professor Rolando Anzilotti.

Anzilotti, a lecturer at Florence University, is confident that concrete steps will be taken in the not too distant future.

No Separate Cheque For Serviceman's Wife

OTTAWA, Feb. 6—(CP)—The armed forces have apparently won their fight against the controversial move to give part of every married serviceman's pay to his wife in a separate cheque.

Indications now are that the step, scheduled to go into effect for officers March 1, will be dropped or at least modified as a result of clamor among both officers and men against it.

The plan was that pay of married servicemen would be split in two with one cheque going to the husband, one to the wife. It was meant to protect wives whose husbands don't support them properly.

It provoked controversy throughout defence headquarters for days because the husbands considered it an intrusion on their private affairs and an unnecessary indignity.

The controversy has been taken under consideration by Defence Minister Claxton and his aides.
