

THE DAILY EXAMINER

APRIL 8, 1895.

ANOTHER GRIT CANDID.

LAST Saturday's Patriot contained the following telegram from Antigonish:

ANTIGONISH, April 6. The first joint meeting of campaign was held at Beaver Meadow last evening. Sir C. H. Tupper spoke first. The question of the Manitoba School issue, he said, was the one which should be asked to pass legislation if Manitoba did not, and he asked Catholic electors of Antigonish to return Chisholm to help the Government against Protestant bigots in Ontario. He said the credit of Canada would be injured in other parts of the world if a Government supporter was not returned to Antigonish.

Senator Ferguson, immediately on reading the Patriot's telegram, sent the following message to Sir Herbert Tupper:

Sir, Charles H. Tupper, Antigonish, N. S. The Patriot of Saturday has a telegram from Antigonish saying that at Beaver Meadow you asked the Catholic electors of Antigonish to help the Government against Protestant bigots in Ontario.

This morning he received the following reply:

ANTIGONISH, N. S., April 8. Hon. D. Ferguson.

Your telegram of today received. The report is maliciously false. I asked Catholics and Protestants to stand by the Government in maintaining the constitution against bigotry anywhere and everywhere.

CHARLES HERBERT TUPPER. These last messages speak for themselves, and show conclusively the low straits to which the grit party and press are reduced, when it is necessary, in their interests, to manufacture and publish untruths about their political opponents.

But this has been their practice in the past. It seems impossible for them to stop it. We shall see whether the Patriot will have the decency to publish Sir Herbert's contradiction.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

—According to late advices from St. John's, the anti-confederates are noisily trying to work on the prejudices and passions of the ignorant. The intelligent classes pay no attention to them and await the return of the delegates with terms. No prominent men are connected with the agitation. The leaders propose no means of saving the country from bankruptcy.

On the return of the delegates a Confederation league will be formed and the terms laid fully before the people.

—A gentleman in this city has a letter from a former resident of this Province, now living in British Columbia, who says that the latter province will return six Cretaceous valves at the next Dominion election. Grit doctrines never meet with much favor amongst the enterprising people of the Pacific Coast. Some strong Grits from the East on their arrival in British Columbia, try to land regular trade for the party's fads, but they soon subside, and many of them fall in with progressive ideas.

—Montreal Trade Bulletin: Nova Scotia apples in London, England, are noisily trying to work on the prejudices and passions of the ignorant. The intelligent classes pay no attention to them and await the return of the delegates with terms. No prominent men are connected with the agitation. The leaders propose no means of saving the country from bankruptcy.

only the diminution of a good 75 per cent. of the value of blood stock, but the throwing of many thousands of men out of healthy employment, and the plugging of the source from which every year incalculable sums of money are distributed—and that, as a rule, among the poorest members of the community.

—The British Admiralty is spending $4,500,000 on the construction and equipment of the battle ship Magnificent, which was floated out of dock last December. But the cost of ships is not the only heavy item in the current expenditure applicable to the English navy. The estimates include a naval barracks at Chatham to cost $1,500,000. At Devonport the quay and dockyard extension will enclose 41 acres and the outlay proposed is $10,000,000. This belongs to last year's programme. The new works to be undertaken include a breakwater between Portland Harbor, which can only be protected from torpedo attack by a physical barrier. The area of the harbor within the breakwater will be 1,450 acres. The estimated cost of the works is $3,500,000, to be distributed over ten years. A like sum is to be spent in extending the mole at Gibraltar 3,200 feet, giving an acreage of 260 at five fathom depth. The Dover pier is to be reconstructed for barracks for 10,000 men. Portsmouth over $3,000,000 is asked. Large extensions are proposed to the naval works at Hong Kong. The whole programme of dock and harbor work yet to be constructed represents an outlay of $45,000,000, half of which was sanctioned last year by parliament.

COURT OF CHANCERY. Before the Chief Justice acting as Vice Chancellor. In re estate of the late Robert Rennie and Moore and others vs. Ball, Mr. McLean, Q. C. for complainants moved that Play Ball, the administrator of the estate of the late John Ball be substituted as defendant in the place of John Ball, deceased. The court made an order for the administrator to appear within six weeks and that the subpoena be served on him by sending it to his address last registered in the place of John Ball, deceased. The court also ordered that Mr. Theophilus Moore do prosecute the suit as the next friend of Mrs. J. A. Moore in place of Mr. T. Aiken, who had been appointed next friend of Robert Rennie's estate. Before the Vice-Chancellor, Joseph Knight and another vs. Janet Allan and others. This case was resumed this morning. No creditors having appeared to prove their claims an order was made barring them. The costs of all parties to the suit to come out of the estate.

Thomas Handrahan vs. Charles Leigh and others.—An application between the complainant and Charles Leigh and wife to confirm a settlement of the estate. Davies, Q. C. for the complainant; Stewart, Q. C. for the defendants.

NEWS NOTES. About 60,000 acres have been reclaimed in Ireland during the past few years from the terrors laid fallow before the people.

The Supreme Court of California has decided that the holder of a through rail road ticket has the right to stop-over privileges.

Two electricians at Graz, Austria, claim to have invented an arrangement by which a newspaper can be printed by telegraph in any number of places at the same time.

According to the latest reports, there are in the world 140,234 lines of submarine telegraph cable. Of this total the various governments own 14,480 miles of cable and 21,550 miles of wire. The balance is owned by private companies.

His Terror Gold mine, located at Keystone, in the Southern Black Hills, has been worked for less than five months by a small force of men, and there has been only a five-stamp mill to crush the rock, yet it has turned out nearly $50,000 worth of gold, and there has been found at the bottom of the shaft small pockets of rock that have assayed more than $250,000 to the ton.

A war generally makes as well as many private fortunes, and the Chinese Japanese campaign has brought unheard of prosperity to Tien-Tsin hatters. Tailors and bootmakers are working night and day on clothing for the troops, and cereals are at their wits' end to supply sufficient rice, millet and flour, and bankers are building extra vaults for the money sent to them for security from the various towns threatened by the Japanese invasion.

A slander suit has been brought by Miss Teresa L. Kelso, librarian of the Los Angeles, Cal., public library, against Rev. J. C. Campbell, the basis of the action being a prayer offered by the defendant in the presence of his congregation. He said: "O Lord, vouchsafe thy saving grace to the librarian of the city library, and cleanse her of all sin and make her a woman worthy of her office." The minister entered a demurrer, taking the position that his statement was privileged. Judge Clark overruled the demurrer, holding that a slander can be perpetrated in a prayer as well as in any other form of speech.

To the members of the Parliament of P. E. Island: HONORABLE GENTLEMEN,—I do not advocate the franchise for women because I will vote this way or that way on any question, but because I believe woman has an inherent right to share in the Government of our country—that she is endowed with every qualification necessary to the exercise of that right, and that experience has always shown that only good results follow the full recognition of that right. Still it is no harm to remove the argument from the abstract to the concrete for a change.

Men are allowing the drain-shop to stand open in almost every town and city in the land, and the heart of every thoughtful mother is in daily terror lest her boy fall into the trap which they always left open for his feet. With your permission thousands fall into ruin and degradation through the bewitching influence of the saloon, and women everywhere are stooping down in the dust, but arduous work of rescue—a work from which men too often turn in disgust. Will you not either remove the curse that blights her life or allow her the power to do so? "Vote as you may see fit," you exhortation, but you say it is only for men. How would it sound to address it to women for a change? You expect her to be beautiful and adorn the home and make it bright, cheerful and attractive. Don't you think she could take a hand in protecting it also? Having spent her strength and sacrificed so much to make home according to your ideal how often has the drink demon come in and turned her little heaven on earth into a hell, and she could not prevent it, and she could not because you refused her the power? With tears you trained her boy to total abstinence from strong drink, and while he remained in the circle where she loved her was safe, but the day came when he had to go out into the world and other resorts of vice that you left open entrapped him and she was powerless to close them because you said she was not fit to vote. In every emergency reform we have turned to women for their strong, sympathetic, unwavering help, but when we come to the point where our work is to be made effective we jay her a place. With tears come her to the platform where the question is discussed, "How shall we vote?" We listen with much appreciation to her eloquence in pleading for votes to oust the saloon, but she must not vote herself. She who sees so clearly how the votes ought to be cast—who pleads so powerfully that they may be cast rightly—denied the privilege of voting herself, singly because she is a woman—what God made her.

Christian rulers of our country, is this right? You allow woman a voice in the government of the home—it would be a wonderful place if you did not. She rules in the schoolroom with matchless success. She votes in the church—has the church suffered by it? You have been forced to grant her a vote on municipal affairs. What mischief has followed? Why so stubbornly refuse to go one step further and grant her the ballot in national affairs? Why draw the line just here? You cannot plead she is physically unfit, for women have laboured in the field and workshop and led armies in battle, performing deeds of the grandest heroism. You cannot plead she is mentally unfit, for she has distinguished herself in the halls of learning, adorned the professions and swayed the multitude by her eloquence. You cannot plead a lack of executive ability, for she rules the rough and noisy keys that make men fail to control, presides over vast assemblies and governs great organizations. A woman has ruled the British Empire for near three score years. Is it not better governed? In morals her superiority is acknowledged, for there are a hundred loafers, burglars, counterfeiters, swindlers, &c., among men to one among women. In love, devotion and self denial, she is the palm. In sagacity, love of justice and patriotism, she is certainly not behind. If so, why deny her the boon you prize so highly—the right to vote? You deplore the corruption in politics, but women can purify it? You give the franchise to any ignorant, characterless man who is possessed of a trifling amount of property, or who earns a dollar a day; but when the most refined, intelligent and wealthy women in the land knock at the revising officer's door, you rudely brush her aside; and when in righteous anger she demands that reason, you have none to give, except a dose of folsome flattery.

You sometimes say woman's sphere is the home—and so it is; and well she does her part there. But she has to do with the world as well as the home, for she loves can't always be under her roof. She wants to make the world safe for them, but you won't allow her. Some women have no home, but the wide world, and they are wholly given up to its welfare; but you stand sentinel at one of the great avenues of usefulness and power, and refuse her admission. Men above all beings should be ashamed to take refuge in the theory that woman's sphere is the home. Shut our women up in the home and what would become of the missionary enterprise, the temperance enterprise, our educational enterprise? What would become of your social life, our moral life, our religious life? Woman has proved her willingness to descend to the lowest depths of society, to alleviate pain and suffering. She has proved her willingness to do everything that lies in her power to cure the ills of our social and national life, and now she comes with the just and reasonable request that she be allowed to try her hand at prevention. She has proved her fitness in every way. "Give her the fruit of her hand," and I will guarantee that "her works will praise her in the gates."
