S' side Polio Clinic Is Disappointing

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
There were 267 people attending the anti-polio inoculation clinic in Summerside Auditorium last evening, including 81 who reported for their first of three inoculations.

The number present last evening was disappointingly small because 235 had received their first shot at the previous clinic. Although it had been planned that this would have been the last clinic at Summerside this fall, officials decided last night to hold one more clinic here this season, on Nov. 16th.

The clinic last evening was conducted by Dr. Hubert McNeill, with Mrs. J.E. Fleming as executive secretary, and Mrs. Ed MacGuigan as the presiding nurse.

The Universal Postal Union, now an agency of the United Nations, was established at Berne, Switzerland, in 1875.

FIREMEN STRIVE manfully to bring a sudden outbreak of fire under control at Summerside yesterday.

2-Storey Home Is Damaged By Fire Of Unknown Origin

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Deighan, 183 Cambridge Street, Summerside, was extensively damaged by fire, smoke, and water shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday. The fire of unknown origin made rapid headway before Summerside firemen were able to bring it under control.

Discovery of the fire was made by Mrs. Deighan who returned from a ten minute visit to the garden beside the house where she had been picking vegetables. Before going to the garden Mrs. Deighan had placed apples in the oven of the wood burning stove to cook for supper.

When she returned to the kitchen door she was unable to enter the house because of flames which filled the kitchen, and she rushed across the street to phone the fire department from the side yesterday. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Deighan was heavily damaged by the outbreak, which seemed to be centered in the partitions and walls of the large two-storey house.

Nearly $2,500 Is Collected

MONTAGUE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

Kings County Stipendiary Magistrate James B. Johnston, had a 14 case docket before him on Wednesday at Georgetown. Arthur James Bridges of Cardigan pleaded not guilty to the charge of cruelty to animals by failure to provide food to a horse.

At the time of the fire Mr. Deighan was downtown, and their sons Greg and Francis, had not arrived home for supper. The fire made such rapid progress that smoke was pouring from every side of the house before firemen arrived and commenced to fight the blaze that was breaking through windows in the east and west sides of the house.

With the fire apparently extending between the walls and partitions of the house, firemen had a very difficult job to reach and extinguish all of the fire, and smoke and water damage extended to every room in the big two-storey home which contained about a dozen rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Deighan have resided in this house for the past 32 years.

Cardigan Man Charged With Cruelty To Horse

MONTAGUE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

Clifford Gallant of Georgetown pleaded guilty to the theft of a quantity of groceries valued at $4.65, the property of John Frank MacDonald of Georgetown Royalty. He was fined $10 and ordered to make restitution.

Chessel Irving of Murray Harbor and Howard Glover of Gurnsey Cove were charged with having unlawful possession of 49 lobsters during a closed season in their district contrary to lobster fishing regulations.

Both men are represented by John P. Nicholson of Charlottetown and their cases were set over for one week.

Potatoes Shipped From Georgetown

MONTAGUE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

The diesel powered freighter O. K. Service, sailed from Georgetown Wednesday evening for Goose Bay Labrador with a cargo of 2,494 crates of table stock potatoes, each crate containing 100 pounds.

In addition to the cargo of potatoes the ship took on board 100 bags of cabbage, 100 bags of turnips and a quantity of beets and carrots.

The cargo was loaded by Russell Duckenloeff of St. Peter's Bay. Enroute to Goose Bay the ship will call at a Newfoundland port where she will take on a quantity of cement.

The potatoes in the cargo were first assembled in the Georgetown Bank where they were graded and packed in the crates. The grading and making of the crates has given considerable employment to workmen of the town.

O'Leary B.Y.F. Holds Meeting

The annual meeting of the Baptist Youth Fellowship was held in the Baptist Church Sunday School Auditorium, O'Leary, on Wednesday evening, September 17 with twenty-two present. The meeting opened with a hymn sung led by Norma Grigg. Hymns "Trust and Obey", "Blessed Assurance", "Dwelling in Beulah Land" and "Tis sweet to trust in Jesus".

The induction of officers followed, president, Lucy Ann Jelly, vice-president, Peggy MacNeil, secretary, George Caruthers, treasurer, Harriet Smith, assistant treasurer, Ellen Smallman.

The introduction of the new B.Y.F. plan was given by Ellen Smallman. The explanation of the B.Y.F. crest was conducted by Harriet Smith, assisted by Gloria Adams, Marlois Ellis, Florence Strang and Norma Grigg.

Devotional period was led by Archie MacLeod. Scripture was taken from Mark 16: 14-20, followed with prayer. The age groups, objectives and program were discussed.

It was moved and seconded that the leaders of the fine objectives be appointed by the president Lucy Ann Jelly, and are as follows: Christian Faith leader, Norma Grigg; Christian witness leader, Archie MacLeod; Christian fellowship leader, Bernice Easter; World Outreach Missionary leader, Marlois Ellis; Christian Citizenship leader, James Smallman.

The meeting closed with hymn "Blest be the tie that binds." Lunch was served by the committee in charge.

Refuge Found In S' side

SUMMERSIDE—A large party, who evidently had the idea that he would stand a better chance of staying alive in a busy town than he would in the bush, during the hunting season, was seen in back of the Clifton Hotel here yesterday. The "visitor" attracted a great deal of interest from passersby.

Atlantic

(Continued from page 1) selves to change the economic outlook of the Atlantic Provinces. "Too many are prone to sit back and expect some fairy godmother to wave a wand and bring about automatic prosperity," he said. The "Let-George-do-it" attitude was far too prevalent.

Nature played the area a dirty trick when she placed the St. Lawrence Waterway at our back door and divide the region into four land masses, he added. The nation's trade by-passed us and a pluralistic society with much duplication of effort and consequent competition in many fields resulted.

But the region had many assets too—golf, swimming, fishing, etc. only a few minutes from the front doors of most. Our standard of living might be somewhat lower than that obtaining in other regions of Canada, but our standard of life was as good as any, if not better.

EXODUS DEPLORED
Dr. MacKinnon deplored the fact that so many of the region's youth were leaving the seaside provinces for other fields of endeavor.

He asserted that export of educated youth was the Atlantic Provinces most thriving industry. This loss of leadership potential was bound to effect the economic development adversely.

Without leaders, the basic institutions of the area—churches, schools, business institutions, and government—would fail to advance and develop as they should.

A federal state like Canada was like most families, the guest speaker declared. Each member had different capacities but all must be treated alike.

For this reason there was no need for any member of the federation to approach Ottawa other than as an equal partner with just claim to a share of the partnership pool.

ENTITLED TO SHARE
Because the eastern and western provinces are forced to pay up to one-third more of the tariff-protected goods manufactured in the central provinces, they are entitled to look for grants and subsidies to offset the burden, Dr. MacKinnon said.

Besides national aid the future economic development of the Atlantic Provinces required also much individual initiative. For instance, potatoes today could be only sold successfully when properly and attractively packaged.

The fact that $400 invested by APEC in a swing through the north last spring had resulted in later sales totalling $3 million showed what could be done, Dr. MacKinnon said.

sights of the town. Mr. Partridge had better be careful where he goes and who he associates with or he may find himself on the menu of some local restaurant.
