Kentucky's Frontier Nurses Care For Over 10,000 Persons

By GEORGE HACKETT WENDOVER, Ky. (AP)—The minimum fee is $2 a year, but it buys some of the finest home nursing care in the world for more than 10,000 men, women and children of the mountains...

They are scattered over 700 square miles of forests and streams in an area where most of the women in the blue-grey uniforms of the Frontier Nursing Service...

Now, mothers who register with the service get extensive prenatal care. After the birth, nurses visit new babies daily for the first 10 days, then once a month for a year.

As for the $2 yearly fee, it covers home visits, shots and related services. Medicines are sold at cost.

The success of the FNS is as surprising to its founder, Mrs. Mary Breckinridge, daughter of a prominent Kentucky family, as it is to the public.

After the death of her two small children, she wanted to help the mothers and children of isolated rural areas. A registered nurse, she went to England to take graduate training as a midwife, passed the examination and became the first American nurse-midwife.

Returning to Kentucky, she opened the Frontier Nursing Service in 1925. Today, at 81, and bedridden since a stroke in 1958, she still oversees a staff that includes 20 nurses and 300 staff nurses.

Her stillman Fritzell invited the members to her home for the March meeting. She will be devoting the month to the study book. Members appointed to the month are Mrs. J. Wallace Gallant, Mrs. J. Wallace Gallant, Mrs. J. Wallace Gallant...

The supper was to be held in the church basement on March 24. It was decided, and the party was held at the home of Mrs. J. Wallace Gallant.

SHEER BATISTE PRINT

This frill and flower print by Pirelli of Florence, Italy, is a new sheer batiste of orlon acrylic fibre. Colors are in a shade and ochre on a light white ground. Bodice is fitted over the softly gathered skirt.

ELLEN'S DIARY

House Plants Bring Fresh Leaves And Buds In The Sun

The March sun now puts new life in the house plants. They bring forth shyly the new leaves, and buds of flowering forms...

"No child had been a... baby-lamb!" she smiled, looking at the mother in the truck, to keep it here a while until it grows.

"It'd better be on my way. The mother says that this Mack grins, looking up from the couch where he has been reading...

"It does," James nods, resting his paper. "Yes, and the old saying still holds: 'Better to start looking in 'up and' if you take care of the morning, the afternoon will take care of itself!'"

"See you!" Mack says, closing the door behind him as the mother and child get into the car.

"Dear Mary: I am an unmarried woman, but the problem is: where can I meet intelligent respectable men my age or older?"

"I was younger I was very popular, but because of a long society, I was afraid to marry and therefore I missed many opportunities. I tell I must solve my nervousness before marrying, as I didn't want to make a mess of marriage."

Nearly three years ago I was making good progress, but I began to hope I would find the courage to marry after all. Then my nerves got so bad that I caused facial scarring and my discouragement returned.

However, two contacts were made for emotional health, although I'm not as pretty as I was, still I've found a few projects, the VA message may point a way out of your social life and your nerves."

Two Women Clerks Now Sit In On Commons Committees

By EDNA BLAKELY OTTAWA (CP)—When Gabrielle Savard of Riviere-du-Loup and Mrs. J. Wallace Gallant of Calgary sat in on Commons committee meetings they have made a historic precedent...

"And here I am, 17 years later. I guess I've put down my mark on the Commons."

Miss Savard and Miss Ballantine say the civil service officers who appointed them to women willing to work hard.

"They're not just handed to you, you must go through the correct parliamentary procedure for committee work."
