

Clippings.

To get rid of the smell of oil paint plunge a handful of hay into a pail of water, and let it stand in the room newly painted.

'Somebody's coming when the dew-drops fall,' she was softly humming when the old man remarked; 'An' you bet your sweet life, Maria, that he'll think a thunderstorm's let loose when he gets here.'

Half a pound of shot judiciously administered to sympathetic cats at this season of the year, will bear fruit in increased hours of slumber throughout the summer, and have a tendency to prevent a corner in the chicken market.

'Men are what women make them,' is the singular title of a new book. It may be true, but we have seen some dreadfully poor specimens of the manufactured article, which fact reflects badly either upon the material or the maker.

'No, darling,' he said, as his wife asked for a new dress 'I can't afford it I feel it my duty to help the yellow-fever sufferers,' and then he went around the corner and the bar-keeper handed out the bottle and glass and let him help himself.

A man stopping his paper wrote to the editor: 'I think men ought to spend their munny for paper, my dad dident, and everybody sed he was the intelligentest man in the country, and he had the smartest family of boys ever dug taters.' Of course he didn't need a paper.

The Boston Transcript gives the following account of the origin of a word: A great many years ago, a poor beggar explained his ragged appearance by observing: 'I have no money to buy new clothing, and mend I can't. And his class have been called mendicants ever since.

New Orleans has neither cellars nor sewers, because the city rests on a substratum of marsh. The gutters have carried off the drainage, or failed to, according to the frequency of rains. The Sanitariums, a local society for the preservation of health, have now brought about a steady flow of water from the rivers through most of the streets.

A pair of prospectors near Leadville encountered a pack of hungry and therefore fierce mountain lions. One of the men fled to a high rock, carrying away the only gun, and leaving his defenceless companion to be killed, but his own death was still more horrible. He lost the trail in his fright, and for eight days wandered without food. He was at last found by miners but was too far gone to recover.

Snooks was a hard case, but he took a turn about and joined the churches, expecting great spiritual regeneration from the act. Next day he was perambulating his shop in a deep study and soliloquizing sotto voice, yet so loud as to be overheard by his workmen: 'I hain't experienced any conversion. I don't see any difference. I don't see any change, and —it, I don't believe there is any.'

Two grammarians were wrangling the other day, one contending that it was only proper to say 'My wages is high,' while the other noisily insisted that the correct thing was 'My wages are high.' Finally they stopped a day laborer, and submitted the question to him. 'Which do you say, 'Your wages is high,' or 'Your wages are high?' 'Oh, off wid your nonsense,' he said, resuming his pick, 'yer naylor ov ye right, no wages is low, bad luck to it.'

Many persons are suffering inconvenience, if not pain, from weakness of the eyes. This sometimes proceeds from local inflammation and sometimes from other causes. Persons who have been thus afflicted say that they have derived almost immediate, and in some cases permanent, relief from the application of salt water as a bath; and where pain has been aggravated from a compress saturated with salt water laid on the eye, and renewed at certain intervals. Opening the eyes and submerging in clean salt water has been found beneficial to those whose eye-sight begins to fail. The solution should not be more than a tablespoonful of salt to a pint of water, and less if the eyes are weak and very sensitive.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple pure remedies, Hop Bitters that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column.

August Flower.

The immense sale and great popularity of Green's August Flower in all towns and villages in the civilized world has caused many imitators to adopt similar names, expecting to reap a harvest for themselves at the expense of the afflicted. This medicine was introduced in 1838, and for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, with their effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sickheadache, Indigestion, Palpitation of the Heart, vertigo, etc., etc., it never has failed to our knowledge. Three doses will relieve any case of Dyspepsia. Two million bottles sold last year. Price 75 cents. Samples 10 cents.
